

A. O. U. W. TEMPLE.

A Gigantic Scheme to Build One in This City.

THE PLAN NOW BEING WORKED UP

By a Committee Representing the Various Lodges in Wheeling—A Plan on the Order of a Building Association will be Adopted—Shares Will be $5, With Five Years to Pay Up—A. O. U. W.'s New Quarters.

It seems to be definitely settled that in a comparatively short time the growing and thriving secret organization, the Ancient Order of United Workmen, will have a home in Wheeling which will, as one of the leading spirits in the enterprise remarked, "be finer than anything else of its class here, and will be something that the town will grow to, and not grow from."

The A. O. U. W. now has over 1,300 members in that part of the Pennsylvania jurisdiction which is composed of West Virginia, and of these a large proportion are right here in Wheeling. The organization is growing rapidly, and it is claimed that by next July West Virginia will have the required two thousand members which will allow the state to organize a separate grand jurisdiction. The greater part of the growth of the order is in Wheeling, and for this reason the scheme for a suitable home for the order is receiving encouragement.

Some time ago a committee was appointed by the local lodges to prepare a plan of organization, looking toward the building of an A. O. U. W. temple here. The committee is composed of Messrs. S. G. Smith, C. W. Connor, John S. Trimble and W. O. McCluskey. Last night Mr. Smith was seen by an Intelligencer man and gave an outline of the proposed plan which will soon be up for adoption. An incorporation will first be effected under the laws of West Virginia, somewhat on the plan of the building associations, now so numerous. Each share of stock will be valued at $5, and it is to be paid for in quarterly installments of twenty-five cents, so that it will be eminently on "the easy payment plan," five years being given in which to pay the face of the share. It is known, however, that many Workmen will subscribe for more than one share, for the reason that the investment will undoubtedly be a paying one. There will be 20,000 shares, giving the association a cash capital at the end of five years of $100,000. On this capital it is proposed to first purchase a choice corner lot in the business center of the city, and upon it to build a magnificent structure, the upper floors of which will be occupied by the various city lodges, and the balance will be filled up with "good paying tenants."

The object of making the shares of so small a face value is to have every Workman, however small his means, represented in the association. Many members will subscribe very liberally, and it is probable that fifty persons will take $500 each in stock. One gentleman has promised to be one of twenty-five to take $1,000 each. The A. O. U. W. people all over the city are enthusiastic for the proposed home of the order.

The papers of incorporation will be taken out early next month, and during the month the association will be organized and stock subscribed. It is proposed to buy the ground for the building as soon as enough money has been paid in on stock subscriptions, and then or soon afterwards money will be borrowed on the real estate, and the Workmen are not going in for "small potatoes," can be seen from the price of the prominent corner lot that is in view, a little over two-thirds of a hundred thousand dollars.

In the meantime the A. O. U. W. lodges of Wheeling will occupy new quarters, which will be secured very soon; in fact they are practically secured now. The old Masonic opera, on the third floor of the Grand Opera House building, will be the new home of the Workmen. All but two of the city lodges have acted favorably in this matter, and the new quarters will soon be secured. It is the intention to entirely refit and repaint the rooms.

A. O. U. W. Notes. Upchurch Lodge, A. O. U. W., held a meeting at Odd Fellows' hall last evening and elected officers. Howard Atkinson was elected master workman.

The new lodge of the A. O. U. W. is becoming larger in membership every day, eighty-five members now being organized. Dr. Garrison says that it will be organized in the course of two or three weeks.

United Workmen are looking forward to the time when West Virginia will be a separate jurisdiction. It is thought that the required 2,000 members will be enrolled by July next. It is said that Deputy Supreme Master Workman Ford, of Pittsburgh, will initiate the West Virginia grand lodge then. There is some gossip going the rounds as to who shall be elected as the first grand master workman, and the general sentiment in Wheeling is that W. O. McCluskey, one of the hardest workers in the order, should be elevated to that position.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

Strangers in the City and Wheeling Folks Abroad.

Bishop G. W. Peterkin, says the Parkersburg Journal, will arrive home this evening at 9 o'clock via Huntington, having come over the Chesapeake & Ohio from Richmond. He will remain here until Thursday night or Friday morning and will then return to Virginia on business. The bishop will be given a hearty welcome. He has been absent since early in July and has made a journey of several thousand miles. His mission to Brazil took him to the places where the revolutionary troubles are raging and he was there when the excitement was at its height.

CADET DODDRIDGE

Writes interestingly of the Hawaiian Region.

Cadet John S. Doddridge, son of Mr. J. M. Doddridge, of this city, who is a cadet in the United States navy, attached to the warship Philadelphia, writes interestingly of the Sandwich Islands to his father. Speaking of the weather, always warm in Hawaii, he says that it grows monotonous, and he would like to see a little snow, just for the novelty. Out there, he says, the thermometer has a good "steady" business.

"I recently attended a native feast," he writes, "or 'tomai' as it is called by the natives. It was very tame. They did not even have dog, which is a standard in all native feasts. A tomal is not a success unless there is 'poi' and baked dog, and sometimes baked fish. They are very particular as to the kind of dog they eat; no mongrel curs for them."

His vessel leaves Hawaii in February and goes to San Francisco, where she will be docked. There are now at Honolulu, he says, a number of war ships representing various nations, including Great Britain and Germany. "United States Minister Willis has arrived and presented his credentials. The people here are waiting anxiously for the outcome of the annexation scheme. They seem to think the whole United States is worked up over the question."

Appended to his letter is the following clipping from a Honolulu daily paper:

SIMPLY A SHORE DRILL. BUT SOME NATIVES THOUGHT THE KING-QUEEN WAS TO BE EXHIBITED.

Several hundred marines and sailors from the warships came ashore yesterday morning and marched up Fort street to Hotel street and thence to Richard street, where they lined up in some unknown way at arms and a few marching evolutions. They were then taken back to their respective ships.

The troops were in charge of Lieutenant Commander Jencks, with Ensign Vogelweiss acting as adjutant. The other officers were Lieutenants Sharp, Prince, Hannum and Seabury, Ensigns Marvel and Knepper and Cadet Doddridge. In some unknown way a few natives got the idea that a grand restoration was going to take place, and started red hot for the king-queen's residence, laden with food to celebrate the occasion. The few were used, but no, for the purpose that they had been bought.

EDUCATION AND ART.

Those Twin Spirits of the Ages United at Last,

AND THEIR AUSPICIOUS UNION IS

Fully Celebrated in the Intelligencer's Art Portfolio of World's Fair Views. Thousands Salute Them and Congratulations Come Thick and Fast.

It is seldom that any work is published which from the very start is so popular and highly prized as the INTELLIGENCER'S Art Portfolios of World's Fair views now being distributed.

The reason for this is obvious. In the series it is perceived that the artistic and educational features are so happily blended as to furnish the best and most convenient method of gaining an accurate knowledge of all the important features of the exposition. It is, as it were, a wedding of those children of the ages (though ever young) education and art; a golden wedding, indeed, since it represents all the best achievements of every nation through centuries of time.

The happily-mated pair are high in favor with the people, since congratulations come pouring in upon them, and each visitor to their reception, held daily at the INTELLIGENCER Art Portfolio department, is presented with a superb set of exposition views in commemoration of their union.

Among those who come to pay their respects are people of every rank in life and of every profession, and all unite in praising the portfolios. That these words of commendation are sincere can be known from the fact that there is always a big rush to leave the six coupons and the ten cents.

The mail orders are also enormous, which shows that the interest is general. It should be remembered that, while each portfolio forms an important integral part of the series, every one is nevertheless complete. Consequently subscribers can begin at any time. When one of the portfolios is in hand, however, the importance of having the whole series will be easily apparent. This can be accomplished with a little patience, as will appear from the advertisement on page three of this morning's INTELLIGENCER.

Those who did not save the coupons for the first part should remember that they can secure it for a quarter, the price of the six papers plus the ten cents in cash.

"THE LOVE CHASE."

Miss Marlowe and an Excellent Company at the Opera House.

The modern stage gives too little of the quaintly flavored old English comedies; and yet as often as they are given well the public responds. Last night a fine audience assembled in the Opera House to greet Miss Julia Marlowe and a strong company in Sheridan Knowles's fine comedy, "The Love Chase." Miss Marlowe as Constance delighted everybody in a part that might well have been made for her. Nobody could have been a better Widow Gentry than Miss Rose Eyttinge, who easily divided honors with the star. Miss Eugenia Woodward's Lydia was beautifully done. Frequent and hearty applause showed the gratification of the audience. To-night Shakespeare's charming comedy, "Much Ado About Nothing," which this company is certain to do well.

River reports received last night show both head water streams falling. The D. T. Watson, with a large tow of railroad ties, passed up at 4 p. m. for Pittsburgh.

The marks at the public landing last evening showed 10 feet 3 inches and slowly falling. The Hudson on account of being late on the up trip will not be here from Pittsburgh until noon to-day, four hours late. She has a good trip in sight.

The Coal City, with fourteen barges of coal for Cincinnati, passed down at 5 p. m., and the Twilight flying light went up at the same hour. The Twilight will receive another tow below Davis Island dam.

The Iron Queen is one of the fastest boats that ever plied in the Cincinnati and Pittsburgh trade. She left Cincinnati Tuesday afternoon and yesterday morning Wharfmaster Crocker received a telegram from her commander, Captain Phillips, at Middleport, to the effect that she would be here early this morning.

The principal losses suffered by the coal fleet in the upper Ohio, as near as could be learned, were as follows: Fred Wilson, 5 barges and 4 boats of coal sunk at Losttown; Harry Brown, 5 barges sunk at Lacoeks; Hunter, 1 barge sunk at Glasshouse; Pierpoint, 2 barges sunk at Lacoeks. Ed Roberts, Blackmore, Enterprise, Belle M. Gowan and Bennett all had their tows aground at different places, but succeeded in getting them off with comparatively little loss.—Pittsburgh Commercial Gazette.

A Cincinnati dispatch says: Captains Sam Brown, Harry McDonald, G. W. Ailes, P. J. Forsyth, C. L. Snowden, W. O'Neill, D. B. Blackburn, George W. Weiss and Robert Jenkins, of the Pittsburgh coal trade, are here looking after their respective interests. Several were asked regarding prices, but all had the same answer, that no agreement had been entered into. It is understood that 6 cents a bushel will be asked for fourth pool coal and 5 cents for third pool. It was stated there would be no second pool coal received.
