

AH, DEAR OLD MR. BOSS BRINGS A FEW FRIENDS HOME TO LUNCH!

ANNA BELLE'S BROTHER JACK'S BOY SCOUT OUTFIT.

Yes, Jack is one of those and he certainly looks dandy in his new uniform. Don't you think so? Write Simpson—you know him—told me yesterday that he was going to join the Boy Scouts real soon, and I'll be glad when he gets one of those pretty uniforms like Brother Jack has—you know he's naturally good look—oh, my I almost said something, didn't I? Well, he is anyway! The other afternoon the boys met at our house and just for fun they let me drill them for awhile. I made them step lively, too! Jack said I would make a fine Boy Scout if I were a boy. In the picture above you can see me putting them through the drill. They have some dandy little tents and sometime this summer they are going on an encampment. I think they really are going to fish most of the time they are away though. Do you girl friends like to fish? I went with papa not long ago and a big fish—or, what I thought was a fish—almost pulled me in the river. But what do you think, it was only a big turtle. Papa helped me pull him out and we had some good turtle soup anyway.

Now, I must close dear friends. Write to me real soon, and tell me what you are doing these hot summer days. And don't forget to tell me of new things you'd have me do for you. Lovingly,

MAKE THIS CALF EAT

INSTRUCTIONS.
Mount on heavy cardboard, cut out parts and cut slits on dotted lines in calf's shoulder and tail. Insert calf's head through slit in calf's shoulder, and head in slit in tail. Then put pin through dot marked A on calf's neck, also pin through dot marked B on boy's body.

Work the boy back and forth with your finger and the calf will move its head and tail in a very life-like manner.
