FEAR REBELLION IN EASTER WEEK BY REPUBLICANS

Bold Stroke Expected--Police Barracks Attacked--DeValera Not Deposed

LONDON, April 10.—Will the extremist Republicans in Ireland observe the anniversary of the Easter Week uprising against Great Britain in 1916 by again attempting this Easter week to oust the provisional government and establish a Republic in its place?

The London Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent declares that this phase of Ireland's perplexities has been rather freely debated in Dublin and that opinions there differ widely.

Certain commonly well informed political quarters in London expect a stroke by extremist Republicans at an early date.

According to some political reports, the British government is keenly awake to the possibility of any serious revolt this week.

DRAGGED FROM PLATFORM. (By Associated Press.) TULLAMORE, Ireland, April 10.—George M. Gavin Duffy, minister of foreign affairs in the Dal Eireann cabinet, was seized by a crowd of young men and women and dragged from a platform upon which he was making an address at a pro-ireland meeting here yesterday.

BARRACKS ATTACKED. LONDON, April 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—The police barracks at Broadford, County Clare, occupied by official Irish Republican army units, were attacked at 2 o'clock this morning.

BRITISH TROOPS APPEAR. DUBLIN, April 10.—(By The Associated Press.)—British military soldiers, fully armed, appeared in the streets of Dublin yesterday for the first time since the creation of a truce in Ireland.

DEVALERA NOT DEPOSED. DUBLIN, April 10.—A statement issued by the Irish Republican public department contradicted the rumors given form in an article in the London Daily Mail that Eamon de Valera had been deposed as leader of the Republicans at the secret meeting of the Irish Republican army in Dublin yesterday.
