

TRouble WITH CHILE.

Complications Thought to Have Arisen Between this Country

AND THE NEW GOVERNMENT.

Hints that Dispatches of an Important Character Have Been Received from Minister Egan--Alleged Bad Treatment of Americans--A Conference Between the President and the State and Naval Officials at Washington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—For two hours this morning the President was in consultation with the representatives of the State and Navy departments.

Secretary Tracy, who arrived in Washington last night, nearly a week before the date fixed for his return, came to the White House early in the day. He was joined by Acting Secretary Wharton, of the Department of State, and Gen. John W. Foster, chief of the navigation bureau, who had been summoned for the purpose.

It is gathered, however, that serious complications have arisen between the junta and the United States representative in that country. It is assumed that Commodore Ramon was called into the consultation by the President for the purpose of explaining the extent of the resources of the navy.

It is conjectured here that the matter under consideration at the conference were statements from Minister Egan to Captain Schley of recent occurrences in Chile, which are also conjectured to accord with the special dispatches from Valparaiso printed in the New York Herald this morning.

Just what Captain Schley had to communicate to the Navy Department cannot be learned from any of the officials, but it is surmised that it related to the treatment of refugees, or that the bitter anti-American sentiment in Chile resulting from the seizure of the Itata has revealed itself in hostile and unfriendly demonstrations toward the officers and men of the Baltimore.

However this may be, it is certain that the officials of the State and Navy departments are not alarmed at the situation, and if the conference was called to devise means of meeting any emergency, it is apparent that the persons who participated are satisfied that this has been done.

What the Secretary Says. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 27.—Secretary Tracy, while declining to make any statement relative to the conference at the White House this morning, said that he did not intend to send any more ships to Chile, and that he did not regard the situation there as threatening.

No Danger of a Revolt. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—In response to an inquiry relative to the reports that a revolt had broken out among the troops of Santiago, Senor Mont, the Chilean Congressional envoy at Washington, has received a dispatch from Senor Matta, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, saying that "peace has not, nor will it be disturbed, least of all by military revolts."

Colonel Compton's Sentence. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—The President has passed upon the record of the court martial in the case of Colonel Charles E. Compton, Fourth cavalry. While Colonel Compton was in command of the military post at Walla Walla, Washington, some of his soldiers attacked the jail and lynched a gambler named Hunt, under arrest for killing a soldier. It was charged that Colonel Compton failed to take steps to prevent the lynching, although requested to do so, and he was court-martialed, and on a charge of negligence the court found him guilty and sentenced him to suspension from rank and command for three years on half pay and to be confined to the limits of the military post. The President has approved of the proceedings of the court, but has mitigated the sentence to suspension from rank and command on half pay for two years.

Status of the Pope Unveiled. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—This afternoon the marble statue of the Pope, presented to the Catholic university by Joseph Loubat, of New York, was unveiled. The exercises were simple, but were participated in by Cardinal Gibbons and a large number of the priesthood, as well as of the laity. Bishop Keane delivered the principal address. The statue is the work of Giuseppe Luchetti, one of the best known of the modern Italian school. It occupied him over a year, and its total cost has been $20,000.

The Four-and-a-Half. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—The amount of 4 1/2 per cent bonds continued at 2 per cent to-day was $25,000, making the total continued to date $25,000,950. The total amount of 4 per cent bonds redeemed to date is $17,696,900. Of this amount $11,950 were presented at New York Saturday and $116,600 were presented at Washington.

WILL CARRY IT UP.

A Fine Question Arises Between the Land Office and the Indians.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received a copy of a recent opinion by Judge Green, of the district court of the territory of Oklahoma, directing the restoration to his parents of an Indian boy placed in the government Indian school at Chillicoce by the Indian office officials. The father of the boy began habeas corpus proceedings to secure possession of his son, who, under an act passed at the last session of Congress, had been compelled to attend school. Judge Green held that as the Indian office had not issued as required by the act, rules and regulations to compel the attendance of Indian children at schools provided for them, the retention of the boy contrary to the will of his parents was illegal. The effect of this decision is regarded by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs as likely to prove prejudicial to the schools, and it is the intention to carry the case to a higher court. The judge, in his opinion, took the ground that the right of a parent to the custody of his children belonged to the Indian as well as to a white man.

Immigrant Arrivals. WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—The Chief of the Bureau of Statistics reports that the total number of immigrants arrived at the ports of the United States from the foreign countries, except the Dominion of Canada and Mexico, during the month ended August 31, 1891, was 45,172 against 37,381 in August of last year.

The value of the imports was $849,039,241.

ARRESTED FOR FRAUD. A Memphis Commission Man Held on a Serious Charge.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—George C. Halliday, twenty-eight years of age, an agent for the firm of Halliday Bros., grain and commission dealers of Memphis, Tenn., was held in the Yorkville police court to-day in $1,000 bail for examination on a charge of grand larceny. The complainant, George Odell, of the firm of Odell Bros., organ builders, charges that Halliday called upon him a week ago, claiming that he came in the interest of the Memphis Episcopal church that wanted its organ repaired. Last Friday Halliday called again, presented a draft for $100 drawn by Halliday Bros., on the Memphis National Bank to George W. Odell.

The cashier telegraphed to the Memphis National Bank for information about the firm of Halliday Bros., and received reply "persons named not known in bank." Halliday was arrested pending further investigation.

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY For American Merchants to Open Up a New Market.

ROME, Sept. 28.—The executive committee of the Italian-American exhibition at Genoa, in honor of the discovery of America by Columbus, have finally arranged for the erection of the buildings, which will cost 500,000 lira. It is the design of the committee that the exhibition shall consist of samples of the agricultural and industrial products of Italy and America, with the object of showing the kinds of goods that can be most advantageously imported and exported. It is expected that this is to give a new impulse to trans-Atlantic commerce. This would be a good opportunity for American merchants to introduce their goods into a new market. Genoa is the largest distributing point in Italy for foreign merchandise, and the people of Italy are largely predisposed in favor of American products.

NOT ACCEPTED. The Jeff Davis Statue Voted Not to be a Good Likeness by the Committee.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 28.—The life-sized statue of ex-President Jefferson Davis, intended to be placed in the vestibule of the Confederate monument here, was opened to-day and submitted to the committee, three of whom were absent, seven being present. After careful inspection, the committee took an informal vote on the acceptance, agreeing that the same should not be formal, when all but one voted against accepting, on the ground that it is not a good likeness of Mr. Davis. The committee agreed to refer the matter of acceptance to a new committee of twenty-five citizens, composed of persons to whom Mr. Davis was well known. Mrs. Belmont Manship, vice president of the association, to name the committee.

FREE TRADER MILLS

Exhibits Himself to an Immense Audience at Zanesville.

REGARDLESS OF THE PROSPERITY

Which the Country is Enjoying After Eleven Months Trial of the McKinley Bill, He Has the Audacity to Declare that Protection Paralyzes Industries and Throws Laborers Out of Employment--He is Fresh from Texas and May be Excused for Making Such a Break.

ZANESVILLE, OHIO, Sept. 28.—At Schultze's Opera House to-night Hon. Roger Q. Mills, of Texas, addressed an audience that filled the building from pit to dome. The doors were opened at 7 o'clock and ten minutes later there was not a seat left. In the corridors and aisles, in the orchestra pit, in the space between the wings of the stage, every inch of standing space was utilized, and not until the last words of the speaker had been uttered did a single person leave the building.

The distinguished Texan was introduced by Hon. John O'Neill, the chairman of the meeting, as "the man who had done more for the cause of the laborer than any other statesman that America had produced."

He was greeted with a perfect ovation, and it was fully five minutes before the cheers of the audience subsided sufficiently to allow him to proceed with his speech. In his remarks he confined himself to the tariff. He said that if this were a mere personal contest between Gov. Campbell and Major McKinley he would not be here to-night, but it is because the contest is on an issue of transcendent importance to the whole country--an issue that affects the welfare of every one in Ohio.

"In the present contest," he said, "Major McKinley stands for the policy of taxation, not for public purposes, but a taxation to strangle competition in business, to throw the laborer out of employment, to reduce the wages of workmen, to paralyze natural industries, to build up, moreover, a tremendous fortune in the hands of a few until it shakes the whole fabric of popular government from turret to foundation stone."

Fully 5,000 people were in the audience and more than that number were turned away unable to gain admittance.

A New Party. COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 28.—The Veteran Republican party of Cincinnati to-day filed a petition of nomination with the Secretary of State, a form required by the law before the party can be recognized in the make up and issue of tickets at the polls. The promoters of the new party claim it will cut quite a figure in the result in Hamilton county and the State.

ELOPED WITH HER LOVER. A Newark Man is Looking for His Wife and Children.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Thomas Fischer, a German saloon keeper at 240 Ferry street, Newark, sold out his business on Saturday and will devote his time and money to a search for his missing wife and two children. He said last night that he believes she has eloped with a Hungarian hod carrier named John Herminsky, who is about twenty-five years old, tall and good looking. Mrs. Fischer is a rather comely brunette of thirty-eight years. Her husband is short, stout and anything but pretty. Mrs. Fischer tended bar for her husband, and to this is attributed her downfall. About a month ago Herminsky first visited the saloon. He chatted with Mrs. Fischer and induced her to drink with him. He came the next night, and soon was a regular caller. Fischer saw and disapproved of what was going on. He mildly reproved his wife, but she continued to show a decided preference for Herminsky. Last Sunday, while Fischer was coming downstairs from his living apartments, he found his wife and Herminsky kissing each other in the hallway. He ordered the fellow out and then upbraided his wife. She professed repentance and asked forgiveness. Shortly afterward the Hungarian returned and calmly sat down in the saloon. To avoid a row Fischer went into another room, but as Herminsky remained some time forbearance ceased to be a virtue, and rushing upon the fellow Fischer knocked him to the floor with a stinging blow in the face. Several men in the saloon prevented further hostilities, and the Hungarian ran out.

Mrs. Fischer then walked to the cash drawer and transferred $130 to her pocket. Calling her daughter, aged 12, and her son, aged 9, she took each by the hand and went out. She has not been seen since. Fischer learned that Herminsky boarded at 29 Wall street, but that on Monday he took away his clothes and has not since returned. On Saturday Fischer went to the house of his wife's cousin, Mrs. Caroline Cook, of Cook street, near Graham avenue, Brooklyn. He thought that Mrs. Fischer might be there, and as he was refused admittance he thinks so still.

A NOBLE COUNTY TRAGEDY.

Ros Walters Fatally Beats His Wife and Then Throws Himself in the Well.

CALDWELL, OHIO, Sept. 28.—For the third time within the past eight months the citizens of Caldwell and Noble county have been shocked by a cold blooded murder in their midst. This time Ros Walters, a married man residing in Jefferson township, twelve miles south of this place, engaged in a quarrel with his wife early Sunday morning, and so enraged did he become that he seized an iron bar and struck his wife over the head, fracturing her skull. He repeated the blow, but a little daughter, eight years old, warded it off her mother's head, and in so doing had a finger entirely severed from her hand. The wretched husband, thinking he had killed his wife, went to a well near by and threw himself in, immediately drowning. About noon his body was taken from the well. At this hour the woman is still living, but no hopes of her recovery are entertained. Jealousy was the cause. Walters' remains were brought to this place for burial to-day.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—At 10:30 o'clock this morning the private coach Grassmere, containing John W. Mackey, the California millionaire, and Miss Fair, daughter of Senator James G. Fair, and a sister of Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, rolled into the Grand Central depot attached to the fast mail over the New York Central & Hudson River railroad, having made the fastest trip on record from San Francisco to this city. Mr. Oelrichs was at the depot awaiting the train, which was reported 23 minutes late at Poughkeepsie. Five minutes of this time was made up before reaching this city, making the actual time of the trip after counting the difference of time between the two cities, four days, twelve hours and 28 minutes. This beats the record of Herman Oelrichs, who, in August last, made the trip in 4 days, 16 hours and 10 minutes.

It is rumored that Mr. Mackey's trip to this city is for the purpose of looking after the interests of the Pacific roads in connection with the Searies will contest.

A MANIAC IN CHURCH

Attempts to Assault Archbishop Corrigan During Mass.

IT TOOK HALF A DOZEN MEN

To Prevent Him from Murderously Assaulting the Prelate at the Cathedral in New York--He is a Partisan of McGlynn and was Crazed Over the Alleged Wrongs of the Latter. An Exciting Scene During the Morning Service--Threats Against the Archbishop.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Intense excitement was created among the vast congregation that attended the 8 o'clock celebration of the mass in the Cathedral on Fifth avenue yesterday morning by the violent actions of a maniac who was only prevented from murderously assaulting Archbishop Corrigan by prompt action on the part of the sextons and the police.

The man entered the Cathedral unnoticed and seated himself near the middle of the central aisle, where he soon began to attract the attention of those about him by muttering to himself, clenching his fists and scowling at the priests as they moved about the altar. As he made no audible disturbance, no attempt was made to remove him.

As the service drew to a close it was noticed that his excitement seemed to increase, and that once or twice he clutched the pew in front of him and leaned forward as if about to spring to his feet. Several women near by began to become alarmed, recalling the maniac who created a panic in the cathedral a year ago, but their attention was presently distracted, when the service being over, the archbishop began to move toward the pulpit for the purpose of delivering the sermon.

SHOOK HIS FIST AT THE ARCHBISHOP.

At that moment the young man who had been acting so queerly picked up his hat and, darting out of the pew, strode quickly down the main aisle and reached the transept just as the archbishop had ascended the steps of the pulpit. Shaking his fist at the archbishop, he screamed in a shrill, piping voice that echoed through the groined arches of the cathedral: "I'm the Lord's Anointed and you're not in it with me! Hurrah for Dr. McGlynn!" Then he began to pour out a torrent of abuse on the archbishop and the Church, interspersed with rambling references to Dr. McGlynn and frequent repetitions that he was the "Lord's Anointed."

The congregation stood aghast, and here and there women screamed and began to rush from the church. Archbishop Corrigan was pale but very collected, and silently motioned to an usher who stood near the pulpit to remove the man. The maniac had worked himself into an incoherent frenzy and stood glaring at the pulpit. Foam was flying from his lips and his fingers were nervously clutching the air. Suddenly, with a sharp cry, he sprang forward with the evident intention of grappling with the archbishop and hurling him from the pulpit.

THE MANIAC OVERPOWERED.

At that moment James Martin, the night watchman at the Cathedral, sprang forward and grappled with the maniac. Martin is a burly, powerful man, but although his antagonist looking stripping him, it was all he could do to handle him as they struggled together. Officer Quinlan, who was on post in Fifth avenue, and several ushers and members of the congregation came to his assistance and the maniac was dragged down the aisle struggling and howling and kicking anathemas on Archbishop Corrigan, whom he declared to be Pontius Pilate. At the north transept door he resisted again long enough to cry, "Three cheers for Dr. McGlynn!" Quiet was soon restored after he had been removed and the archbishop calmly proceeded with the delivery of his discourse as if nothing extraordinary had happened.

On the way to the station house the prisoner struggled fiercely with his captors and raved incessantly, denouncing the Archbishop as a persecutor of Dr. McGlynn and declaring that he had gone to the Cathedral for the express purpose of murdering him.

After a sedative had been administered he became calmer and said that his name was Joseph P. Hanrahan, that he was twenty-five years of age and lived with relatives at 110 East Fifty-second street. It is said that the unfortunate youth was an ardent admirer of Dr. McGlynn, and that his mind became affected recently through brooding over what he considered the persecution of the reverend gentleman. Although he declared that it was his purpose to kill the archbishop no weapon was found on him when he was searched at the station house. At the Yorkville court Hanrahan seemed stupefied. He was committed for medical examination.

A Great Oil Market in Philadelphia Burned Yesterday.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 28.—Shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon fire broke out in the oil warehouse of Phillips and Cunningham, at 136 North Delaware avenue. The flames soon gained headway and several alarms were turned in.

The fire swept through the inflammable stock of the building and the structure was ablaze from cellar to roof in twenty minutes after the flames first broke out. Finding that the fire was beyond their control, the firemen quickly turned in four alarms. Despite the utmost efforts of the firemen, the flames spread west to Water street, and to the rag warehouse of Jessup & Moore, adjoining the burning oil store on the north. In a short time the warehouses at 127, 131 and 133 Water street were ablaze. In the petition for an injunction the plaintiffs allege that the defendant company has a plentiful supply of gas and that the real reason for the refusal to furnish gas to the mills is that they can get better rates from private consumers.
