by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hill's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

BOND ISSUE WILL BE NEEDED SOON

To Raise Urgent Revenues but So Far Wilson Shies Away from the Same.

(SPECIAL TO THE TELEGRAM) WASHINGTON, June 29.—At last Congress between appropriation bills, is stopping to get its breath and to wonder where all the money that is needed to cover its unparalleled expenditures is to come from. It has not laid an eye on a revenue producing measure yet, but expects to get a glimpse of something of the kind within a week.

Summing up what has been done in the way of military appropriations alone, and proposed appropriations which have passed at least one branch, "preparedness" has cost the tidy sum of $556,980,556.68. When suggestions were made in Congress that preparedness might cost as high as $500,000,000 the persons who advanced them were laughed at.

Without this extra huge bill, there was a necessity existing for more revenues to meet the customary appropriations, and the revenue bill framed by the ways and means committee to meet the ordinary outlay, it was estimated by Leader Kitchin would raise $210,000,000. This is the bill that is expected to issue forth from the committee within the next few days.

The obvious necessity of raising more money—millions more—is now confronting the administration with imperative urgency. The grave fiscal situation has, as was to be expected, immediately developed the suggestion of a bond issue, based on the necessity of the preparedness appropriations. At this suggestion, according to most reliable report, leaders of the administration, including not less a personage than President Wilson himself, have shied. With an eye ever on the political possibilities of the situation, the prospect of having to sponsor a bond issue is a frightening a spectacle as any Democratic politician can imagine himself facing. Yet the money is just bound to be raised, and it must be provided for by Congress within the next few weeks.

The advocates of a bond issue point to the fact that there are $140,000,000 worth of authorized but unissued Panama Canal bonds in the treasury, which would find a ready market. But that suggestion is unacceptable to other leaders who themselves believe that a bond sale would be the easier way out. In their idea, to have a straight-out new issue, which would be offered to the public with a prospectus breathing fervent patriotism. It would be explained that the demand of the people that Congress "prepare" had brought about a financial situation that could only be met by a special issue of bonds—designated "War Bonds"—and their issuance should at once appeal to the patriotism as well as the sound business sense of the American people. Floated on this basis, there are some administration leaders who believe that any political hazard would be extracted from the operation. But, at the same time, it is recalled by others among them that while the special revenue bill of 1914 was duly christened by Congress "an emergency tax," it was promptly christened by the public a "war tax" and figured in subsequent elections to the detriment of the party in power.

There are just two horns to the administration's dilemma; one is to raise the money by numerous additional tax levies, and the other is to sell bonds. Just now President Wilson favors taking the former, but the bond advocates are taking into account the habit and the right of the presidential mind to reverse itself.

Can Not Be Discussed by United States Lansing Tells the Bolivian.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS) WASHINGTON, June 29.—Ignacio Calderon, minister of Bolivia, and Rafael Zalazar, minister of Salvador, called at the state department Thursday to renew their efforts to learn whether the United States would entertain an offer of mediation in the Mexican difficulty. Mr. Calderon talked with Secretary Lansing about five minutes. Afterward he said he had been told the United States could not discuss mediation in the absence of information that the American prisoners actually had been released and as to Carranza's reply to the demands for a statement of intentions toward the expedition in Mexico.

The minister reminded Mr. Lansing of the interests of all the American republics in the preservation of peace and said he would call again when Carranza's reply had been received.

ONE OF VILLA FAMILY RESIDES NEAR CITY. The office force of the Clarksville Light and Heat Company a day or two ago when a Grassell newcomer applied at the window for gas precipitately concluded that it had opportunity for a coup in the effort to capture General Villa, the notorious Mexican bandit, whose murderous raids into American territory are responsible for the present punitive expedition into Mexico. As soon as the person in question was seen by a member of the office force, the quiet but excited word, "there's Villa," circulated through the office like wild fire. All eyes were simultaneously fixed on the window where the man stood. Inquiry as to who he was and what he wanted brought reply that he was C. Villa and that he wanted gas. Further conversation brought information that he was a Spaniard from Mexico, a second cousin of General Villa. He denounced both Villa and Carranza and stated that Villa had confiscated all his property.
