Senator Elkins on American Shipping.

bill to stimulate the American merchant marine is the production of a student, a scholar, a man of affairs and a practical statesman, a rare combi-nation in our public life. It is an organized speech, having a foundation carefully laid, a superstructure as carefully rected, and all according to a well conceived plan. It is a speech packed with information, after the manner of the Republican sen-ator from West Virginia. It is one of the ebaracteristic features of a speech of Senator Elkins that its statements of fact may be relied on.

In discussing American shipping, ex-capt coastwise or internal, Senator El-kins discusses something which hardly exists. This is, doubtless, why the subyect has attracted bis attention and aroused him to its championship. It is true, as Senator Elkins says, that in view of our relation to the rest of the world, the United States should be the leading commerce and meratine power of the world. This is exactly the position we do not occupy:

Not only is it true that many of the most important ports of the world are never entered by a vessel flying the American flag, but it is also true that in our own ports the American flag is not the commonest sight, except in so far as it applies to our coast and internal com-We have the products to carry, going out and coming in, but we carry in our own ships only about one-tenth of all we buy and sell. We are paying $500,000 a day to foreign ships, which command about nine-tenths of our carrying trade.

It is unnecessary to argue that it is worth while to keep as much of this money as we can in our own country. If prudent statesmanship can devise a way to keep one-half of this vast sum at home, it will do the country a great service. The question is, How shall this he

Senator Elkins proposes to do it by reaurning to the policy of discriminating duties, practiced with decided success in the early history of the republic. This is a policy pursued by Great Britain for nearly two centuries and adhered to until she thought heraclf strong enough to go ahead without it. The bill offered by Senator Elkins provides an additional duty of ten per cent to be levied on all goods carried in ves-sels not of the United States, and in case of the importation of commodities on the free list, the duty of ten per cent is to be added. Of course the object of this diserimination is to make it worth while for American capital to construct and operate American ships.

This idea carried into effect would give us a tremendous ship-building industry. setting to work thousands of American wage-earners, and this, no doubt, would ican industries put new life into A which seem to have no relation to the ship builder's craft. The money we pay out to foreign ship owners for our carrying trade is money sent away. Paid out to our own people, it would be, money kept in the country and so continue to form a part of our effective capital.

he stimulation of our carrying trade in the way proposed should be part of our recognized and established national economy. Give us ten years of the policy proposed by Senator Elkins, and the American carrying trade in the main will be the business of American ships. It will be a glorious thing for West Virginia if one of her senators shall be instrumental in bringing this about,

A Disappointed Patrict.

There are others, but thus far Col. Fred D. Grant is conspicuous as a disappointed patriot. He desired to be ambassador to Germany, but the President had other views on this subject. Then it occurred to him that he would like to be once more minister to Austria, as he was under President Harrison.

The President did not see his way clear to send Col. Grant back to Austria and offered him a very honorable position as assistant secretary of war. In declining this tender Col. Grant added, "regret-ting that I am not to serve your administration, for which I worked earnestly."

The nature of Col. Grant's service is not publicly known. He may be sup-posed to be posted on this subject. The tone of his telegram of declination show that he is not only disappointed, but

The republic is not ungrateful to Col. Grant. He was hardly out of the milltary academy before he was put on the staff of General Sherman with the rank and pay of lieutenant colonel. If he had ever rendered any service to the Repub ilican party to entitle him to be made minister to Austria, that fact was not publicly known. He had no claim what-ever on the ambassadorship to Germany At present he holds the position of po-

Hee commissioner of New York at a salary of $5,000 per year. This position, as well as that of minister to Austria, was probably given to him because he was the son of his father, a claim that cannot be used too frequently without being Odd Mr. Balley.

Mr. Balley, the Texan who has been made the Democratic leader in the house of page-contains. of representatives, declined the Presi-dent's invitation to join his colleagues of the ways and means committee at the white house. An invitation to dine with the President is one that no American

Mr. Bailey called on the President after the dinner to explain why he declined the invitation. He never wears a dress suit and did not desire to be the only man at the table not clad in the conventional evening garb. The President told Mr. Balley that his guests were welcome in any garb that pleased them.

When Mr. Garland was attorney gen in the first Cleveland cabinet he tried to make some sort of a virtue of not wearing the regulation evening garb. He probably thought it was a good way ley, unmindful of the eclipse into which Mr. Garland has passed, took it into his head to try to conciliate the favor in a similar way.

There is no special merit in being an odd fellow of the Balley sort. A more last man would fall in with custom rather than attract attention to his dress by reason of its peculiarity. A good article of common sense is a very good thing to have in this great world of ours. Mr. Balley would do well to see if he cannot find a serviceable second hand article of this sort.

* Chicago's Mayoralty Contest.

The Chicago mayoralty contest is very much mixed. A voter who cannot find a ticker to suit him must be very hard to please. But it is to be noticed that while everything else is split up, the Demo-cearging standing pretty well together in support of Harrison, son of that mayor of Chicago who was assassinated.

Republicans have their regular nom! ner, but they have also taken up with various side issues, much to the delight of the Democrats. Harrison is Aligeld's man, and Harrison's success will be Altgeld's success.

The state of Illinois repudiated Altgeldism and was thought to have stamp-ed it out. Will the city of Chicago galvanize the hideous thing Into new life? The prospect is in that direction.

The Toploftical Hat.

The movement against the high hat in places of public assembly prospers. It has been helped very much by women Thoughtful women do not wear the big hat in such places. Women who wish to see and who are willing to give other people the same chance now make it a practice to uncover in the theatre.

Not only this, but many of them are doing all they can to make their influence felt on this line. We have almost reach-ed the point where it is vulgar for women to wear big hats in a place of public entertainment

When we get quite to this point no woman who thinks much of herself will appear in a big hat. The legislation of ciety is much more potent than the legislation of legislaturs.

If Sanguilly goes back to Cuba to engage in sanguinary exploits he need not be sanguine of the further protection of the United States. American citizenship does not mean that sort of thing. There is more than a suspicion that Cubans have clothed themselves with American citizenship for the purpose of being protected in warring against Spain.

If Mr. Wanamaker were to drop out of Pennsylvania politics a considerable Keystone industry would be destroyed. Wanamaker is the hope of many of boys. That is to say, he is somethe boys. thing of a bargain counter in politics.

Surprise is expressed because Mr. Cleveland's movements are not minutely chronicled as of yore. The little "ex" makes all the difference in the world. That every great man must endure at some time in his life.

The Turk knows when he is having fun with Europe and otherwise enjoying himself. At present every day is a holiday for him. He is not thinking of the day of reckoning.

The Moslems mutilate the dead and wounded Christians in Crete. The fleets of the Christian powers are there to protest the Moslems in their national game

Colonel Fred D. Grant should cheer up This administration will be a success, even though he continue to be one of New York's police commissioners.

When we begin to protect the headwaters of our rivers the floods will not come so often, and when they do come they will not be so destructive.

Presently the Easter bonnet will blossom in all its springtime loveliness. A sweet face under an Easter bonnet in a joy forever.

When Senator Elkins talks he says something. His speech on American shipping is a condensed text book on this

HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. When uring stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also onvincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night no urinate. The mild and the ex-traordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon It stands the highest for for wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. "The Free Methodist church of this city, was the scene of a disgraceful affair at the Sunday evening services. The Rev. Mr. Prout, the pastor, has been greatly disturbed lately by rowdysism committed by young men, and Sunday night he severly rebuked these offenders. William Hogan challenged the worthy divine and a fistic encounter ensued. The pastor walked down the alse to quiet Hogan and the latter knocked the preacher down. A woman undertook to separate the beiligerents and was also knocked down. The pastor was badly used up, but proceeded with his sermon. Hogan escaped arrest."

It is understood that the Rev. Mr. Prout intends to preach his sermons to a finish if he has to go to Carson City to do it.

function of the state been so tampered with by freak legislators in the hope of function of the state been so tampered with by freak legislators in the hope of enacting grotesque and ridiculous measures. From New York to Ceiorado the bills introduced have been so absurd as to excite humorous comment, although the sponsors of the different queer measures have been as serious as death itself. Some of this movement is the aftermath of the wave of absurdiry which culminated in the vote for Bryam and his impossible doctrines, while some is the outcropping of the normal absurdiry that forms a part of a government ruled by popular suffrage, in which the crank has the same voice as the philosopher.

But it will pass away without harm, and leave the sky clear for another period of years, until the sarae school of forces can bunch their efforts again, and again come to the surface. There is nothing more useful to a republic than thorough discussion and ventilation of every idea. By such process the sood will be shown to be good, while the hopeless, half-digested theories that pass for wisdom while they pean obscure are speedily seen when they pans beneath the light to be farcical and impractical.

Legislation in the long run is along the right lines. Human effort is in the right direction. Clearing the ground of fallacy is a duty fully as important as exablishing the truth, for removing a fallacy establishes a truth. When that prince of freaks, Bryam, arose, the land became filled with schooltmasters who delicated in centilating his absurdites, and who have destroyed all hope for his scripe. Freak politics and freak legislation are pretty nearly done for another season of years.

Last week Wheeling had within he gates for a few hours quite a distinguished scientific visitor in the person of Prof. Albert Schumann, of San Diego, California. Prof. Schumann came to Wheeling from Sistersville, where he was the guest of an old friend now located there. For the past year he has been in Germany and was the friend and companion of Prof. Reenigen, the discoverer of the wonderful cathode or "X" ray that has created such a furore in the scientific world. Coming to America recently he has been engaged in the work of setting up cathode ray outlist in colleges and universities. He had been engaged by the managers of the Nashville exposition to set up the largest cathode ray outfit set constructed but it now develops that Nashville is not to have this as one of the attractions of fix exposition, for word was received recently that the factory in Germany where it was constructed has been burned, together with the apparatus that was destined for Nashville. of Prof. Albert Schumann, of San Die

$800 IN GOLD DROWNS A MAN.

At the burning of a steamboat on the Hudson river many years ago, many of the passengers were drowned. Among the bodies brought up from the bottom of the river by grappling was that of a man known to have been an excellent swimmer. Around his waist was a belt containing nearly $800 in gold. That told the story.

"In old and chronic cases of indigestion (dyspepsia or gastrits—it is all the same) the sufferer develops a great variety of symptoms and often dies—poisoned by the products of his own torpid and inflamed stomach. His food, instead of being digested, and so furnishing strength and physical substance, ferments and purfeles within him. The chief process of life is arrested at a vital point. The more he cats the worse off he is. And yet unless he can be fed he must also perish. People do so die, daily, by thousands, but we doctors seldom have the moral courage to give the cause its true name lest we should be laughed at for our inability to cure so "simple" a thing as indigestion.
