

DIRECTORS OF REA BODY RE-ELECTED

Rep. Barden Pledges Continued Cooperation To Jones-Onslow Corporation

JACKSONVILLE, Nov. 14.—The directors of the board of directors of the Jones-Onslow Electric Membership Corporation is "just getting started" featured the first annual meeting of the cooperators at Comfort school today.

The meeting was attended by approximately 750 persons. Much larger than anticipated, the throng braved inclement weather to attend and hear Representative Graham A. Barden endorse the Rural Electrification Authority, pledge his continued cooperation with the cooperative and speak briefly on national defense.

The following directors were re-elected: A. B. Irwin, Richlands; E. B. Smith, Mariner; E. M. Philpott, Comfort; T. M. Rawls, Verona; A. N. Venters, Jacksonville; H. M. Mallard and E. C. Gray, Trenton; W. G. Hargett, Hargett's Store; and J. L. Sasser, Dover. Election of officers by the board will be held later.

E. B. Smith, president, presided today, and Horace Cotton, Jacksonville, cooperative superintendent, reported that he was satisfied with the "roundwork" already laid, but that "we're just beginning to get started."

Cotton reported 707 rural subscribers to REA power on approximately 200 miles of line of the cooperative in Onslow, Jones, Duplin and Lenoir counties, and a consumption of an average $9,000 kilowatt hours during the first four months of operation.

He also reported that rural subscribers in addition to using power for light, are taking advantage of electricity and installing radios, water pumps, stoves, refrigerators, air compressors and, in some instances, portable motors.

Cotton said the Jones-Onslow cooperative already is setting aside reserves to meet first payments on principal and interest, first coming due in 1942. The obligation is the $284,000 which the cooperative borrowed from the REA to finance the project.

POLICE TO ENFORCE PARKING ORDINANCE

Enforce Practice Of Parking Overnight On Streets Creates Driving Hazards

The police department will rigidly enforce the city ordinance prohibiting the parking of cars on all improved streets after 1 o'clock in the morning and without proper parking lights, Police Chief Joseph C. Rourke said yesterday.

The practice of parking overnight and without proper parking lights hinders the street cleaner in his work and creates traffic hazards, he said.

A number of complaints of violations of the ordinance have been received by the department and the general public is urged to cooperate in the enforcement of the law, he said, in order that the streets may be properly cared for during the night.

Suit Filed In Death Of Charles H. Dement

Harry Ferrell, administrator of the estate of Charles H. Dement, has filed suit in superior court against Mrs. George W. Urwick, and husband, George W. Urwick, and the Parker Paper company, of Gastonia, for $50,000 actual damages and $10,000 punitive damages to the plaintiff's estate caused by the careless and negligent acts of the defendant.

The plaintiff claims that on August 9, 1940 Charles H. Dement was waiting on the curb for a bus while vacationing at Myrtle Beach when the automobile driven by Mrs. Urwick crashed into several parked cars, hitting him and throwing him against an automobile which crushed his skull and gave him several serious bruises, from which he died the next day. The plaintiff claims that Mrs. Urwick was drunk at the time, and that the automobile she was driving was owned by George W. Urwick and the Parker Paper company.

JAPAN WITHDRAWS FROM KWANGTUNG

Says Troops No Longer Needed There Because Of Gains In Indo-China

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14.—Japanese military authorities announced today their troops had been withdrawn from southwestern Kwangtung province, as they already had been done in neighboring Kwangsi province, strengthening the belief in foreign circles here of another impending move against French Indo-China.

Just as they explained their withdrawal earlier from Kwangsi the Japanese declared they were moving out of southwestern Kwangtung because their troops were no longer needed there as a result of newly-gained bases in French Indo-China.

Contradicting the Japanese explanation, Chinese said they were driving the Japanese out at bayonet point. Furthermore the Chinese declared the capture of Yanchow, port through which the Japanese are leaving, is imminent.

It was through Yanchow that the Japanese drove last November into Kwangsi to capture its capital, Nanning, only to abandon it recently.

"COLORADO" IS FEATURED AT THE BIJOU THEATRE

"Colorado," Republic film which is currently thrilling Bijou theatre audiences, presents Roy Rogers, cowboy favorite, in another fast action western drama with songs and music aplenty for good measure. The Republic film, makes effective use of the highly dramatic situation of two brothers, widely separated as the poles in temperament and moral code, and pitted against each other to the death. Rogers portrays the young intelligence officer in the Union army, sent to Denver to investigate various Indian uprisings and internal troubles which threaten the success of the Northern cause against the Secessionists.

Arriving at Denver, he is opposed by two serious complications. One is the fact that the very man behind the trouble he is bound by duty to quell is his blood brother. The other complication is a pretty girl who loves Roy but has, in turn, given her heart to the worthless brother.

George "Gabby" Hayes enacts the role of Roy's pal and partner in adventure, going with him to the western outpost, braving any and all dangers, including the possibility that an amiable widow with a flair for cooking may amaze him in matrimony. Maude Eburne, a popular veteran of both stage and screen, makes the role of Etta Mae, the widow, believable and lovable.

On this program will also be chapter three of "The Green Hornet Strikes Again" and "Molly Cures a Cowboy" a Ray Whitley comedy.

"GIRLS OF THE ROAD" IS FEATURED AT ROYAL

They're "on the road" and it's all down-grade...homeless girls...hunted...jailed...murdered...driven from state to state...hitch-hiking their way to disaster...their paths unknown...their futures uncertain...their story unforgettable...in the sheer shock of its nerve-lashing power...America's unwanted women in a drama that must be seen!... "Girls of the Road."

Ann Dvorak, Helen Mack, Lola Lane head the cast of Columbia's "Girls of the Road" which opens today at the Royal Theatre with its dramatic, dynamic story rivaling the true facts of one of America's most pressing social problems.

Little Tough Guys and Dead End Kids are there too in another of their sensational G-Man pictures. And with "Our Gang" doing their stuff in one of their inimitable skits, there is only one answer as to whether or not this is a swell week-end show.

"MOON OVER BURMA" IS OFFERED AT CAROLINA

Take a good-looking gal from Brooklyn and put her to singing in a cafe in Rangoon, and a couple of likely American lads who are in the teak logging business up in the Burmese hills, and let 'em meet at the cafe. Mix well with good dialogue, snappy situations, new songs, fine direction and you have: "Moon Over Burma," the Paramount comedy-romance uncorked last night at the Carolina Theatre with Dorothy Lamour as the girl, and Robert Preston and Preston Foster as the lads.

The lads (don't confuse 'em, because both have Preston in their names) start things moving nicely at the cafe when they both fall in love with Miss Lamour, new short hair-do and all, after hearing her sing. Eventually she winds up at the compound where they operate their teak business.

Further development of the story hinges on the fact that the boys went down to Rangoon to borrow enough money to keep their business going. The man from whom they borrowed the money wants their business, too; and he sets an operative to work to slow down the output of teak.

But the real fun and romance comes in because the money lender's daughter, played by Doris Nolan, loves Foster. He loves Lamour and she loves him. Miss Nolan, jealous, tells Robert Preston, who also loves Lamour. That makes for lots of fun before it is determined who will win who. On top of all that there are a log jam and forest fire for excitement.

The Carolina's short subject program featuring the latest March of Time, presenting "Britain's Royal Air Force" and showing the great part it is playing in the defense of England. A Donald Duck cartoon and News of the Day complete the program.
