REBEKAH LODGE IS ENTERTAINED

A pleasant surprise was in store for those who attended the St. Helens Rebekah lodge at its last meeting. It so happened that five of the members had birthdays about the same time and they decided to celebrate the events by entertaining the lodge members.

Mrs. Helman brought a wonderful birthday cake and Mrs. Hansen furnished a fishing pond, from which some very appetizing things were hooked with rod and line. In the dining greater surprises awaited the guests.

A pleasing incident of the evening was the presentation to the lodge of the silver cup won as first prize at the Fourth of July celebration. The presentation was made by the past noble grand, Mrs. Smith, to whom the greater share of the credit is due in winning the prize.

It is whispered about that something equally as good is to happen at the next meeting night, hence it behooves all to be present.

"Oregon's Best" Needed.

Oregon creamery men must put their "best" butter forward at the state fair if they keep the prize at home, says W. D. Pine of O. A. C., superintendent of the dairy building at the fair. A thousand dollars for winning butter and cheddar cheese, with special diplomas for highest honors. The money will be divided on points per rata. Entrance blanks will be sent to creamery managers in time for shipment of entries.

Spreader Helps Spray.

Lead arsenate spray of half the usual strength combined with a spreader proved much more effective than the usual strength—4 lbs. to 200 gallons of water—without spreader, in tests for codling moth at the O. A. C. experiment station. The spreader used was calcium caseinate, 12 ounces to 200 gallons of spray. The gain was due to the even, uniform coating of poison with the spreader, as against a blotchy spread without.

GREAT HOME INDUSTRY

All over the west fruit and vegetable canneries are busy all summer and fall—using up soil products and employing labor.

The local canneries are the great home industry—making a home market for what the farmers raise and a home market for labor.

The family labor of every community is mobilized in the field and in the packing plant of the cannery at good wages.

There is no greater means of distributing wages where the money does the most good than the cannery industry.

In these days of noisy politics and international strife we are apt to overlook this one of our greatest community blessings.
