The "Dark Night" Adrift.

The Kohlr boys have finished a roomy and elegant boathouse up the creek near the Whitaker mill, and named it the Dark Night. They expect to take her down the river as far as Fish creek as soon as the water will let the boat down to the river. They will probably spend the whole summer down there.

Mark Twain Boat Sold.

The fine boat house of the Mark Twain club was sold at auction, John L. Shriver buying it in at the remarkably low price of $227 50. The boat alone cost when built $1,400, and the sale included furniture, etc. What was Mr. Shriver intends to put it to use not yet been disclosed, but he certainly secured a great bargain. The Mark Twain rod and gun club has disbanded.

Supposed to be Insane.

Yesterday Simon Burkhardt, an ex-saloon keeper of Seventeenth street, was arrested by Officers Scally and Rohrie, and sent to jail by Squire Gillespy to await an inquest into his sanity. Burkhardt has a playful habit of cutting the bed clothes into shreds, and threatening to kill members of the family who objected to this form of amusement. He has been considered a little odd for two months.

All Got $5 and Costs.

In the police court yesterday morning James Leonard, a one-armed man from Martin's Ferry, arraigned as a plain drunk, went to the hill for thirty days in default of $5 and costs. S. A. Stanbrook, who was accused of repeated exposure of person, got the very light penalty of $5 and costs. Mollie Brown, for being out for improper purposes, went to jail in default of $5 and costs. Charles Alexander, a plain drunk, got thirty days in the workhouse in default of the same fine.

Two Fires in the Country.

The house of Joseph Turner, about seven miles east of Moundsville, near Limestone, was entirely destroyed by fire Monday night about 8 o'clock. The fire originated from a defective fuse. Some of the household goods were saved. Mr. Turner's wife at the time was lying at the point of death. It is understood that a slight insurance was carried.

The lightning during the storm Monday night struck the residence of John Earlewine, near Glen Easton, knocking about a square of slate off and setting fire to the building. It was soon extinguished without much damage.

New Military Law.

An order has been issued from the brigade headquarters of the West Virginia National Guard, says the Parkersburg State Journal, providing for a board of officers of the guard during the encampment at Martinsburg, for the purpose of compiling a suitable military code to be presented, with the approval of Governor MacCorkle, to the next legislature for its action. The board will consist of General Spillman, Colonel R. E. Fast, Lieutenant Colonel Clarence Smith and Major Philip H. Shaffer, of the First regiment, and Colonel Thomas E. Hodges, Lieutenant Colonel Casteet and Major Banks, of the Second regiment.

The New Reservoir all Right.

On Sunday the water was turned in the south half of the new city basin, the flooring of which with asphalt was finished last week by Messrs. McMillin and Dunaway. The water was allowed to rise until it was even with the top of the overflow pipe, and allowed to stand there until yesterday. Not a drop escaped except by evaporation. Where water used to issue from holes on the east side of the hill, all is now perfectly dry. Some of the residents there are kicking, because stopping the leaking of the basin spoiled a very nice "spring" for them. They had a barrel sunk in the ground, and it was constantly full of clear water and running over, before the new bottom was put in the reservoir.

STEEL BY HASTINGS' PROCESS

Two Interesting Tests Made by the Inventor in East Wheeling.

Yesterday afternoon, in the presence of a dozen persons, some of them experts, Mr. John B. Hastings made two very interesting tests to show the merits of his process for making steel. The first test was made in the machine shop of Redman & Co. A piece of steel, water-tempered at one end and oil-tempered at the other, was heated to a cherry red, hammered out on the anvil, turned into a cutting tool and placed in a lathe. To the surprise and admiration of the experts it cut into a piece of hard steel as though it had been cutting cheese. Its efficiency was compared with a similar tool of Muesbet steel and another of ordinary hard steel, and it was found that the Hastings tool did four times as much work as the Muesbet before showing any sign of giving out.

The second test was made in the foundry of the Wheeling Mold Company. While everybody looked on Mr. Hastings treated about fifty pounds of molten foundry iron by throwing his preparation into the ladle and pouring the metal into a mold. The product was accepted by all present as equal to any cast steel. Mr. Hastings hopes to have an opportunity to show what he can do in one of the steel plants. If the process can be shown to be practicable on a commercial scale and at the cost that is claimed for it, Mr. Hastings has found the process for which many metallurgists have searched in vain.

JUDGE FRAZIER IS NAMED

As his Own Successor on the Circuit Court Bench over the River.

At the circuit judicial convention at Wellsville, yesterday, Judge W. H. Frazier was nominated on the fifth ballot, as circuit judge of the circuit over the river.

The renomination of Judge Frazier for circuit judge was a high compliment to a deserving man and a just judge. In the twelve years he has sat on the bench in that circuit there was never a solitary act of his that could in any way be construed to mean other than an attempt to do justice according to the law.

Judge Frazier's home is at Caldwell, and he enjoys the respect and esteem of all the people with whom he comes in contact. His renomination would doubtless have been accorded without opposition had it not been that he himself decided to retire while in ill health, but as he is now enjoying robust health again he is better fitted for the high and honorable position than he was a year ago. The judicial convention acted wisely in his selection. There is about 10,000 Republican majority in the district, and even if it was much less Judge Frazier's continuance on the bench would be a certainty.

ECHOES OF THE STORM.

Evidence that It Was Heaviest up the Creek—Cattle Killed.

Yesterday a force of men was put to work by the board of public works cleaning up the tons of mud and debris left on the street by the storm of Monday night. Hundreds of cart-loads of sand, mud and gravel were hauled off the streets, and at least another day's work will be required to remove all the debris.

It was very apparent yesterday that the storm was even heavier up the creek than in the city. The creek was running out strong all day, but nevertheless rose steadily and rapidly all day, and last evening it was bank full of yellow mud, running out like a torrent.

During the storm Monday evening Fred Lawrence, a farmer living on the hill back of Benwood, lost two valuable cows. They were grazing in the pasture when a thunder bolt descended and struck so near that they were instantly killed. A horse standing nearby was shocked also.

Charged With Assault.

Charles Stein, of Fulton, was arrested yesterday charged with assault on Henry Kreis. He had a hearing before Squire Gillespy, but the case was compromised and he was discharged on payment of the costs.

Great Suit Sale.

If there was ever a time when we disregarded every law of profitable merchandizing it's now. We've weighed the season's business in the balance, casting out every lot that is broken, every line that is incomplete, every stitch of stock that should have been sold, things that you can wear now, but that'll have no place under our roof at the season's close. Rare bits of value for small purses to feast on; dainty morsels of quality that will deck you out in the fashion of the hour.

Prices That Are Profitless!

Nor yet mere remnants of the cost. We're not mealy mouthed about it. They are goods WE WANT TO SELL. MUST SELL, and our determination to sell is in every cringing, shrunken price that'll mark the march of our unrelenting, uncompromising, unhesitating slaughter of values. So here goes for this week over four hundred Men's Suits that were $18.00, $15.00, $13.00 and $12.00, any day this week your pick

MAKE THE BEST OF THEM. $9.48. WHO WILL TAKE FIRST PICK?

Every day this week every purchaser will be presented with one of the most elegant Fourth of July Souvenirs ever presented by any house, as they are our own original design, and manufactured exclusively for our own use. Money cannot buy them anywhere. Be sure and secure one. They are bound to be a valuable memento. See our window displays.

Let everybody celebrate the Fourth as it should be celebrated. Let everybody know you are proud of the title of being an American citizen. The Hub's elegant Souvenir Badges will be worn by thousands. Secure one if you want to be in the swim. One to every purchaser from now until noon of the Fourth.
