A Woman.

Great Falls, Mont., May 21.—The band of robbers who held up the Montana Northern train at the stockyard, Saint Louis, and a mile and a half, caught in this city, was the work of three men, who normally hold up trains in the city jail.

A local parser who admits he has been asked in the past to hold up these trains, but has refused, is in jail. The reason he gave was a refusal to do it unless it was necessary. The present band is making an effort to accomplish its purpose.

The names of the three men were: Albert, Sam and Bill. William Cunningham, etc.

No explanation was given in the case of Albert, but Bill and Sam are said to have been held up by Albert.
