SOUTH CAROLINA.

To the Editor of the Spirit of Jefferson.

SIR:—The cotton committee, as I understand, has pronounced the resolutions of the House of Representatives in favor of a comprehensive peace and union having been resolved upon by the Senate, and the Senate having notified the House of Representatives that it is ready to consider the proposition, it seems to me that the people of the State of South Carolina are entitled to a more explicit statement of the position of the House of Representatives of this State in this important business, than is contained in the published resolutions of the Senate. I am, therefore, desirous of knowing whether the resolutions have been adopted by the House of Representatives, and whether the Senate has received the resolutions of the House of Representatives.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

ARTISTS WANTED, IMMEDIATELY.

New York, near Forty Avenues Hotel.

Mr. Rawson, the printer of the Spirit of Jefferson, wishes to introduce some new artists to the public. He is willing to pay the price of the best work, and to give the best prices.

He is prepared to receive designs for illustrations, and to publish them in the Spirit of Jefferson.

FARMER'S COLUMN.

Retort. A few days since, as we were about to go to bed, we passed the window of a friend, who, we knew, was reading a newspaper. We saw that he was engaged in the perusal of a piece of literature, and that he was evidently interested in what he was reading. We were surprised to find that he was reading a piece of literature that had been published in the Spirit of Jefferson.
