BOTH MET DEATH.

A Frightful and Fatal Accident on Bellaire Bridge. TWO MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES in a Collision, on the First Span of the Railroad Bridge, Next to Kenwood, Between a Yard Engine and a Portion of a Freight Train that Became Disconnected—One of the Men Frightfully Mangled—Frank Salzgaver and Patrick Flaherty the Victims.

Last evening shortly after 6 o'clock a shocking and fatal accident occurred on the Bellaire railroad bridge, just a short distance from the West Virginia shore, and by which two men, Frank Salzgaver and Patrick Flaherty, employed at the Baltimore and Ohio shops at McMechen, and residing in Bellaire, lost their lives almost instantly, the latter being horribly mangled.

Freight train No. 99, west bound, leaves Kenwood at 5 o'clock p. m., and it has been the habit of the workmen, forty or fifty in number, employed at the Baltimore and Ohio shops at McMechen, to take this train for their homes. A yard engine always follows the freight, and when the freight is missed the men pile on the yard engine, many riding on the front of the engine. Last evening some of the men were on the yard engine, No. 1104. Harry Drummond, engineer, the others having taken the freight. When on the first span of the bridge next to the Kenwood shore, the freight train broke in two, the caboose and three cars running back towards the approaching freight engine.

Just how Zeigler and Ney escaped they themselves cannot tell. They were on the front of the engine, but managed somehow to drop in safely at the critical time. They were literally bathed in the blood of the victims. The bodies of the dead men were brought to this city and removed to their homes. Both men were single and about 24 years of age. Salzgaver is the son of the day foreman at the McMechen shops. The news of the accident attracted thousands to the scene from Bellaire and Kenwood.

MISSIONARY CONVENTION. The Presbyterian Ladies Glee. Their Annual Session Here Yesterday.

The second and closing day of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Association was held at the Third Presbyterian church, in the Eighth ward, yesterday. As on Thursday the attendance was very large. The session opened at 9:30 a. m., with devotional exercises conducted by Mrs. Frank Flaherty. H. Leaser made a very interesting report on the work abroad, and Miss Stockdale gave a spirited and instructive talk on missionary literature.

Miss Hays made a report on medical work in connection with missions, and read several interesting letters from missionaries. A recitation by Miss Curtis was a pleasing feature, and there were short and interesting talks by Rev. Governor Leitch and Touseau, all returned missionaries. After devotional exercises and several talks Mrs. D. A. Cunningham closed the exercises with an address.

The Democratic Primaries Set. Last evening the Democratic county committee met at the office of Prosecuting Attorney Howard to decide on the matter of method and time of selecting the candidates for county officers, and it was decided to nominate by primary election on Saturday, April 13, a week before the Republican primaries. The nominations are generally regarded as a largely a matter of form, and not a great deal of interest was manifested in the meeting.

UNITED STATES COURT.

A Celebrated Case on Trial—Sweeney Charged with Passing Counterfeit Money. In the United States district court yesterday morning the case of Elmer Foster, charged with a violation of the internal revenue laws, was tried to a jury, which returned a verdict of not guilty. Foster was defended by Attorney John A. Howard.

In the circuit court the case of Joseph Sweeney, charged with passing counterfeit money in Benwood and this city in April, 1894, was put on trial before a jury, and when court adjourned last evening to this morning the cause was still on trial.

There was a cloud of witnesses that swore positively that Sweeney was the man, mainly Benwood saloon keeper, on whom he worked off spurious $5 bills. This was on the night of April 2, 1894. The most positive evidence given against him was that of Madeline Hornbrook, and of Charlie Prince, a hack driver. It appears that Sweeney, encouraged by his success in Benwood, thought he would raise the ante, and selecting a good looking $10 bill, he went on April 24 to Madame Hornbrook's house on East street, where he purchased a bottle of beer, and tendering the bad bill received $9 in change.

Madame Hornbrook suspected the bill was not all right, and in consulting Prince was confirmed in her suspicion. She sent Prince to police headquarters, and an hour after Sweeney was arrested near the Stamm house by Officer Wilkie. He was afterwards identified by the madame without any peradventure of doubt, also by ex-Officers Seally, Creighton, Wilkie and Gaus. At the conclusion of the testimony for the government, Sweeney took the stand in his own behalf and denied the charges in toto, said he was not in Benwood on April 24, and that on the morning of the 24th, while acknowledging to being in Wheeling, denied being the individual who passed the counterfeit to Madame Hornbrook, stating what he claimed to be a circumstantial account of his whereabouts in this city up to the time of his arrest by Officer Wilkie. At the conclusion of his testimony court adjourned until this morning. Col. W. W. A. Arnett is defending Sweeney, who halls from Elm Grove.

THE NORTH PENN. FIRM. The Rogerson Well Still Pumping and Turning Out a Good Product. By word received from the Rogerson well yesterday it was learned that the pumping is yielding five and one-half barrels per hour, with a slow motion. The second tank of 250 barrels, which was being pumped into Wednesday night, is now over half filled. It is predicted that if the pumping was pushed the output would be from seven to eight barrels per hour.

Increased excitement has been created over it and many oil men were on the ground after mere leases. At Elk Lick Company's hole which is being put down on the Hammond farm, on Tom's run, east of Moundsville, the drillers are ready to put in the ten inch casing.

The tools are still stuck at the North Penn's well, and the prospects of recovering them are very meagre.

Y. M. C. A. Meetings. The Saturday evening young men's meeting at the Young Men's Christian Association is a wide-awake affair. The meeting will be held as usual to-night.

The meeting Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock will be addressed by an Arrangelman.

The annual Easter social will be held on Monday evening. The Easter social is always popular and thoroughly enjoyed by the young men who attend.

Mrs. Jenness Miller. Mrs. Jenness Miller will lecture at the United Presbyterian Church on Monday afternoon, April 6. Her subject will be "Dress for Health and Beauty." Wheeling is highly favored by the coming of the marvelous woman. The public career of Mrs. Jenness Miller has been one of unusual interest to her sex. Her health and grace are the strongest arguments that can be made for the general adoption of sensible dressing. Her appearance in any city is the signal at which women of all grades of society drop everything and go and learn of the wisdom that has made this beautiful woman what she is.
