THE LITTLE PRINCESS.

Oct. 24, 1906.

George Taylor, aged 15 years, recently met a horrible death at New London, Connecticut. He was an elevator boy at a hotel and was caught between the floor of the elevator well on the fifth floor and the life crushed out of him. He was a nephew of Mrs. Henry Scaggs, of this place.

Jesse Wright's dwelling is being repainted.

The Three Essentials in Good Furniture

Are Style, Workmanship and Durability

Many kinds of furniture on the market have one or two of these necessary qualifications but lack something. It is usually either workmanship or durability. You can buy furniture for a very low price that looks as well as a good article but there is no satisfaction or last in it. It is dear at any price. This is proven every day generally by people who send to catalog houses for cheap furniture. Yes, it is cheap—everything about it is usually cheap and a dear bargain in the long run.

Our Furniture is Guaranteed to Please.

It is the best we can buy and sold at the right prices, too. Yet we know that paint and putty cover a multitude of sins in furniture, but it doesn't cover any defects in CARTER'S furniture. WE DON'T SELL THAT KIND.
