"DIRT DEFILES THE KING." THEN

SAPOLIO

IS GREATER THAN ROYALTY ITSELF.

ALL SETTLED TO-DAY.

The Campaign has Ended and the People are Waiting.

AND WHAT SHALL THE VERDICT BE?

The Democrats Show how Desperate They are by Their Tactics in the Closing Battle—Everything Looks Favorable to the Republican Cause. The Last Day's Campaigning.

The campaign ended yesterday. The polls will open at 6:34 this morning, and close at 4:50 this afternoon. No voter should run any risk of having his vote shut out by waiting till late this afternoon to vote. The earlier a ticket is deposited in the ballot box the surer it is of accomplishing the voter's will. The outlook is very favorable for the Republican cause. The desperation shown by the Democrats yesterday was in itself a good sign. There was no trade they were not willing to offer. Anything a Republican wanted they would give—or at least promise, for a vote. They offered to trade the whole ticket for a vote for county commissioner, or for one of the Democratic nominees for any position. Of course nobody could know whether they delivered the goods, or how many different people they had traded with.

And talking about boodle, there was no lack of it to be used to secure a vote for the Democratic ticket, or part of it. Beer was also free to anybody who would give the workers a chance. It was anything for votes. The Democratic style of closing the campaign was equivalent to announcing publicly: "We are beaten unless we can buy your votes."

Bets were offered for political effect, which, when taken up, were shown to be pure bluffs. In the meantime bets offered on the Republican side still remain untaken. The closing meetings on the Republican side were the best of the campaign in the communities in which they were held, and every other sign pointed to the success of protection. Men known in past years as Democrats, members of Democratic organizations, appeared as enthusiastic partisans of Capt. Dovenor and the entire Republican ticket. Unless all signs fail to-day's vote will show a tidal wave of Republicanism, and carry all the candidates into the positions for which they are running.

Voters should be on the lookout for roorbacks. Any charge brought at this late day must be regarded as so weak that its authors or sponsors were afraid to bring it before the public in time to have it denied.

The Register's foolish attack on the Democrats who signed the card endorsing Mr. Whitaker for state senator rejected forcibly yesterday. Several of the Democratic signers of that document called at the Register office and expressed their resentment at that paper's expressions, and declared they would never again patronize the paper until an apology was made. The manager promised to prepare an article to be submitted to the editors at 7 p. m., but when they called at that hour and waited half an hour, Mr. Tancy was "not in." A large number of voters resented this snub, more than they had resented the insult in yesterday's Register. The result will be apparent in the returns.

Taken altogether the situation was very bright last night, from a Republican standpoint. The weather indications were for a fair day to-day, and it looked as if all was well.

IT WAS ALL ONE-SIDED.

Republican Money Found Few Democratic Takers Yesterday.

On the eve of election in Wheeling the betting on the result was not nearly so active as had been expected. At the pool rooms this was particularly the case. This is explained by the fact that many who stood idly by in former years and wagged their "stuf" on the result are now foremost among the workers on either side of the political fence. What betting was done was pushed by those who pin their faith in Republican success to-day, and the hopelessness of the Democratic cause is more or less foreshadowed by the unwillingness of the Democrats to bet.

Among the late bets was one by a well known Republican that no county in West Virginia will show up to-day with an increased Democratic majority. The Republican, of course, got the better end of this wager. At the pool rooms a bet was posted as follows: $50 that S. G. Smith will be elected to the house of delegates, $25 that Smith will lead the Republican house of delegates ticket, and $25 that Smith will have 250 more votes than the lowest man on the Democratic ticket. There were no takers for this. The money was posted by a Main street business man.

Even money was offered at the pool rooms that Levi P. Morton will have 30,000 plurality over Hill, for governor of New York. This was not taken.

The betting on the result in the Second district was $100 on Wilson to $80 on Dayton. On the result in the First district the prevailing odds were $100 on Dovenor to $80 on Howard.

Business at the pool rooms will revive this evening when the polls have been closed. In fact, no bets have yet been taken on the result in the First district at the rooms.

DEMOCRATS are preparing roorbacks in the shape of secret circulars attacking Republican candidates. Beware of them.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

A Short Session Yesterday Devoted Exclusively to Routine Business.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of county commissioners, yesterday was one of the briefest on record. Nothing was done out of the mere routine. The bonds of Tollkeeper C. W. Driehorst, on the Wheeling and Fairmont pike, and Road Surveyor James Cresap, of the second division of the river road, were given and approved. Driehorst's bondsman was Wilhelmina Mayor, while Cresap furnished bond, A. J. Wilson going surety.

The court house and jail committee recommended bills for payment to the amount of $1,216.86 and the finance committee $1,304.24. A. A. Frankeheim, sheriff of Ohio county was credited with returns of $22,040.07 in county orders. The poor house and farm committee made a report of bills amounting to $881.66, roads and bridges $1,970.39. The county engineer was instructed to have the contract on the Bethany pike completed. The board then adjourned.

A VOTE for John A. Howard is a vote to carry out the free trade programme. Cleveland and Wilson say the fight to wipe out protection is only begun. This means further agitation, more business uncertainty and more reductions of wages.

N. S. Wood at the Grand.

The Grand was packed to the doors last night to welcome N. S. Wood in his new play, "The Orphans of New York." Mr. Wood met with a great reception, and never appeared here to better advantage. The supporting company was first class in every particular, and the scenery the finest that has been presented here for a long time. In fact "The Orphans of New York" is the strongest melo-dramatic production seen at the Grand this season. Mr. Wood made such a hit that no doubt the capacity of the Grand will be tested at each performance the rest of the engagement, which is to-night, to-morrow matinee and night. The election returns will be received by special wire and read from the stage to-night.

McKINLEY AND WILSON ABOARD.

In 1890 William McKinley was burned in agony in the English manufacturing city of Sheffield; but in 1894 William L. Wilson was wined and dined in London because he is the author of a free trade tariff bill. These are significant facts.
