TUESDAY, OCT. 17, 1911.

The good roads spirit was well displayed by the people living between Oxford and Atlanta last week when 200 men with 100 teams donated two days work to improving the road between those two points.

Mr. Bryan advocated the election of Mr. Harman, the democratic candidate for railway commissioner, and yet Mr. Harman is recognized as the candidate of the railroads; in fact he has been openly charged as such by M. F. Harrington, one of the recognized leaders of the Nebraska democracy.

The position of county surveyor is one of more importance than is generally considered, and it is well to have a man in that office who is a competent surveyor and engineer.

It was largely through the efforts of Mr. Bryan that the democrats succeeded in swallowing the populist party of the state, now he insists that the progressive republicans of the state become the victims of a similar swallow act.

The defeat of the Sheldon administration a few years ago by the democratic party, immediately after the republicans, with Governor Sheldon as the titular head of the party in the state, had made such an excellent record along the line of progressive legislation, was encompassed; largely through the plea of the democrats that the republicans had been extravagant.

The democrats are devoting their energies politically in behalf of their candidate for sheriff and allowing the remainder of their ticket to look after themselves.

Notwithstanding their efforts, however, we believe that A. J. Salisbury, the republican nominee, will be elected by a big majority.

J. B. Pounds, of Ogalala, is spending this week with J. J. Hopkins. W. J. Tiley and W. Anderson are spending the day in Cozad on business.

After running the state of California to suit itself for nearly fifty years the Southern Pacific Railroad company now finds itself under the control of a state railway commission with rather extraordinary powers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Dickey will move to Kearney next week. Mrs. E. A. Boyd went to Omaha Sunday to visit friends for a week or longer.

Miss Lizkie Weinberger returned Sunday from a short visit in Omaha and Gretna. Mrs. Arthur Gilbert left this morning for Cozad to visit relatives for two weeks or more.
