CLINIC REHEARSALS OF CHORAL SCHOOL PLANNED AT W. C. U. N. C.

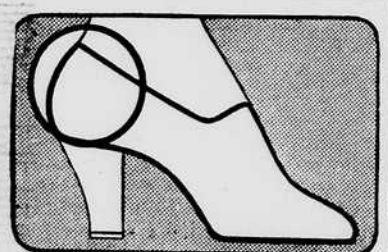

GREENSBORO, March 25.—One of the outstanding features of the Southern Choral School, to be held July 22-August 2, at Woman's college of the University of North Carolina, will be the clinic rehearsal of the Children's Chorus and the High School Chorus, conducted daily by William Powell Twaddell, director of music in the public schools of Durham.

The Children's Chorus will be composed of 40 to 50 children, 10 to 13 years of age, and the High School Chorus will be a like number of senior high school students. Those attending the choral school will observe the rehearsals, and there will be time for discussion following each period. Mr. Twaddell will also teach a course in "Choral Methods and Procedures."

Mr. Twaddell began his musical career as a boy chorister, St. Andrews, Philadelphia, and later studied at the University of Pennsylvania, Temple University, New York University and Yale. He has studied organ and choral music under Frederick Maxson, David D. Wood, Harry J. Jepson, George Ed. Ward Stubb, John Finley Williamson, and F. Melius Christiansen. Since 1920, he has been director of music in the public schools of Durham, and in the First Presbyterian church of Durham. He is organizer and director of the Durham Choir school, a nationally known training group for children.

The Choral School, which was first organized last summer, was attended by musicians throughout the south. Men and women may enroll in the school. The college residence halls will provide accommodations for the women, and the men may find rooms near the campus.

Federation Of Women's Clubs Will Hold Convention May 1-3

By SUSAN IDEN
Secretary State Federation of Women's Clubs

With the state convention of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs little more than a month off, May 1-3, the club women are exceedingly busy these days getting their affairs lined up for the annual meeting. This past week, March 19-20, the South Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs was held in Gaffney, S. C., and was attended by Mrs. R. H. Latham, of Asheville, past president of the North Carolina Federation, who was one of the speakers at the South Carolina meeting, and by Mrs. John H. Robinson, state president, who bore the greetings from the North Carolina Federation.

Easter will be observed by many of the clubs with appropriate celebrations, an event that will usher in the springtime after the prolonged winter weather.

April 17 is known as Conservation Week in the Federation of Women's Clubs, and the following week, April 6-12, as Garden Week of the National Federation.

Club women have long been among the most ardent supporters of conservation, the protection of the forests, the long leaf pines, holts and cedars at Christmas, the dogwoods in the spring and all of the trees and the plants that contribute to the beauty of the woods. Clubs may find a worthwhile celebration in Arbor day and the planting of a tree.

Garden Week, April 6-12 is one of the Women's club celebrations that is most enthusiastically entered into by clubs everywhere. The first of April is a time generally of most beautiful and elaborate bloom in gardens though many things are backward this year on account of the continued cold weather. Women's clubs have always been interested in gardens, flower shows, and plant exchanges and have done an untold amount of work to add to the beauty of the towns of North Carolina. Highways and approaches to cities and towns have been planted by many of the club women of the state.

Continuing these special days and weeks through the rest of the club year poetry week will follow April 21-27; Child Health Day, May 1; and National Music Week, May 1-13; giving the clubs plenty to celebrate during the rest of the club year.

There are sixteen districts in the state federation and it is through the chairmen of these districts that much of the work of the federation is done. Mrs. Cressy K. Proctor, of Oxford, second vice-president, is chairman of districts. The individual clubs report their work to their district chairmen and these chairmen in turn pass it on to Mrs. Proctor and she with Mrs. Geddie Strickland, of High Point, chairman of departments and divisions sum up these district reports in a report to the state federation in convention assembly.

Mrs. Proctor who was a visitor at federation headquarters this past week, is asking that the district presidents get in their reports as soon as possible. A questionnaire was sent to all of these district presidents early in the club year. But some of these presidents are slow in getting in their reports and Mrs. Proctor wished to remind them that they must get busy with them.

Mrs. P. R. Rankin, of Mount Cleared, the treasurer and chairman of Golden Jubilee Birthday parties, is another busy member of the federation in these days just before the convention checking up on the receipts of the organization and sponsoring the birthday parties in their different manners of celebration.

Just a few days ago a delightful account came to headquarters of the Golden Jubilee Birthday party given by Sorosis in Wilmington. Mrs. Andrew Howell, first president of Sorosis, presided.

The program contained the high lights of the forty-five years of the history of the club, presented by some of the older and most outstanding members.

Mrs. Howell stated that North Carolina Sorosis was organized in December, 1895, at the home of Mrs. Rufus Hicks, mother of Sorosis, with a total of 15 members. Only four charter members are now members of Sorosis. Sorosis was the first club in the state to become a departmental club and the first club in the state by six years to join the General Federation. Sorosis had the honor of having the first member appointed to office in the General Federation.

One of the most charming features of the entertainment was the show of dresses of the early period of Sorosis, modeled by members of the Junior North Carolina Sorosis. Delightful musical selections were rendered and a delightful social period was enjoyed.

Marriage Announced
Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reeves announce the marriage of their daughter, Elsie Mae, of this city, to Robert Leamon Pygott, of Bath, N. Y., and Wilmington. The marriage took place on March 23, at Conway, S. C.

MISS MATTHEWS, CLEVE H. BUIE ENGAGED TO WED

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Matthews, of Magnolia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Verette, to Cleve H. Buiie, of this city. The marriage will take place within the near future.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. Should a woman wear white at her second marriage?
2. Is it correct to announce a long engagement?
3. Should a man discuss with the girl he is going to marry the type of bridal bouquet he plans to send her?

4. Is it necessary to answer a wedding invitation (which includes an invitation to the reception) promptly?

5. May a woman have several attendants at her second marriage?

What would you do if—
You are a girl soon to be married and are wondering how you should go about making out a guest list—
(a) Have your fiancé make out a list, his mother one, and you one and combine the four lists?
(b) You and your mother make out the list together?

Answers
1. No.
2. It is if the bride and her family want it announced. This is a matter of personal preference.
3. Yes. For some flowers are better with certain kinds of wedding gowns than others.
4. Yes.
5. No. Only one.

Best "What Would You Do?" solution—(a) The groom and his mother have just as much right to have their friends present as the bride and her mother.
