MUST ABIDE BY HIS WIFE'S WORD

SALOON MEN GET IT IF THEY SELL TO HUSBANDS AFTER WARNING.

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 30. It will behoove saloon keepers to be a little wary hereafter how they sell liquor to men whose wives warn them against such sales, if the results are to follow that attended the trial of two damage suits in the Circuit Court this week. A jury awarded Mrs. Lloyd $2,000 to be paid by Mr. Payne, a Smithers saloon keeper, and a Mount Hope woman was given a verdict for $1,000 against A. P. Bailey, a saloon man of that town. Both cases are to be appealed, but the judgments are likely to stand and the saloon men will have to pay.

In the case of Mrs. Lloyd, who was awarded $2,000, it seems that her husband drank to such excess that he became insane and is now in the asylum. The saloon man gave him liquor after being told not to do so by Mrs. Lloyd.

The Mt. Hope case was not quite so bad. The wife of George Rogers, a blacksmith, was the plaintiff in this case. Besides the suit against Mr. Bailey, she also has a similar suit against E. B. Lee, another Mt. Hope saloon man. It will not be tried at this term.

These suits attracted much attention and their successful outcome will encourage other actions of a similar character.

In the damage suit against the Nuttallburg Coal Co. for the death of Joe Carmen, a motor runner, the jury was several hours in arriving at a verdict and finally found $500 for the plaintiff. A motion to set aside the verdict was sustained and the case will come up for trial again.

PROPRIETOR AS A DETECTIVE

CATCHES MAN STEALING, NABS HIM AND TURNS HIM OVER TO THE COPS.

PARKERSBURG, Sept. 30.—For audacity and downright nerve a young man who gave his name as Charles Bales, wins the prize, according to local police.

Bales went to the rear of the junk shop on lower Market street Saturday afternoon and stole a big rope which was worth several dollars. He didn't know that he had been seen, and going around to the front entrance offered the rope for sale.

One of the proprietors nabbed him and took him to the office. While waiting for the police, who had been notified, Bales made a daring leap for liberty. Rushing to the door of the office he hurried out and slammed the door. He meant to make his escape through the back door but when he reached that exit one of the employees rushed at him and knocked him down. He was then held until Lieutenant Smith and Patrolman Hickman arrived.

Bales was taken to the office of Squire Thomas, where he was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. It is thought he is wanted at Newark, O., and as a result he was given ten days in jail. That will give the Newark officers plenty of time to get him.

LIKE "LITTLE BREECHES."

Baby Lost Forty Hours In Desert Returned to His Own.

How did he get there? Answer—And I think that finding a little child and bringing him to his own is a darned sight better business than loading around the horns.

—John Hay.

Toddling along in a wilderness of towering sagebrush, his throat parched with a thirst of forty hours, his sturdy little legs torn and bleeding from briar thorns, the nineteen-month-old boy baby of Lawrence Marsh, residing near

"PONY-BABY RIDE PONY"

Caldwell, Md., was found alive and crawling to himself after a search which began with the child's disappearance and in which a posse of several hundred men was employed.

As Henry A. Hawthorn, one of the searchers, led his horse to where the boy was standing, the little fellow looked up wide eyed at the strange man in blue dannel shirt and wide brimmed hat and then at the horse.

"Pony-baby ride pony" the youngster questioned with glancing eyes.

"You bet you can, bless your little heart!" cried Hawthorn.

THE STAGE

Al. H. (Metz) Wilson.
 Golden Voiced Singer, Al. H. Wilson, the clever German dialect comedian, in Sidney R. Ellis' new play, of picturesque Switzerland, "Metz in the Alps," will be at the Grand Thursday, October 3. Mr. Wilson is a born actor of undeniable ability. He is favored with a fine stage presence, a magnetic manner and an intelligent and expressive face that can at one moment depict touching pathos and at the next convulse his auditors with heartiest laughter. He also possesses the Heaven sent gift of a singing voice of remarkable power and sweetness, which so well is described by Mr. George P. Goodale, the celebrated dramatic critic of the Detroit Free Press. Mr. Goodale writes, "He sings ballads with rare feeling, and his voice has that sympathetic quality that is above, beyond and wholly out of the reach of art." Following are the titles of the songs that Mr. Wilson is singing this season: "Fairest Flower of All," "Wilson's Lullaby," "Songs of Old Fatherland," "Snitzlebank" and "Switzer Le Boy."

"We Are King"

Unquestionably one of the dramatic events of the season is Mr. Lawrence Ewart, who is starring for the second season in a complete production of Mr. Whiteside's greatest comedy success, "We are King." Mr. Ewart will appear in this city, matinee and night, next Saturday, and the company selected for him by Mr. A. W. Cross, is said to be a most capable one. "We are King" is replete with clever dialogue. That the scenic arrangements, costumes, rehearsals and all preliminary details received Mr. Whiteside's personal attention in New York, is a guarantee of their perfection. Both press and public have received the production most cordially. Mr. Ewart has been greeted by crowded houses wherever he has made his appearance.

GOSSIP OF THE STAGE.

Adelaide Kelm is playing in "A Royal Family" in Chicago.

Clara Bloodgood is to begin her season this week in Ohio.

Eleanor Robson is to make a long road tour with Paul Armstrong's play, "Salome Jane."

Channing Pollock's play, "The Little Gray Lady," is being used by the stock companies.

Early in January Maude Adams is to appear in "The Jesters." She will begin her season in "Peter Pan."

Marie Tempest is rehearsing a play by Alfred Suro, author of "The Walls of Jericho." It is to be produced in London by Charles Frohman.

Wilton Lackaye in his new play, "The Bondman," dramatized from Hall Caine's novel, has been doing big business in St. Louis, and the play is expected to be one of the season's winners.

Mrs. Annie Yeamans to have the stage this season, and will devote her time henceforward to training pupils for the stage. She is nearly 72, and has been on the stage for 62 years.

"The Movers" is to be rewritten and probably produced again in the spring. In the meantime Dorothy Donnelly is to have a leading role in one of "The Lion and the Mouses" companies.

Sadie Jansell, who is on tour with "Fascinating Flora," the latest of the Casino musical successes, does an exceedingly clever imitation of Eddie Foy. She portrays the voice, posture and gestures of the eccentric comedian perfectly.

Henrietta Crossman claims to be the first dramatic star to carry her orchestra from city to city. This is another step toward completeness in detail for stage performances, but then Miss Crossman's play, "The Christian Pilgrim," is a music play, and very near a grand opera. So that local musicians could not readily play the music without many rehearsals.

Delicacy and femininity are the main characteristics of Carlotta Nilsson, the Swedish girl who won her first big success in New York last season in Rachel Crowther's picture of Nevada mining life, "The Three of us." After years of hardest struggle this comparatively obscure actress woke up one morning after the first night of the play to find herself famous. But she had done work before which had drawn the attention of the critical and judicious to her, notably in her fine performance in Mrs. Fiske's production of "Hedda Gabler."

STREET RACE AU NATUREL.

Cop Chasing Boy Bathes Shocked Staid St. Louis Ladies.

Clad only in drops of water, fifteen boys, aged from twelve to fifteen years, raced yelling through Lindell boulevard and other sodate streets adjacent to Forest park, St. Louis, sending women folk scampering indoors from porches and lawns started and blushing.

Panting after the glistening legs of the boys trundled Park Officer Walsh. He had caught the boys swimming in the park lake and scaring the young lives out of the fish hatching there. Walsh with great strategy had crept up on the boys just where their clothes were piled on the bank. He invited them to come ashore and be arrested, but they swam to the other side and fled. For company's sake the lads kept together as they ran, and the picture they made as they fled down Lindell boulevard would have charmed an artist.

The boys hid in alleys and barrels until the policeman promised he would not arrest them. Then they ran back for their clothes past deserted lawns and porches. This time, though, a good many window curtains fluttered suspiciously as they passed.
