HALLOWE'EN OBSERVED HERE BY YOUNG PEOPLE

LARGE NUMBER OF PARTIES FOR THE OCCASION.

Masked Figures in Parade on Down Town Streets—No Acts of Vandalism.

Hallowe'en was generally observed here last night by the younger set with parties, masked parades on the streets and other revelries. Many may not know it but this is not the purpose of Hallowe'en.

Chief Livingston and his men were on duty to see that no overt acts were committed under the license of the occasion, and so far no rowdiness has been reported.

Of all the peculiar celebrations that the people of the United States so freely and joyously indulge in, this of Hallowe'en, is easily the first and most peculiar. It is not the celebration of any great historic event, like the Fourth of July; it does not commemorate the birth of any great man, like Washington's birthday; it is in no sense a church festival, although, coming on the eve of Saints day, revered by many, has by some been associated with it. It is simply unlimited fun, jollity and merriment. On that one night, the God of Mischief reigns supreme, and all sorts of mischief, except malicious, is overlooked.

Its origin is lost in the mists of the early ages. We know that the Druid priests celebrated it as a sort of harvest home by lighting bonfires, and possibly offering sacrifices to their stern gods. They were great or sacrifices, those old boys, and human beings sometimes formed the piece de resistance of their ceremonies. Be that as it may the custom was taken up by the inhabitants of all the British Isles and by them transmitted to their descendants in America. We cannot believe it was brought here by the Puritans, averse as those stern old fathers were to all forms of folly. We had rather credit those gay and light-hearted Cavaliers of Maryland and Virginia with introducing it to this country. At any rate it is here now, and here to stay.

HALL CAINE'S POWERFUL PICTURE STORY "THE WOMAN THOU GAVEST ME" PRESENTED BY SUPERB ALL-STAR CAST OF PLAYERS

Exceptional Cast Includes Such Well Known Screen Favorites as Katherine MacDonald, Jack Holt, Theodore Roberts, Milton Sills and Fritzi Brunette.

Virtually an all-star cast presents the Paramount-Arcraft special picture "The Woman Thou Gavest Me," Hall Caine's masterpiece, directed by Hugh Ford, which will be shown at the Arcade on Tuesday next.

The role of Mary MacNeill is portrayed by Katherine MacDonald, one of the most beautiful of actresses, who will be remembered for her excellent work as Lady Diana in "The Squaw Man," a Cecil DeMille Arcraft special, and for her work in support of Douglas Fairbanks and William S. Hart, as well as in other notable pictures. Miss MacDonald is fitted in every way for the tremendously powerful emotional part in the Caine picture, for she is not only beautiful but accomplished in the histrionic art and gifted with a splendid sense of proportion. Her rendition is declared to be a work of real art.

Milton Sills, seen on several occasions as leading man for Clara Kimball Young, a well known actor of the screen, is cast as Martin Condon, the intrepid young explorer, whose love for Mary is one of the inspiring features of the theme. He is particularly excellent in the emotional moments with which the picture abounds.

Theodore Roberts, the veteran character actor, is Daniel McNeill, the stern and unyielding father of Mary. He is hard as flint, proud as Lucifer—and he sacrifices his child on the altar of his selfishness. The part is a most absorbing one and is portrayed by Mr. Roberts with infinite artistry.

Jack Holt, who was "Cash Hawkins" in "The Squaw Man," plays the heavy role of Lord Raa, the scapegrace scion of a noble family. The part is a despicable one and it is a tribute to an actor's genius that he is able to interpret it in such convincing fashion as Jack Holt has done.

Fritzi Brunette, a well known screen actress, depicts the adventuress, Alma Lier, and does it with great art and a verisimilitude that is rare even in these days of finished acting. The difficult character becomes real and convincing in Miss Brunette's capable hands.

SUFFRAGE CONVENTION AT TAMPA IS AT END

AFTER SESSION OF TWO DAYS OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

Memorial to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw a Feature—Big Gathering of Women

TAMPA, Nov. 1.—The Florida Equal Suffrage Association closed its annual convention today after being in session two days. Election of officers was the principal business at today's session. The officers chosen were as follows:

ton, Tampa; auditors, Mrs. J. W. Collum, Mrs. J. D. Stringfellow, Gainesville. One of the principal addresses at today's meeting was by Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, of Dallas, Texas, a former officer of the Texas association.

At the closing session today State Senator Doyle E. Carleton was the principal speaker, accepting the invitation of the league to make an address. About sixty accredited delegates from local organizations in the State attended the two-day session, and the local and other visitors swelled the attendance to a good-sized gathering. The meetings were held on the roof garden of the Hillsborough hotel.

The session last night was in the form of a memorial in honor of the late Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, who was for years in the forefront of the fight for equal suffrage in the United States. The principal speaker was Dr. Mary B. Jewett, of Winter Haven, a close friend and companion of Dr. Shaw. Her subject was Dr. Shaw, the Woman, and she paid a beautiful tribute to the memory of her former colleague. Dr. Mary A. Safford, of Orlando, spoke on Dr. Shaw, the Suffragist, and Mrs. John T. Fuller, of Orlando, on Dr. Shaw, the Patriot. Special music was a part of the exercises.

The executive committee remains over for a meeting to be held this afternoon.

SOME COOLER TODAY

Fresh winds from the east have brought some relief from the unseasonable weather which has prevailed here during the last two weeks and many are breathing sighs of relief.

Weather predictions hold out little hope for real cool fall weather just yet. Old weather sharps allege that it will rain for several days before we have any cool weather.
