MADE A HIT.

The First Presentation of "The Scottish Reformation"

WITNESSED BY A LARGE CROWD

In the Grand Opera House Last Night, The Pictures were all Right, the Dramatic Work Was Better than Had Been Expected by Many and the Singing Did Credit to Wheeling—Drilling of the Secret Societies a Feature—To be Repeated To-night and To-morrow.

The first presentation of the "Scottish Reformation; or John Knox vs. Mary, Queen of Scots," given last night in the Grand Opera House by local amateur talent under the auspices and for the benefit of the Home for Aged and Friendless Women, made a decided hit. The spectacle pleased everyone of the flattering large audience that had turned out in the face of the very miserable spell of February weather in the early evening.

The illustrated lecture on the life and times of the great Scottish reformer, John Knox, which was perhaps the most prominent feature of the evening's entertainment, was enjoyed thoroughly by the audience. The lecturer, Mrs. E. H. Monroe, tells the story in a style that is at once interesting and comprehensive. The hearer gets more of an insight into the history of Scotland in the sixteenth century with special reference to the religious feeling than he could take into his mind by a month of study.

The story as told by Mrs. Monroe brings in the following stereopticon illustrations, some of them from rare paintings and valuable prints of the time.

Story of Mary's Life—Mary, Queen of Scots; Linlithgow; Stirling Castle; Stirling (2) Convent; Four Marys; Betrothed to Francis; Notre Dame; Interior; Louvre; Interior; St. Dennis; Interior; Court of France; On the Ship.

Story of John Knox and Mary Stuart—John Knox; Glasgow University; John Calvin; Mary Tudor; Elizabeth; Shakespeare at her Court; Baptism of Covenanters; Interview; Melrose Abbey; Dryburgh Abbey; Parliament; St. Giles; Knox in Pulpit; Knox House; Holyrood Castle; Holyrood (2); Lord Darvel; Minstrel; Rizzio's Death; Rizzio (2); Mary's Bedroom; Holyrood Chapel; Edinburgh Castle; Castle (2); Officer in Highland Costume.

Story Continued—Jedburgh Cathedral; Bothwell; Craigmillar; Edinburgh; Princess Street; St. George's Square; Glasgow; Royal Infirmary, Edinburgh; Mary Stuart; The Tolbooth; White Horse Close; James I; Trossachs; Loch Katrine; Ellen's Isle; Loch Leven; Abduction; Lord High Commissioner; Earl Murray; Mary Escaped; Langside; Chatworth; Older Mary; Elizabeth; Signing Death Warrant; Mary Hearing Death Warrant.

Concluding the Story—Mary's Last Moments; On Way to Execution; Going to Scaffold; On the Block; Westminster Abbey; John Knox; Returning from Last Sermon; John Knox, 1572; Knox's Monument at Glasgow.

Dramatically speaking, the allegorical part of the programme was handled generally in a style that surpassed the expectations of many in the audience. Much spirit was injected into the several scenes and the "stars" particularly did themselves proud. The most brilliant scene, perhaps, was the trial of John Knox in the Court of Mary.

The scene, "Mary on Her Way to Execution" was also given in an effective manner. Mrs. Patterson and Miss Hennig, as the leading characters, did not dispel the favorable impression they had created during the preceding scenes.

The allegorical drill, "Triumph of the Puritans," was the concluding feature of the production. The work of the young ladies and gentlemen inspired generous and deserved applause.

The Time for Building
Up the system is at this season. The cold weather has made unusual drains upon the vital forces. The blood has become impoverished and impure, and all the functions of the body suffer in consequence. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the great builder, because it is the One True Blood Purifier and nerve tonic.

HOOD'S PILLS become the favorite cathartic with all who use them. All druggists, 25 cents.

Mr. Paris R. Myers, organist at St. Mathews' church, will receive a limited number of pupils in the following branches: Pipe organ, piano-forte, voice culture, theory, and will receive appointments as visiting choir director to churches. For terms address as above. t&s

SIMON S. HARTMAN, of Tunnelton, West Virginia, has been subject to attacks of colic about once a year, and would have to call a doctor and then suffer for about twelve hours as much as some do when they die. He was taken recently just the same as at other times, and concluded to try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says: "I took one dose of it and it gave me relief in five minutes. This is more than anything else has ever done for me."
