The Colored People and the Procession.

The Register, with characteristic perversity, endeavors to distort to a political use an error committed by one of the Assistant Marshals (Col. HUBBARD) in the management of the procession here on Decoration Day. It makes this statement of what occurred, characterizing it as an "outrage upon the rights of loyal citizens under the Fifteenth Amendment:"

While the procession was forming on Fourth and Monroe streets, and after the brass band, and members of the Grand Army, and other societies and citizens on foot had fallen into line, a large number of colored citizens, well dressed, well mannered and perfumed with flowers, who had been courteously awaiting their turn for position, naturally fell into line in the rear of all white people on foot, supposing of course that to be their proper and rightful position in a procession, if not in front or centre. At this colored innovation, however, the white Republican blood began to boil, and Marshal HUBBARD rode up and ordered them peremptorily to fall out of line and take their position in the rear of the string of carriages, buggies and horsemen! This was properly treated by the negroes as an insult, and they indignantly retired from the procession and threw away their flowers and evergreens!

After some comment on the enormity of the indignity thus offered to the colored people by "patriotic Republicans," the Register concludes that "the moral of the affair" will "simply teach the colored people that they can never get into any procession of their pretended Republican friends, except on an election day."

Now as to the facts. Statements differ as to what Marshal HUBBARD's order was. He asserts most positively that he proposed to have the colored men fall in just behind the city authorities, speakers and clergymen who were in a barouche and two omnibuses, and not behind the other vehicles; and some of the colored men concur in this statement. But the weight of the testimony is against the Colonel and to the effect that he directed the colored men to fall in at the rear of all the vehicles. But some of them say that twice when they started into the procession at the point where Col. HUBBARD claims he told them to enter it, they were stopped by a couple of policemen whose names they give; and one of them says he heard the City Sergeant tell these two deputies not to let "them niggers" go into the procession till all the carriages had passed.

It is not true that after the colored men fell out of line and broke ranks they "threw away their flowers and evergreens." One of them took the trouble to call on us yesterday to give this an explicit denial. He says one lad did this, but no others.

The colored men had received no formal invitation to take a place in the procession, as the Turner's and Beethoven Society had, because they had no kind of an organization; but they were included in the general invitation to citizens, and had been personally assured by some of the managers of the occasion that they were entitled to a place in the procession as citizens and should have it if they chose to take it.

Now who is to blame? If Col. HUBBARD ordered the colored men to the rear of all the vehicles, as some of them claim, he was wrong, and they did right in declining to take the place assigned them. They were willing, we understand, to enter behind the Mayor's barouche and the two omnibusses, and offered to, but were repulsed by the police; but if it was Col. HUBBARD's intention they should do this, he was at least partially misunderstood and erred in not remaining on the ground and seeing personally that the arrangement was effected. It was the intention and order of the Chief Marshal, Gen. KELLEY, that these men should have a place in the procession in the rear of the organizations. It was Col. HUBBARD's business as Assistant Marshal to see that they entered the procession at the proper place; and the blame of their failure to do this, according to the lights before us, clearly rests upon Col. HUBBARD and the police, and them only, and they will have to divide it according to their due proportions. Of course any interference whatever by the police with the arrangement of a public procession, or with a body of men about entering one as well behaved and courteous as these colored men were, or with the orders of the marshals having it in charge, was a gross offence, and a piece of sheer impertinence.

Now pray by what kind of logic will the Wheeling Register make the Republican party of this city responsible for this alleged slight of the colored men? Nobody certainly meant any offense or disrespect to them, unless it was the policemen. And save them, only one man can even be charged with any such thing, and that is Marshal HUBBARD; and we do not suppose for a moment that any such thought or intention ever occurred to him. He disavows any such idea, and, we have no doubt, with perfect sincerity.

But the Register, which is capable of making partisan capital, if it could, out of its grand-mother's funeral, labors to make the Republicans of the city responsible in a party sense for this blunder in making up the procession to visit the cemetery; and to construe it into evidence that Republicans are not willing to accord the colored people the full dignity of citizenship. This kind of stuff from that source does not catch any gulls about here. The colored men themselves understand the game perfectly. Some of them, discussing the matter yesterday, remarked that the Democrats were altogether too sweet on them all at once and were just now taking a good deal too much interest in their rights under the 15th Amendment. They understand precisely the nature of the blunder, who is to blame for it, and know that it is regretted by every body except a few Democrats of the baser sort, who suppose they can make a little political capital out of it.

But the Register, in its eagerness to excite a feeling where none is due, puts itself in a very awkward position. It forgets that the occasion on which this thing occurred was wholly non-partisan. It was one in which all patriotic citizens united without reference to party. Democratic citizens and municipal authorities joined with Republican citizens, and the Mayor and one of the foremost Democratic members of the bar were among the speakers. Now if the patriotic ceremonial of honoring the Union dead was confined to the Republican party, that party can be held responsible for errors committed in the ceremonies; and the Register in making our party the scapegoat for the mistakes of the day, confesses that decorating the graves of Union soldiers is something the Democratic party has no lot nor part in, it being the peculiar abhor of the Republicans. If this is true, and the Register admits it, then the Republicans might be made responsible for Monday's blunder. But if Democrats joined Republicans, as they appeared to do, in paying respect to the memory of the dead Union soldiers, and the occasion was, as we all supposed, wholly free from party atmosphere, then we seek in vain for anything to excuse the indecency of the Register in lugging into its columns the next morning this grovelling attempt to excite a feeling among the colored people against their friends. It was done in the hope that some of them might this fall be induced to vote for the candidates of the party that has never yet acknowledged that the negro is a man or has any rights which a white Democrat is bound to respect.

Let it Alone.

And now comes a report from Washington that somebody is bidding against us for the bay of Samana, and will give $27,000,000 if we don't take it at once at the price agreed on with Mr. BAEZ, (a million and a half and the assumption of unknown, or at least undisclosed, debts;) and the PRESIDENT has sent in another secret message about it. Well, our advice to President GRANT and the Senate is: let this party have San Domingo by all means. We don't want it at half the money, or at any price at all. We ought not to accept one inch of soil South of Florida without being paid a large price for doing it. With this debt of two thousand millions hanging over us, with such necessities weighting the treasury, as Mr. BOUTWELL and Mr. Senator SHERMAN assure us, that even the inquisitorial income tax cannot be remitted, the voting away of millions to purchase old lumber of islands and alien, half-barbarous populations in the torrid zone, which the country has no need for, and which would actually be a constant source of trouble and expense, would be little less than an outrage on the country; and if the scheme is consummated, we earnestly trust the lightnings of public indignation may speedily scorch every man, no matter how high or how low, who is a party to it.

THE Register says the Republicans of Fayette county have expressed a preference for Col. Thos. B. SWAN "as the Republican candidate for Congress in the first district." That's news. We should like to know what the Fayette county Republicans have to do with Congressional matters in this district.

Our neighbor adds: "If we mistake not, we knew the said Swann as a Colonel in the Confederate army in 1861-62. [Very likely.] Witcher had better keep an eye to his boots." Now we don't see just why a candidate in this district should make a raid on WITCHER's boots unless purely from force of habit; but if it is a peculiarity of ex-Confederates to freeze to other people's boots (and our soldiers used to say that it was the ruling passion with the Johnnies) then maybe people in the neighborhood of Market street had better keep an eye to their boots.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

FESTIVAL.—Notwithstanding the threatening aspect of the heavens last evening, a large crowd assembled in the lecture room of the North street M. E. Church to participate in a festival gotten up by the smaller members of the Sunday School connected with that church. The display of fancy articles was very creditable. The great interest, however, concentrated in the voting for a toilet set, dress pattern, and large wax doll. The friends of Miss Amanda Robinson and Miss Mary Phipps rallied in their strength in contesting for the first named article; those of Miss Strait and Miss Miller for the second; while those of two little girls, children of Mrs. Texa Miller and Mrs. Hastings, were actively engaged in soliciting votes for their favorite contestant. The festival and voting will be continued, as will be seen by a notice in another column of the local department of our paper.

INDIGNATION MEETING.—According to announcement, Gen. Banks "indignated" last evening in the Police Court room, to the infinite amusement of a large crowd. Very few of the General's color were present; those who were, appeared to enter into the mirth provoking character of the speaker's remarks, and his style of delivery, as fully and heartily as did their white brethren. When the General had concluded, George Hollinger read a carefully prepared and good tempered statement of the unfortunate incident which transpired Monday, in forming the procession. We trust that the explanations made have proved satisfactory to all persons concerned.

Gathering Flowers for Decoration Day.

MR. EDITOR—Through the columns of your paper, your readers no doubt will be glad to hear of the interest manifested along the Ohio river from Wheeling to Parkersburg, in doing something in honor of "our brave dead." The writer was requested to collect some flowers for the decoration exercises to take place at Wheeling. To effect this on short notice it was thought best to send out word to the friends. Patriotism is instinctive. Greatly to the astonishment of all on the "Carrie Brooks," the flowers came pouring in from every landing in great quantities—beautiful bouquets, most tastefully arranged. Some of the names of the donors attending them (which I beg you to notice) are as follows:

Misses Libbie Lisberly, Josephine Voegly, Vic Booth, Lydie C. Martin, Mary Nesbitt, Mary Showalter, Anna Smith, Jennie Barr, Alamanda Fisher, Lena Fisher, Emma Fisher, Luella M. Hall, Ella S. Henthorn. "Etta" L. Lenkard, Mary Buchwalt, Susan Potts, Lou Kline, Alice M. Beagle, Lillie Neuenschwanger, N. J. Henthorn, Mary Henthorn, Jennie Sutor, Jennie Bare, Mary Bare, Caroline Hyer, Ida Rice, Anna H. Duff, Ella Bremer, Clara Lobenstein, Emma Lobenstein, Sallie Rogers. Sue Rogers, Hattie O. Rogers, Talitha Heath, L. Heath, Anna Hackel, Martha Whetzel, Mary B. Kathe, Anna J. Mallory, Ruth A. Morrill, Mary M. Martin, Anna J. Hartline, Laurece Bishop, Susan Heath, Emma D. Heath Alice H. Cox, Angela Messerly, Ida T. Heath, Jessie May, Antha J. Heath, Anna Newhouse, Mary Bauckman, Julia E. Biship, L. Brown, Flora Allen, Mary Bell Gatts, Mary E. Baukman, Susan A. Hartline, Clara Thompson, M. Snider, Anna May, Maggie Boughner, Sarah E. Hartline.

Mrs. Dr. Boyce, Mrs. J. R. Brown, Mrs. E. A. Bare.

Mr. John Ready, Co. "D," 7th Va. Vol. Inf.; John Sutor, Co., "I." 1st W. Va. Art.; Jas. Brown, J. R. Brown, J. P. Nott, John Moore, Capt. E. A. Barr, Frank Tyler, John Mallory, Clarence Mallory, Grant Cox, Jas. Darby, Louis Snider, Tom Atkinson; Rosea May, John M. Case, Wm. Cox 3, Jas. H. Atkinson, Jacob R. Jackson, Chas. S. May, Jas. W. Case, Chas. Lineger, D. T. Hartline, Jas. C. Morrill, John Danny, Eliel Bishop.

At Barnesville, Ohio, as we neared the landing, about 9 o'clock at night, a most beautiful scene was presented. A host of pretty girls and ugly boys, each carrying a nice bouquet—the whole covered with citizens, all waiting to do honor to the noble dead. When the stage was thrown out they all marched up into the boat and around the cabin, and deposited their flowers with cheerful welcome; literally covering the tables.

At Smith a large box of bouquets, wreathes, any beautiful designs were sent in. The box of flowers was said to have been the donation of 119 little girls and young ladies. The following are some of the mottoes attached to the cards:

"Ohio responds—and sends her flowers to decorate the graves of West Virginia soldiers," "All honor to our brave dead," "To our sons, brothers, and comrades that fell for the Stars and Stripes," "God bless the dead him upon whom these flowers are strewn," "A tribute to our fallen heroes—we cherish their memory here."

Many other notes of interest might be spoken of, but for fear that you cannot give space, I will close for the present—only adding—that judging from the involuntary enthusiasm over "Decoration day," the sacrificing soldier who went forth to bleed and die for his country, will live in the memory of succeeding generations. WM. GREGG.

THE FENIAN FIASCO.

Escape of a Head-Centre Prisoner--Arrest of a Fenian Officer.

NEW YORK, May 31.

A Malone special says the escape of Edward J. Manix, a Fenian head-centre, has caused extra precautions to be taken against a similar attempt by the remaining prisoners, and Capt. Hardan, in command at the guard house, states that the first man who moves two feet beyond the sentry lines will be shot down without mercy by the guard. The efforts of the United States troops and Marshal at the recapture of Manix have up to now been futile. The U. S. Marshal is determined to arrest every Fenian officer he can find. Yesterday a Major in the 5th U. S. artillery pointed out Col. J. Cunningham, of Albany, to Deputy Marshal Perry, who arrested him and removed him to the guard house.

CUBA.

NEW YORK, May 31.

A Havan correspondent writes that the rainy season has set in, in Cuba, and that the yellow fever has broken out at Unevitas and Puerto Principe, greatly to the consternation of the Spaniards. He also reports Cuban successes in several small engagements. The execution of Cuban prisoners by the Spanish authorities still continues.

A passenger who arrived yesterday by the Mariposa, from Havana, states that on the day of his leaving that port, (the 25th inst.,) a rumor was current that the George B. Upton had landed her passengers and cargo some days previously in one of the bays on the north shore of the eastern department. Her passengers consist almost entirely of Cubans. She went in the charge of experienced men, the officers being Commander, Thomas Darvin, of the Hornet; first officer, R. Sommers, who successfully landed the cargo of the Anna, second, W. J. Cooke, of the Hornet; third, Licut. J. Chauveen, late of the Spanish hydrographic corps; Paymaster, Munose, of the Hornet and Anna; Surgeon, J. Portille; Chief Engineer, J. Aymean; First Assistant Engineer, A. Torralin; Second Assistant Engineer, J. Ash, all of Hornet. The forces on board are under command of Col. Gasper Betancourt of Gen. Jorda's staff, who arrived here with him. His chief of staff is Lieut. Westerman, a nephew of Baron Dewoltke. Among the military officers are Messrs. Cautero, Sarcol, Yicino, Vinols and Terry. Twelve military engineer officers also accompany the expedition. Her cargo consists in part of 3,500 muskets, 250 rifles, 100 revolvers, 700,000 metallic cartridges, and 1,000,000 percussion caps, 4 tons powder, 1 ton of sulphur, 10 army medicine chests, 5 saddles, 500 wachetes, and 100 bags clothing.

Presbyterian Assembly at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 31.

In the Presbyterian General Assembly this morning, the Committee appointed to inquire into the perils of the public school system, reported resolutions at the close of the report strongly condemning any system which shall exclude religion or religious instruction from public schools. The resolutions were unanimously adopted. The question then arose on the location of the principal office of the new consolidated board. The roll was called with the following result: New York, 396; Philadelphia, 153. The vote occasioned considerable enthusiasm.

SAN FRANCISCO.

The Boston Excursion.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.

The Boston excursionists passed through Elko to-day, and will arrive here to-morrow. The committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet and escort the party to the city. It is arranged that the train will come into the city on the Market street road and stop in front of the Grand Hotel.

Ohio Democratic Convention.

COLUMBUS, May 31.

Every train is bringing in delegates for the Democratic Convention to-morrow. There does not seem to be much interest in reference to candidates, but the interest seems to centre in the platform to be adopted. There is a strong force here insisting on the repudiation plank. Vallandingham and other prominent leaders are here.

Shocking Murder in North Carolina.

RALEIGH, May 31.

On Wednesday morning last, three men went to the house of Daniel and Neill McLeod, two brothers living in the western portion of Cumberland county, and murdered both of them. They also badly wounded the wife, daughter and son of Neil McLeod. The McLeods were peaceable citizens and highly respected by their neighbors.

WANTED—AGENTS—$75 TO $200 per month, everywhere, male and female, to introduce the GENUINE improved COMMON SENSE FAMILY SEWING MACHINE. This Machine will stitch, hem, fell, tuck, quilt, cord, bind, braid and embroider in a most superior manner. Price only $18. Fully warranted for five years. We will pay $1000 for any Machine that will sew a stronger, more beautiful, or more elastic seam than ours. It makes the "Elastic Lock Stitch." Every second stitch can be cut, and still the cloth cannot be pulled apart without tearing it. We pay agents from $75 to $200 per month and expenses, or a commission from which twice that amount can be made. Address SECOMB & CO., Pittsburgh, Pa.; Boston, Mass., or St. Louis, Mo.
CAUTION—Beware of all Agents selling Machines under the same name as ours, unless they can show a Certificate of Agency signed by us. We shall not hold ourselves responsible for worthless Machines sold by other parties, and shall prosecute all parties either selling or using Machines under this name to the full extent of the law, unless such Machines are obtained from us or our Agents. Do not be imposed upon by parties who copy our advertisement and circulars and offer worthless Machines at a less price. mar1-onw

THE YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE —OF—
WHEELING, W. VA.
(Late Moundsville Female Seminary)
PROF. W. SHELDON HUTCHINS, } Principals.
MRS. W. S. HUTCHINS, }
MISS H. L. BONHAM, Vice Principal.
MISS KATE S. MONTAGUE, Principal Preparatory Department.
MRS. MARY JACKSON, of Weston, Matron.
Assisted by a full Corps of Professors and Teachers.
Spring Term opens APRIL 6th; closes JUNE 30th.

DESIGN.
The design of the Institution is to furnish a thorough and systematic course of instruction for young ladies upon the plan of University instruction, each department of learning being complete within itself, thus enabling a young lady to select her own course of study without being restricted to any fixed routine of classes, requiring a certain number of years to finish; but, in opposition to this, young ladies who have advanced further in some studies than others, can have the benefit of their former acquirements and obtain a Certificate of Proficency in one or more schools perhaps, in the course of one year, after which time, they may bring up,
