A Sistersville Baby Abandoned

PARENTS REGISTERED AT FINLEYVILLE HOTEL AND ONE BY ONE DESERTED THE LITTLE ONE.

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 8.—A little baby girl was abandoned by her supposed parents at the Clifton hotel in Finleyville. Every effort so far made to locate the strange couple who left the child has so far proved without effect. It is a mystery in which the people of the town take a deep interest. The child will be cared for by the women of the town. Several days ago a couple came to the hotel with the child, registering as Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Sode, of Sistersville, W. Va. The man first disappeared and the same day the woman failed to show up as usual at dinner. When a search was instituted it was found that they left town on the trolley in the direction of Pittsburg, leaving the child behind. The little girl is only seven months of age.

BEECHER & MAYE,

Who will appear at the Grand Opera House to-night in their burlesque dramatic travesty, "The Tramp's Rehearsal." The following criticism of their act is taken from the Pittsburg Herald of May 21:

Heading the bill at the East End Hippodrome were Beecher and Maye in a Buslesque Travesty, with no particular title, but good for a hearty laugh every few seconds. The singing of the duo especially is good and their dialogue work above par.—Pittsburg, Pa., Herald, May 21, 1907.

Rejected On His Return

EDWARD HUBBARD RAN AMUCK WHEN HE WAS SPURNED BY WIFE.

PARKERSBURG, July 8.—Notwithstanding a bullet wound in his left side, Edward Hubbard is still able to cause his wife, from whom he has been separated for three years, lots of trouble. Returning home from Cincinnati a few days ago he got drunk and commenced making overtures to his wife. She well remembered how he used to treat her and spurned him. The more he drank the worse he got, and Saturday violated the law so many times that his arrest was ordered and he is now in the county jail.

Hubbard was arrested by Constable Nolan, a charge having been preferred by Mrs. Hubbard. The woman said that he went to her restaurant near the O. R. depot and took full possession. She tried to drive him away, but he would not budge and helped himself to all the money in the cash register and started to give away all of her 10 cent cigars.

By his alleged actions he kept trade away from the restaurant and was running everything down when the woman decided that her only recourse was to invoke the law. When arrested Hubbard put up an awful protest, declaring he had a right to do as he pleased in his wife's restaurant. The officer finally landed him, however, and he will have a hearing before Squire Rutenbutter Monday.

Hubbard refused to tell how he happened to receive the gun shot wound in Cincinnati, but it is the opinion of the officers that he was in one of his old time fights and got the worst of it.

A Morgantown young man and a lady student at the university became separated from the rest of a picnic party on Cheat mountains and lost their way. They wandered through the woods all night while searching parties hunted for them in vain. They found their way back to civilization about six o'clock the next morning.

From Wheeling

WAS BIGAMIST ALLEGED TO HAIL, BUT HE IS NOT A LEADING CITIZEN.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 8.—Charles Abey, alias Charles Elmer Singleton, of Wheeling, W. Va., is in jail here charged with bigamy. Saturday morning Mrs. Eleanor Singleton, of Wheeling, came here and brought the bigamy charge against her husband, naming Mrs. Alice Banks Singleton, of Pittsburg, as wife No. 2.

Mrs. Singleton No. 1 says she and the prisoner were married in 1905, and that her husband came to Pittsburg 18 months after their wedding and married again. The man does not appear to be disturbed and refused to testify at the trial this morning.

The Pittsburg police say that Abbey is a vaudeville actor, having recently played in New York State. They say that not long ago he was arrested at Altoona, Pa., for being implicated in a theft of a diamond and served 10 months as a result.

Chautauquans Boom Esperanto

HENRY L. FORMAN'S LECTURE ON NEW LANGUAGE TO LEAD TO ITS BEING TAUGHT.

CHAUTAQUA, N. Y., July 8.—An hour of exceptional interest was Henry L. Forman's interpretation of the newest language, Esperanto. In part he said:

The world is ever grasping for something which will tend to remove the restriction imposed by the use of the various languages for a universal medium which will enable all to meet on the common ground of a common speech. Some believe we should revert to the classical tongues; some maintain that the modern tongue should be adopted. To both these plans there are serious objections. In this busy life any dead language is impossible; some artificial language must be chosen so easy that all conditions of people can master it. Such is Esperanto, which has been investigated by a great number, including great scholars and scientists, and has received the indorsement of eminent men in Germany, Australia, England and France. Esperanto is not merely a fad of a few cranks, but is warmly fostered by many people.

In spelling the language is strictly phonetic. Certain new signs are introduced, but no new sounds. In constructing the vocabulary Zemanof compared the dictionaries of languages and used words common to all. He then chose words appearing in nearly all languages, and then chose without prejudice to any language the words which seemed best to him. In the suffixes lie the secret and strength of Esperanto. Aside from technical terms, the language consists of about 1,800 words. Webster's dictionary contains 110,000 to 158,000 words. As an actual fact the grammar can be printed on a postal card. Published in 1887, Esperanto did not make elaborate progress. It happened during the period of the doubtful Volapuk which was intended as a universal language. The founder and his "zealous followers" have an ideal object in view—the promotion of human justice and brotherhood. Today there are about 1,000 or more clubs in France for the propaganda of Esperanto and in England nearly 100. Secretary Root is strongly in favor of introducing the language in the American consular service.

At the conclusion of Mr. Forman's lecture such enthusiasm was shown, that Mr. George Vincent decided at once that the language will be taught here this summer.

RAPID TRANSIT AT JAMESTOWN

AMERICAN MONORAIL CAR, WITH AN ALMOST UNLIMITED SPEED CAPACITY TESTED AND FOUND TO BE SUCCESSFUL.

NORFOLK, Va., July 8.—Of all the recent inventions in methods of transportation, the one which it would seem is calculated to upset the whole of the present method of city and interurban rapid transit was successfully tested at the Jamestown Exposition on June 27.

The statement of this fact must have a very soothing effect upon American pride, for the reason that this proposed innovation has been the occasion for considerable rivalry of late between this country and England, by reason of the fact that a London man has recently invented a similar car.

A matter of fact, the two systems, as far as the track and car are concerned, are identical. But there is a difference in the method of equilibrium which, it can be seen at once, is a very important factor in a car constructed to run at a higher rate of speed than has yet been attained by any device built for the transportation of passengers.

With the exception of one or two short experimental lines, the Jamestown Exposition line is the first single rail railroad ever built in this country, and this half-mile track now has car speeding back and forth over it daily by way of convincing the public that the system is beyond the experimental stage. The initial run over the line was made on June 27, with Governor Warfield, of Maryland; Mayor Barry Mahool, of Baltimore; the Maryland commissioners to the exposition; officers of the company, and representatives of press aboard the car.

This car is 47 feet 6 inches long, has a seating capacity of 34, with standing room for fifty more, and is equipped with eight motor of 20 horse power each. The frame work is of structural steel. It is estimated that it will be able to make three hundred trips a day from the exposition to the military camp, which points represent the terminals.

This car is operated upon a positive mechanical method, of which N. H. Tunis, of Baltimore, is the inventor, while the English car of which Louis Brennan is the inventor, operates upon the microscope method—or in other words upon the principle that underlies and keeps in motion the ordinary spinning top, with which every boys is familiar.

The American car, of which Mr. Tunis is the inventor, and which is in operation at the Exposition, has two overhead trucks, built as light as possible for safety. The wheels run between positive guides overhead. Therefore, it matters not if the motor stops or some accident happens to the car, the guides are there to hold it on the rail.

A desirable feature of the Tunis car is that when the car is running on curves at a high rate of speed it leans toward the center, in some cases as much as 25 degrees which serves to keep the car on the rail. One of the nice points about this American monorail system is the fact that the equilibrium device also serves the purpose of a transmitter for the electricity.

The only single rail system in operation heretofore is that of the suspension type known to Europe, and of which this country could make no practical use. Therefore the Jamestown Exposition line is attracting wide interest, especially among practical railroad men. Much interest has likewise been aroused in the proposed construction of a monorail interurban line from Newark, N. J., to New York City, which undoubtedly depends upon the success of the demonstration now being made on the shores of Hampton Roads.

Flemington Man Had Legs Cut Off

WAS WALKING ON TRACK AND DID NOT HEAR TRAIN—DIED IN HOSPITAL.

GRAFTON, July 8.—John W. Nestor, an employe of the Pittsburg Vein Coal Company, and the owner of the Nestor barber shop of Flemington, this county, had both legs severely mangled by being run over by a yard engine of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in the Flemington yards early Saturday afternoon and when an operation amputating his limbs at the Grafton sanitarium was completed three hours later he died of his injuries.

Nestor was walking along the siding over which the yard engine was moving and the speed and noise of a through west bound freight on the next track attracted his attention. When it was too late he attempted to leave the siding and his legs were run over. He was brought to the Grafton sanitarium half an hour later and operated on with the above result.

Mr. Nestor was about forty years old and is survived by a wife and five children residing at Flemington.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., July 8.—Learning that her pretty daughter, who has been absent from home in Bellaire for several weeks, was an inmate of a house on lower Broadway, Mrs. Elizabeth Blittish came here and had the police locate the girl. The girl is said to bear a good reputation in Bellaire, where her mother conducts a boarding house. The two women left on the evening train for Bellaire.
