PARENTS' MEETING AT MILLER SCHOOL

Number of Interesting Addresses Were Delivered Last Evening.

An interesting meeting was held last night at the Miller school when all parents were invited to meet the new teachers and principal, Mr. Beckner. There were four speakers for the evening's program. Mr. Wilson expressed regret that many did not turn out and told a story of a boy in school who wrote the following composition on "Parents." "Parents is composed of Mas and Pas and is what looks after you. Most boys have them and some girls. Pas always talks about what they are going to do but Mas does them." Mr. Wilson said it was the mothers who after a day full of many duties found time for other things. He read a list of things one mother he knew had done between 8 and 9 in the morning. First, she had dressed two children, mended a tear in Mary's dress and a hole in John's stocking. Then she had straightened up the front room, swept the dining room and kitchen and back porch, read the paper, creased the baby, washed the dishes and did a number of other things and sat down to rest a moment before the clock struck 9.

Mr. Wilson said that mothers were the ones behind the gun just now. Ira Smith spoke in defense of the fathers who were not present. He said they all stayed home to take care of the children. He spoke enthusiastically of the good work done by the teachers and deplored the fact that they got no higher salary. "Why," he said, "a man who trains a dog gets $100 a month. I pay some of my ditch diggers $3 a day. When I taught school in the country I got $27 a month. When the term was up they said I was second to none and would raise my salary the next year to $30. I had a young pig and I raised it up and sold it and that helped some."

Mr. Alexander spoke of the unusually good army of teachers now in charge and said that the very best had been secured for the training of the boys and girls. "More than ever before," he said, "these boys and girls must be trained efficiently to take the place of those who have gone."

Mr. Beckner, the new principal, a man who is making good, was introduced by Mr. Wilson and gave a short enthusiastic talk much enjoyed.

The eighth grade, the only grade present, sang several songs under Miss Powell's direction. One of the young girls played a piano selection exceedingly well. After the program the mothers and a few fathers spent a social half hour in the hall. They were introduced personally to Mr. and Mrs. Beckner. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson were both on the social committee. The new teachers and also old ones spoke cordially to all and were very glad to have them respond to the invitation sent to them. It is always a great disappointment to teachers when parents do not turn out on such occasions. Those present last night spent an enjoyable evening.

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, do it. If your stomach is in a sick, gassy and upset, and you just ate has fermented and turned sour; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin to help neutralize acidity and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have dyspepsia. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps the stomach sweetened and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it stops fermentation and acidity and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing.
