Poetry.

JOHN JANKINS SERMON.

The minister said last night, says he,
"Don't be afraid of giving";
If your life ain't not in' to other folks,
Why what's the use of livin'?"
And that's what I says to wife, says I,
There's livin', the noblest sinner,
He'd sooner a leggar would starve, than give
A cent towards buyin' his dinner.

I tell you our minister's is prime, he is,
But I couldn't quite determine,
When I heard him agivin' it right and left,
Just who was hit by his sermon.
Of course, there couldn't be no mistake,
When he talked of long-winged prayin'
For Peters and Johnsons, they got and scowled
At every word he was sayin'.

And the minister he went on to say,
There's various kinds of 'coveatin',
And religion's as good for every day
As a toiling to me, tin'.
I don't think much of a man that gives
The Lord 'Amens' at any preachin',
And spend his time the toll'win' week
In 'coveatin' and over-reachin'.

I guess that dose was bitter enough
For a man like Jones to swaller;
I noticed he didn't open his mouth
Not once, after that to holler.
Horrin', says I, for the minister—
Of course, I said it quiet—
Give us some more of this open talk,
It's very refreshin' diet.

The minister hit 'em every time;
And he spoke of fashion,
And a-wagin' out in bows and things,
As women's raim' passion;
And a-wagin' to choose to see the styles,
I couldn't keep a-wagin'!

And a-wagin' my wife and says I 'That's you',
And guess it sot her a-tanquin'.
Says I to myself, that sermon's pat;
But man is a queer creation;
And I'm much afraid that most of the folks
Won't take his application.

Now if he had said a word about
My personal mode of sinnin',
I'd have gone to work to right myself,
And not sit here a grinnin'.
Just then the minister says, says he,
"And now I've come to the letters,
Who've lost this snower by usin' their friends
As sort of moral umbrellas,
Go home," says he, "and find your faults,
Instead of mutterin' your brother's;
Go home," says he, "and wear the coats
You've tried to get on others."

My wife she nodded, and brown he winked,
And there was lots o' sin lin',
And lots o' lookin' at our new;
I sot my lip to a grin'.
Says I to myself, our minister
Is gittin' a fine letter;
I'll tell him when meetin's out, that I
Am I at all that kind of a critter.

Lamorous.
