Flush Gas Wells With Mud.

What gives promise of an important step in conserving the supply of natural gas of the United States, says the American Machinist, has been developed by experiments made by the bureau of mines of the department of the interior. The system is said to be exceedingly simple and to consist principally of pumping a mud-laden liquid into the oil wells and in the adoption of certain modifications in the present methods of boring. Tests just completed in the Oklahoma oil fields are reported to have resulted in an annual saving to the state alone of at least $15,000,000 by shutting off the escape of gas.

This Cockatoo Crops Wood.

John Rube, of Kingscliff, Northants, has an eighteen-year-old silver crested Australian cockatoo which not only talks and "sings" but has a mania for "chopping" wood. Each day the housekeeper provides her helper with a starch or soap box and the bird breaks it up with its beak into short and thin pieces suitable for firewood, any nails in the way being drawn. "The amount of labor that bird has saved in the way of wood chopping is enormous," the housekeeper says. "The only thing I have to do is to see that there is no paint on the boxes."

Spanish Dignity.

Dignity is the prevailing instinct among every class in Spain, says a woman who has spent much time in that land of romance. The very beggars ask for alms with dignity and if you have nothing to give you do not shout "Go away!" but if you are a Spaniard—"Go thou with God; I have nothing for thee today."

Several valuable reference books belonging to the late H. H. Powers have also been given. Among the most interesting of them is the Records of the Conventions of the New Hampshire Grants held during the years 1776 and '77, written by Dr. Jonas Fay, Clerk of the Conventions and reproduced in facsimile from manuscripts in the Congressional Library at Washington. During his term as senator, the late Redfield Proctor was told that in a certain collection in the Library of Congress there were manuscripts of interest to Vermonters among them, records of some conventions on the back sheets of which a farmer had kept his accounts. Further investigation showed that these were the original records which Dr. Fay, on leaving Pawlet, gave to his stepson, Jonathan Safford. Some time afterwards, a Mr. Dawson from New York, claiming to be looking up the genealogy of the Safford family, obtained this account book from Mr. Safford. When it was returned to its owner, several pages had been removed. Mr. Dawson made various attempts to dispose of these pages and finally sold them to the Library at Washington.

When Senator Proctor was convinced of the genuineness of the records he caused facsimiles to be made, one of which he gave to Mr. Powers.

His subject was "The Need of Restoring the Bible to the Public Schools of Vermont." Mr. Jeffrey has the saving gift of humor and did not fail to flavor his remarks with the salt of a spontaneous and original wit. A large chorus choir was in attendance, led by the evangelist, Rev. Mr. Lewis.

A combined meeting of the Junior Epworth League and the Epworth League was held last Sunday afternoon. Much interest was manifested by those present.

Advent Church

Services were held as usual last Sunday, conducted by Everett W. Dyer of So. Elliot, Maine. In the morning he preached a searching sermon on Prayer, from 1 Thes. 5:17, presenting the negative and positive sides. First, prayer is not an information bureau for the Lord; it is not using words according to a fixed form; it is not an eloquent oration for the pleasure of hearers. But prayer is heart to heart communion with God, entreating Him with trust and thanksgiving. When should we pray? Any time, but specifically morning, noon and night. Where? In any place, but have an altar. For whom? For all, but especially for the saints. Family worship and secret devotion are perhaps the most important and helpful. How? With humility, in the Spirit, and be definite.

Come to the prayer meeting Wednesday evening and to the services next Sunday. Mr. Dyer will conduct the services.

Prayer meetings will be held at the following homes this week:—Wednesday morning, Mrs. L. L. Camp, Mrs. S. Cook and Mrs. George Johnson; Thursday morning, Mrs. H. G. Prior, Mrs. Emma Marvin and Mrs. Fitch; Friday morning, Mrs. Aitchinson, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Wilson. Meetings begin at 10 o'clock.
