

Another Royal Suggestion
3-Egg Angel and Sunshine Cakes
 From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

AN Angel cake that fairly melts in your mouth. Instead of eight eggs it can be made with three and the yolks of the eggs can be used for a Royal Sunshine cake.

Angel Cake
 1 cup sugar
 1 1/2 cups flour
 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
 3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup scalded milk
 1 teaspoon almond or vanilla extract
 whites of 3 eggs
 Mix and sift first five ingredients four times. Add milk very slowly, while still hot, beating continually; add vanilla; mix well and fold in whites of eggs beaten until light. Turn into ungreased angel cake tin and bake in very slow oven about 45 minutes. Remove from oven; invert pan and allow to stand until cold. Cover top and sides with either white or chocolate icing.

Sunshine Cake
 3 tablespoons shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 yolks of 3 eggs
 1 teaspoon flavoring extract
 1/2 cup milk
 1 1/2 cups flour
 3 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
 Cream, shortening; add sugar gradually, and yolks of eggs which have been beaten until thick; add flavoring; sift together flour and baking powder and add alternately a little at a time, with the milk to first mixture. Bake in greased loaf pan in moderate oven 35 to 45 minutes. Cover with white icing.

BIG CROPS IN S. DAK.

CORN PRODUCTION IS WELL PAST THE 100,000,000 BUSHEL MARK.

The regular monthly report of H. O. Herbrandson, field agent in South Dakota of the bureau of crop estimates, United States department of agriculture, places this year's corn crop of South Dakota at 100,800,000 bushels, this being a reduction of approximately 7,500,000 bushels from his estimate of one month ago. The reduction is due to additional and more reliable information received since the report early in October. The yield is placed at thirty bushels per acre, with a quality of 94 per cent. This yield is two and three-tenths bushels greater than the ten-year average, but four bushels less than the average yield of 1918, the year of South Dakota's most productive corn crop, when the yield averaged thirty-four bushels per acre. The quality of the other staple cereal crops in South Dakota is stated to be as follows: Weight per measured bushel of spring wheat, 49.5 pounds; oats, 33.5 pounds; barley, 44 pounds. This year's wheat crop is of even lighter weight than that produced in 1919, but not as poor quality as the 1916 crop, when the weight was found as 47 pounds. The report places the South Dakota potato crop for this year at 8,374,000 bushels, an increase of 75,000 bushels since the estimate made October 1. The state yield is placed at 106 bushels per acre of a 96 per cent quality. Of the total amount of potatoes raised, 2,500,000 bushels are intended for market.

Trainloads of cattle and sheep are being brought into central and western South Dakota with which to stock the ranges and recuperate from the great loss sustained by stock raisers when hundreds of thousands of cattle perished in the severe storms of last winter. The large supply of hay of the farmers is partly responsible for the influx of feeders. Recently a special train of twenty-six cars, twenty-two carloads of cattle and four of sheep, were unloaded at Gettysburg. The sheep were kept in Potter county, but the cattle were driven to the territory west of the Missouri river. It will require years to restock the South Dakota range.

Word has been received from New York City that the American Farm Bureau Federation has won the first skirmish in the battle to revise the federal tax laws. The Ralston-Nolan bill, with its $1,000,000,000 tax on farm land is reported to have been dealt a severe body blow. The same is true of the proposed tax of one per cent on sales of all commodities, both wholesale and retail—a tax which would raise billions of dollars revenue, a large proportion of which would have to be borne by farmers.

The state park near Custer, including the greater part of the Harney range and Sylvan lake districts, is closed to hunters and no game can be hunted and shot in it. It is a game refuge, and within its borders, under the state and national laws, it is unlawful to pursue, trap or kill game birds or animals—and the laws, it is announced, will be strictly enforced throughout the year and especially during the present open season for deer shooting in the Black Hills.

Turkeys are scarce in the Black Hills this year, and, therefore, it is expected prices will be almost prohibitive to most residents. However, it is expected that many deer will be killed in the Black Hills between now and Thanksgiving, and hundreds of families will substitute venison for turkey as the chief article for their Thanksgiving day dinner.

With ten counties yet to report, the showing on the different laws and constitutional amendments only continues the majority, showing that all have gone down except the last two amendments on state aid for home building and the soldiers' bonus.

A consignment of black bass, furnished by the government, has been placed in Dog Ear lake, a fine body of water near Winner, which is rapidly becoming the leading fishing and hunting resort of the Rosebud country.

At a special election held at Simla the voters with only three dissenting votes authorized the board of education to go ahead and complete a new public school building, which was started several months ago.

Many of the farmers of the Freeman-Menno territory, have completed their corn husking and now have their corn crops safely out of the way of winter storms.

Thus far during the open season for the shooting of deer in the Black Hills, which opened November 1, comparatively few deer have been killed.

Mrs. E. P. Wanser, chairman of the South Dakota public health association, has 1,000,000 seals on hand for the Christmas campaign.

Yankton county's farm bureau now has a total membership of approximately 600.

The assessing of damages to farmers which would result from the construction of a proposed ditch across their land to carry surplus waters from the Big Sioux river to Lake Poinsett through Dry lake, has been completed by a jury in the Hamlin county circuit court. The purpose is to raise the stage of water in Lake Poinsett and again make it one of the leading fishing resorts of the northeastern section of South Dakota.

Midland, for the first time since the town was incorporated, has electric lights and power.

After a lot of working preliminaries, the indications are the actual tests for oil will be commenced in the central part of this state at an early date, and find out whether the presence of natural gas is any evidence that oil can be secured. The drilling tower for a test, has been put up at Blunt and the drilling tools ordered. A drill outfit from the Wyoming fields has been secured for a test in Stanley county and is expected to be on the ground soon. These are two tests which have been in process of organization in the central part of the state for several months, and one or the other is expected to show whether or not oil can be found in this part of the state. Drills are now at work in the vicinity of St. Onge, and it is possible that some of these will get down to an actual showing at any time. Up to the present no practical oil flow has been found east of the Black Hills, but no practical tests have been made except south of Rapid City, where the first well drilled appears to have failed in making a showing.

One of the efforts along school lines in this state is the serving of hot noon lunches to the pupils of the country schools and this is carried even to city schools. The lunches are simple and are worked in the country schools through the courses of vitalized agriculture, and in the city schools through the domestic science classes. In the country schools the pupils build their own tables and other "equipment" and the teacher assists in preparing and serving the warm noonday lunches. In the city schools the "equipment" is provided and the girls of the domestic science classes serve warm lunches when weather conditions are such that it is hard for the pupils to go to their homes for the noonday lunch.

The residents of the region surrounding Belle Fourche, who during recent years have materially increased the acreage devoted to the raising of sugar beets, have concluded a series of meetings, which were held for the purpose of securing a still greater increase in the beet sugar acreage, as upon this is dependent the construction and operation of a beet sugar factory in the Belle Fourche valley by a leading western sugar beet company. It is believed the necessary acreage can be contracted for, so the company will be justified in erecting the factory.

The South Dakota Farm Bureau Federation has not advised its farmers to take part in any so-called "wheat strike." Since the recent announcement that wheat strikes were being called in various states by grain growing bodies, R. J. Crandall, secretary of the South Dakota Federation, has been besieged with inquiries as to what attitude the South Dakota organization has taken in the matter. Mr. Crandall says that he does not believe it necessary nor desirable to call a strike.

Citizens of Yankton will vote on Tuesday, November 23, at a special election on two propositions in connection with the Missouri river bridge here, one authorizing the issues of $70,000 in bonds for securing a domestic water supply through wells and intakes in the piers of the bridge; the other granting a franchise to the Meridian Highway Bridge company for a railway right of way along the river front at the approach of the bridge.

The Douglas County Pure Bred Live Stock association has just published a directory of pure bred live stock. So far as known it is the only directory of its kind in that part of the state. Douglas county has developed a market and is able to supply "in head or carload lots."

Emory now has an abundance of water for fire protection and domestic purposes, a fine artesian well having been completed. It was necessary to go through 100 feet of granite in order to strike the artesian flow.

South Dakota is to be divided into four districts to better handle the enforcement of the Volstead act, and headquarters will be established in Sioux Falls, Pierre, Deadwood and Aberdeen.

Much improvement is planned for highways of Charles Mix county. As part of the program the board of county commissioners is receiving bids for a number of large reinforced concrete bridges.

The first certified seed potato growers' association in South Dakota has been organized in Hamlin county. This is also said to be the tenth association organized in the United States.

The Rosebud potato crop will probably be adequate to all local needs this year.

Southeastern South Dakota may go on the map as an oil producing district as the result of a reported discovery of oil near Geddes. Samples of the oil are being analyzed by an expert chemist at Iowa City, and until his report is made, the exact chemical composition of the substance will remain in doubt. An experienced oil man, however, who has large interests in Oklahoma, has seen the samples and pronounces them the real thing.

TREE HAS "CANDY" FLOWERS

Indian Product That Rivals the "Gingerbread House" of the Remembered Fairy Tales.

We have all read the story of the "gingerbread house" in the fairy tales. Well, there is a family of trees in India that have "candy" flowers, or the next thing to it. These trees are known as the "Bassia" trees, and of the three important kinds, two have sugary flowers and the third is called the "Indian butter tree." The petals of the flowers are rich in sugar and drop from the tree in the early morning. They are picked up by the women and children and are spread out on mats to dry in the sun. A single tree will furnish 300 pounds of flowers in a year. When fresh, the flowers are very sweet and taste much like figs. They are eaten fresh or cooked with rice, shredded coconut, or flour. The seeds of the butter tree are full of oil, and this oil is used to make a kind of butter, and also for soap and candles.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

KING HAS SUPREME POWER

But There Are Reasons Why British Monarch Does Not Exercise His Royal Prerogative.

If the king did all he might do without exceeding his royal prerogative the nation would be startled. He can veto a bill passed in both houses; he can dissolve and summon parliament; he can select or dismiss his ministers; he can declare war; he can make treaties and create peers; he can appoint bishops, governors and judges—and all "on his own." He could cede the duchy of Cornwall to a foreign power, disband the army and navy, and sell the dreadnaughts and naval stores. He could give every government official, from the highest to the lowest, the "push," could pardon all criminals, and could stop the whole machinery of government. But there is an unwritten law of common sense, fortified by long usage, which makes it unthinkable that the king should do these things; and in the last resort, which is never likely to occur, the king, being a constitutional monarch, reigns by the will of the people, and could be deposed by act of parliament.—Montreal Herald.

THIS BOOKKEEPER LOST OUT

Might Have Known That Request for Raise in Salary Would Not Give Boss Satisfaction.

A labor leader was defending strikes.

"How could men get better pay without striking for it?" he said to a New York reporter. "By asking for it, do you think?"

"I once knew a young bookkeeper who went to his boss and asked for a dollar raise. The boss flew into a terrible passion.

"But," faltered the bookkeeper, "there is nothing unreasonable, sir, in my request. Don't you remember promising me a raise after I'd been with you a year?"

"Yes," hissed the boss, "but don't you remember that I made this raise conditional on your giving me every satisfaction?"

"Oh, dear! Haven't I satisfied you, sir?" said the young bookkeeper, pitifully.

"Satisfied me?" yelled the boss, "do you think you are satisfying me when you ask me for a raise?"
