The Ward Healer Who Helped a Great Politician Win a Hard Fight

I HAVE always felt that one of the reasons why I have been able to get and to keep something of a political influence is the gift I have for making friends with the humblest ward workers and then keeping those friends, said Thurston Weed, the great Whig and Republican leader of New York State, when he was chatting about the disappointments or failures of certain politicians whom he knew.

'Let me tell you, as an illustration, the story of my friendship with 'One-Eyed' Daly. It was a friendship which made possible the retention of my political influence in Albany at a time when it was almost vital to me that I should keep my grip upon the political situation in the city. 'One-Eyed' Daly was a true product of the river front of Albany. How he lost one eye I do not know, but if it was equally bright with the one that remained to him, then he had a pair of about as bright blue eyes as any man I ever knew. He was at home among the 'longshoremen' and the rough-and-tumble class whose homes were along the river front. I never knew why he became attached to me, but I do know that he was the most faithful and in his way affectionate of all my followers in Albany. He had the reputation of a fighter and he could hold his own in a rough-and-tumble scuffle with any of the 'longshoremen', so that I have always thought that his prowess as a fighter explained in great measure his prestige and leadership. He was widely known as a great friend of mine, and I believe that him one of my hefters, although he never asked me for a political place.

IS WATSON A CITIZEN OF WEST VIRGINIA?

Is C. W. Watson a citizen of West Virginia?
When Mr. Watson was nominated for the United States senate by the Democratic caucus a Baltimore paper in an ecstasy of glee exclaimed that C. W. Watson would be the third senator in the United States senate from Maryland.

On June 25, 1911, the Northern Coal & Coke company again filed a statement as a non-resident corporation; again it gave the name of its president, C. W. Watson, and again it gave his postoffice address as Baltimore, Md.

Whatever may be the technical relationship of Mr. Watson to the state of West Virginia, practically and in spirit he is not, and has not been a citizen of West Virginia for many years. In a public address in the city of Fairmont, the occasion being a banquet given in honor of Thomas M. Fitzgerald, President Murray, then representing the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, said in effect that Maryland welcomed Mr. Watson as a gift from the state of West Virginia.

representing the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, said in effect that Maryland welcomed Mr. Watson as a gift from the state of West Virginia. The business houses of Baltimore know Mr. Watson. Wall street knows Mr. Watson, but for many years West Virginia did not know him. In the United States senate he is today the representative of the big interests that put him there, the Standard Oil company, the Fairmont Coal company, the B. & O. railroad and the interests back of them. He is in no sense a representative of the people of West Virginia.

REPUBLICANS GAIN STRENGTH.

In so far as national importance is to be attributed to Tuesday's elections, the results are distinctly encouraging to the Republican party. They indicate a decided reaction from the Democratic wave which swept over the country in 1910. Massachusetts re-elected Governor Foss, Democrat, but by a very much reduced majority. On the other hand, the Republicans regained control of the legislatures of both New York and New Jersey. Both these bodies were Democratic in 1910, and both elected Democrats to the United States senate in that year. The reposition of the Democratic legislatures by the voters of these two states is of more than usual significance.

In New York the Tammany majority is cut almost in two. In a large number of city elections the results are more or less mixed and local issues, as is naturally the case, figured in deciding the results. The Cox machine was beaten in Cincinnati, and the Pennock machine in Philadelphia. Good citizens generally are not likely to mourn over these facts. The conditions that brought about the overthrow of these municipal machines were local and in no wise connected with national issues.

Undoubtedly there is a decided tendency on the part of Republicans who left the party last year or failed to go to the polls, to return to the party allegiance. That tendency will become more and more decided as Democratic policies and Democratic leadership are developed.

GORMAN BEATEN.

One especially significant result of Tuesday's elections was the Republican victory in Maryland. There Arthur Pue Gorman, head of the Democratic machine and son of the late A. P. Gorman, who was for years dictator of Maryland politics, was defeated by about 5,000 majority. At the same time the constitutional amendment, intended to disfranchise the negroes of Maryland, was overwhelmingly beaten. Gorman represented the worst element of Maryland politics. He was a machine man pure and simple, and he won his nomination to the governorship by machine methods. His defeat under the circumstances is a triumph for the better elements in Maryland public life.

FLUSHING LEVY

Extra Levy for Schools Carried in Flushing Election on Tuesday by Good Majority.

FLUSHING, O., Nov. 8.—Under the new valuation of property as fixed at the recent quadrennial appraisal, and at the maximum levy allowed by the law for school purposes, the citizens of Flushing found that they would lack at least 2 1/2 mills of having enough to support their schools at their present high standard. The board of education decided to ask for this additional levy of 2 1/2 mills for four years and allow the people to say if they approved of maintaining so costly a system of schools for a village of the size of Flushing. The result of the election was an overwhelming vote in favor of the increased levy and a decided approval of the present school regime in the village. The vote stood almost 2 to 1 in favor of the levy.

MAYOR WYCKOFF.

Some nervous citizens, who have become wildly excited over the election of a Socialist candidate for mayor of Martins Ferry, might have their fears dispelled if they became acquainted with the mild, meek and very sensible gentleman selected. The Intelligencer has a somewhat extended acquaintance with Mayor Wyckoff, and it has no hesitancy in saying that he is a conscientious, upright man, who will strive to do his duty. He is likely to prove a good deal better city official than some of his predecessors have been.

CORRUPTION

Elected Lorimer Declare Two Witnesses Before Investigating Committee.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—State Representative George W. English, of Vienna, Ill., today testified before the committee of United States senators investigating the Lorimer election, that Lee O'Neil Browne threatened English with physical violence because of what the Vienna legislator had said regarding Browne's activity for Lorimer.

The witness said while he could name no specific instance of corruption in relation to the election of which he held personal knowledge, that he believed then and now that corruption controlled the election. Former Judge Conrad Schulz, of Mount Vernon, Ill., took the witness stand when English had concluded. Schulz declared that former State Representative Charles S. Luke boasted that he was going to get money to vote for a Republican for United States senator. Luke later voted for Lorimer.

Another Socialist Victory.
NEW CASTLE, Pa., Nov. 8.—Late returns from county precincts make sure the election of Walter Tyler, Socialist, as mayor of New Castle. He led the independent candidate by more than four hundred votes. The count will be decided among Socialists, Republicans and Independents.

Uncle Walt
The Poet Philosopher:

Method that wrestling might be made our finest sport, already still, if athletes working at the trade relied alone on strength and skill.
There's nothing finer than to see two mighty men in stern embrace, each striving for the victory, their WRESTLERS movements fraught with tiger's grace.
I watched two gladiators sweat, upon the mat, while sportsmen raved; alas, my friends, I shudder yet, when thinking how those men behaved. One gave the other's leg a twist until it like a cork-screw seemed; the latter bent the first one's wrist until he threw a fit and screamed. Each tried to gouge the other's eyes and jolt him rudely in the neck; each seemed to think it good and wise to make the other man a wreck. The game would certainly be grand, a game for heroes brave and bold, if all the butcher plays were canned, and wrestlers wrestled as of old.
