

FOR ZION'S CHURCH.

A Very Successful Bazaar Opened last Evening.

ARION HALL IS A SCENE OF BEAUTY

And the Supper is well Patronized. The Different Departments in Competent Hands—The Entertainment Given for a Good Object, and will be Repeated this Afternoon and Evening.

Yesterday the Ladies' Society of the Zion's German Lutheran church opened a bazaar, or "apron social," in the Arion hall, for the benefit of the church.

Extensive improvements contemplated in the church building the coming year, amounting to nearly $4,000, have caused this to be undertaken. The proceeds go to the improvement fund, and the way in which the bazaar started off was very encouraging to the ladies and the congregation. The executive committee having general charge of the arrangement and conduct of it, is composed of Messrs. C. Schnepf, Fred Schwertfeger and F. D. Frederick.

The head of the supper committee, the most important department, is Mrs. C. Schnepf, who has the assistance of eighty other ladies of the congregation. The way they discharged their duties reflected great credit on them, and certainly gave great satisfaction to their 600 patrons.

The apron stand was in charge of Mrs. Rev. P. Hoh, Mrs. F. Schwertfeger and a committee of thirty other ladies, and was a very popular feature.

Miss Christina Jerchio and nine assistants presided over the ice cream table gracefully, and did a good business, while the "orange tree" was managed by Nellie Fette and seven other young ladies. Lizzie Kraft and seven assistants sold flowers, and Lillie Shaffer and a committee of seven managed the very popular fish pond.

Miss J. Schneidmiller and eight assistants were in charge of another table, while a doll mart was conducted by Mrs. Louis Schenck and a committee of nine. Miss Louise Maurer and six other young ladies had a guessing contest, and Miss Amelia Schwertfeger and three others conducted a very attractive and popular Japanese table. There was also a "Sunday School" table, in charge of Miss Emma Steinbecker and eleven other ladies.

Two contests were decided last evening. One was for a rocking chair, which was won by Mrs. Wilhelmina Maun, and the other for a handsome vase, which went to Miss Emma Woelert. The contest for a gold watch will be decided today. The fair will open at 2 p. m. Supper will be served from 5 to 9 p. m. There will be even more varied attractions than last night, and no doubt the attendance will be quite as large, if not larger.

Deputy United States Marshal J. R. Mehen, of Parkersburg, is in the city on a business visit.

C. W. Stewart, John M. Zigler and C. C. McCormick were a trio of Sistersville people at the Behler yesterday.

Albert Neidemeyer, of the South Side, has returned from Zanesville, where he has been working at the glass trade for several months.

S. C. Moore, of Proctor; J. W. Hunter, of Grant; W. J. Booher, of Cameron, and J. P. Sweeney, of Sistersville, were guests at the Stamm.

Hon. George M. Bowers, a prominent Martinsburg Republican, and Mr. James F. Thompson, proprietor of the Martinsburg World, are guests at the McClure.

Tom Helms, formerly of the Island, now a Baltimore & Ohio engineer between Baltimore and Philadelphia, is here on a visit to relatives, and is accompanied by his little daughter. He has been sick for about a month.

Dr. John Storer, who has been practicing dentistry in Wheeling for some time past, will leave shortly for Cannes, France, where he has secured a lucrative position in a dental establishment.

He is a son of Dr. Storer, of Elm Grove.

A. M. Crow, of Littleton; G. L. Wilson, of Ceredo; W. A. Brast and E. E. Stewart and wife, of New Martinsville; R. W. Kelley, of Parkersburg, and J. S. Neely and S. F. Shoakley, of Mannington, were West Virginians at the Behler.

To Build a New Bridge.

Yesterday the county commissioners' committee on roads and bridges went out with Surveyor Bell to look at the line between Ohio and Marshall county. Mr. Weiske built a house there, and could not tell which county he was in. The committee was met at the intersection of the two counties on Big Wheeling creek by a member of the Marshall county court, and it was decided that the two counties should unite in building a bridge at that point, where the ford now is. This will be a decidedly valuable improvement for Marshall residents, and will be worth its cost to Wheeling, as it will let residents up the creek into the city at all stages.

"Si Plunkard" Coming.

The great impersonator of Yankee character, J. C. Lewis, supported by a grand double company, is to appear at the Grand next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. This attraction has no connection with the comedy known as "Si Perkins," and has no resemblance thereto, except the country farmers' band parade. The play is one of the most realistic pictures of country life ever drawn. It has three acts, which are brim full of funny situations and comic specialties. The company has a brass band and full orchestra, of which every member is a solo artist.

DR. CUMMINS DEAD.

A Well Known Young Physician Dies of Diphtheria.

At 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon Dr. Robert Hazlett Cummins died at his home on Chapline street, aged thirty years. The INTELLIGENCER the other day chronicled his illness of diphtheria, supposed to have been contracted from a child he was treating. The physicians thought they would be able to save his life, but he sank steadily, and finally yielded to the dread disease.

Dr. Cummins was a son of the late Dr. Robert Cummins and Anne, daughter of the late Samuel Ott. Two brothers, S. O. Cummins, of Bellaire, and James Cummins, of this city, and two sisters who lived with him at the old family residence on Chapline street, survive him. He attended the Washington-Jefferson college for a time, and afterwards went to Princeton university, but did not graduate at either. He got his medical education at the University of Pennsylvania, in Philadelphia, and afterwards took a special course in diseases of the eye, ear and throat under Dr. Seiler, of the same city.

He was a gentle, much-beloved young man, devoted to the profession in which he was making steady advance. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church. His death has many features about it which make it peculiarly sad.

THE REIZER CASE.

Examination Waived by the Defendant Before U. S. Commissioner Campbell.

Commissioner Campbell came down from New Cumberland on the Cleveland & Pittsburgh last night, arriving at 9 o'clock. He at once proceeded to take the evidence in the preliminary hearing of the case of the United States against Edward Retzer, on the charge of reusing cancelled postage stamps. Eight witnesses were sworn for the United States, but before any testimony was taken, Mr. G. W. Atkinson acting for Mr. Reizer, waived the examination of the witnesses, and Retzer gave a bond in the penalty of $1,000 for his appearance April 1 next, before the United States district court in this city, to answer any indictment that may be made against him. Nothing further will be done in the matter until the assembling of the court, April 1.

JUNCTION IRON COMPANY

Changes its Name and Increases its Capital Stock.

At a meeting in the office in this city yesterday of the stockholders of the Junction Iron Company important action was taken. This company recently purchased the interest of the Laughlin Nail Company in the Laughlin and Junction Steel Company's works, at Mingo Junction, and the new acquisition led to a change of the company's name and an increase of the capital stock. The directors were authorized to apply to the secretary of state for the right to increase the capital from $400,000 to $600,000, and to change the name to the "Junction Iron and Steel Company." The company, with its new property, will be one of the most extensive in the country.

This is of Interest to You.

In making an investment, be sure you have what is absolutely safe and secure, INVESTIGATE THOROUGHLY. The Mutual German Savings and Loan Association, (be very careful that you see that this is the correct name, as there are institutions springing up with similar names and with plans and contracts entirely different) is a home company, though organized under the laws of Pennsylvania, the original home of building associations, as their laws are based upon long experience, and are therefore more directly protective of the interest of the stockholders than those of some of the commonwealths in which the work so far is principally experimental. Pennsylvania absolutely prohibits the use of the funds of a building association in any other way than to loan to members, the element of risk being thus entirely eliminated. The association has been in existence six months. Number of shares of stock sold 11,000, loaned to members $90,000 on approved mortgages amounting to $104,055. If you desire an investment, or wish to make a loan, drop a postal to the company's office, Peabody building, and our solicitor will call and gladly furnish all information.

MR. ATKINSON MAY RUN.

He is Receiving Many Letters Regarding the Republican gubernatorial Nomination.

AN INTELLIGENCER reporter met Mr. G. W. Atkinson yesterday and asked him if he had a lightning rod up for the gubernatorial nomination. Mr. Atkinson replied:

"I have been receiving letters from nearly every county in the state for several weeks past, requesting that I should announce myself as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, and giving assurance of hearty support if I could reach that decision. In a letter just received from the southern end of the state I am told that no one else is being considered in connection with the nomination."

"Have you reached a conclusion?" was asked. "Well, no," replied Mr. Atkinson, "that is, not exactly. The campaign is far ahead yet, but I will say that if the sentiment continues in its present drift, you will probably find me in the field for the nomination."

ROBBED OF $200.

A Mannington Oil Man Gets the Worst of it at Martin's Ferry.

An oil operator of the Mannington field, who gave his name as John C. Smith, was assaulted and robbed of about $200 in Martin's Ferry yesterday afternoon. He appeared in town about noon and was at the Brown Front saloon on First street until about 2 o'clock, where he left his valise and overcoat. He was then pretty well tanked up. He afterward visited one or two other saloons, drinking at these so that he had about all that he could carry and walk in the middle of the pavement.

He disappeared later in the afternoon and was not seen until two small boys ran across him on the river bank in the rear of the Northwood glass works, with his face, hands and a portion of his clothing covered with blood. They became frightened at the sight and hurried up to the police headquarters, where one of them said to Police Officers Fritz Och and Martin Myers, "There is a man down at the glass works all cut up and his face is hanging way down here," placing his hand on his breast. This was about 5 o'clock.

These two policemen hastened to the scene and found the man leaning up against a post with a long gash just below his left eye and another cut on the right side of his nose and so drunk that he could not give an account of himself and supposed he was in Delaire. He was taken to the lockup, cleaned up and his wounds dressed. He was searched, and in his pockets were found a lot of valuable papers including $1,500 in notes and an insurance policy for a large amount.

He had very little money on his person and after sobering up somewhat told Mayor Westwood that he had been robbed of July $100, his Smith & Wesson revolver and his bunch of keys, but by whom or where this was done he was unable to say excepting that he had the money when he arrived in Martin's Ferry. He seemed to remember nothing about being assaulted. The gashes looked as if he had been struck by some blunt instrument. He left Martin's Ferry last night.

SALT RHEUM with its intense itching, dry, hot skin is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, because it purifies the blood.
