

CEREDO CRESCENT.

CEREDO, VA., DEC. 11, 1898.

THE CEREDO CRESCENT

Its aim and objects are of course similar to those set forth in the Prospectus when it was started...

The editor respectfully solicits the favor of local items, and communications on subjects of local and popular interest...

It may not be necessary to say that all other encouragement in the way of Advertising, Job Printing, and subscriptions...

All orders for the paper, or for advertising and job work, should be addressed to...

The Crescent has a good local circulation, and it goes into the various King towns where it finds a large number of first class readers...

CONGRESS assembled at Washington on Monday last, and organized and listened to the reading of the President's Message...

THE ROAD.—Much as we should desire to see the Twelve Pole damned and locked for navigation at all seasons of the year...

THE WEATHER.—Cold weather came upon us the middle of the week, Wednesday night the ground froze hard...

The navigation of the Twelve Pole by slack water navigation is much talked of by those who believe in the paying of such an enterprise...

It is also claimed—and this argument we are convinced is correct—that the markets for the products of the valley of the Twelve Pole are always ready open and paying...

ADVERTISING.—The merchants in Guyandotte will find it to their interest to advertise in the Crescent...

THE CEREDO HOTEL.—The reader will find the card of the proprietor of the Ceredo Hotel in another column...

THE RIVER on Thursday was up to new high water mark. It was full of drift wood and logs...

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY is gaining some of its deserved fame and praise on the other side of the Atlantic...

DE BOW'S REVIEW.—The December number is on our table. Amid all the papers in this number displaying talent, scholarship, and big-try...

PARKERSBURG is a town on the Virginia side of the Ohio River, 150 miles from Ceredo. A railroad terminates there...

It is also claimed—and this argument we are convinced is correct—that the markets for the products of the valley of the Twelve Pole are always ready open and paying...

PLEASANT FICTIONS FOR PASSENGERS BOUND FOR CEREDO. Arabian Nights Entertainment. ONLY MORE SO!

A REVIVAL OF RELIGION.—The good citizens of this place, whose sincere determination to reform...

THE ATLANTIC MONTHLY is gaining some of its deserved fame and praise on the other side of the Atlantic...

DOUBLE SELL.—The jokes termed "sells" are generally considered too vulgar for newspaper publication...

THE MAJOR, he it known,—our Major, of Ceredo, is an inveterate joke, as are all our Military men...

So one after another of his friends were favored with a taste of the high flavored oysters, by the Major...

THE HISTORY of that can of oysters is related in different ways. The Major's friends and adherents do not tell what a wretched sell was perpetrated on him in the first place...

VIRGINIA DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.—Hon. John Lecher Nominated.—Democrat delegates assembled at Petersburg on Thursday of last week...

A MEMBER took occasion to announce that John Lecher was the choice of the people. In reply to an interruption, he said...

FOR SOME reason not known to us we have not received the December No. of the Atlantic Monthly...

ST. LOUIS, December 6.—The overland California mail, with dates to the 9th ult., arrived here last night...

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6.—H. W. Onderdonk, formerly Bishop of this diocese, died early this morning of dysentery...

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The New Orleans papers of Thursday have been received, and contain the following advices from Mexico...

MURDER.—A murder was committed in Roanoke county, Va., on Thursday evening, 18th instant. A Mr. John Dickinson, in returning home from a saw mill...

BAPTIZED IN THE RIVER JORDAN.—An accomplished young lady from Albemarle, Virginia, was baptized recently in the River Jordan...

ANOTHER HORSE STORY is stated, and as we know nothing to prove its incorrectness, we present it...

THE VIRGINIA HOG MARKET.—Hogs from Southwestern Virginia are not coming East very freely this season...

THE WINTER.—There is a general consensus in the opinion that in the spring of 1899 business will take a start, and that before next year is out we shall have recovered from the effect of the late prostrating panic...

LATER FROM SALT LAKE.—St. Louis, Nov. 25.—Salt Lake dates of the 20th ult. reached St. Joseph's on the 19th inst.

THE MYSTERY OF THE HAUNTED HOUSE.—A correspondent of the New Jerusalem Messenger (Swedenborgian) of the 29th, says: "In the village of Astoria, N. Y., in a rather sequestered spot, there stands a house which is most unpropitious property to its owner...

THE HOUSE was for the whole winter stood vacant. We then in company with two or three other took occasion to visit this haunted house, and examined it from cellar to garret...

TORONTO AND RUN IN THE NEXT WORLD.—HOW THE SPIRITS GET THEIR LIQUOR.—In a lecture at Bowdoin's Hall, N. Y., on Sunday evening, Judge Edmunds said of spirits in the next world...

TWO LICENSEES TO MARRY ONE GIRL.—It is not an uncommon occurrence to find two or three licenses in close pursuit of the same girl, but it is not often that we find two in the same predicament...

RETURN TO ENGLAND.—It is said to be Mr. Ten Brock's intention to go back to England in the spring, and to take with him some fresh American horses to test their qualities again on the English turf...