Enterprising Merchants Free to 75 Persons. They Tell You All About

Below you will see a large picture of the elephants that appear in the Sells-Floto circus parade here next Wednesday.

Cut out the small piece of the picture from each of the advertisements, and paste them as neatly as you can on a sheet of white paper, so that they will form a picture just like the big one in the center of this page. This is easy to do.

When you have done this, hurry to one of the stores advertising on this page. The proprietor has a number of tickets to the Sells-Floto circus, the number of tickets depending upon the size of the advertisement. If you have pasted the parts together correctly, the merchant will give you a free ticket to the circus provided you are one of the first ones to the store.
