Mrs. McPherson gave a most enjoyable talk on folk songs—"Nothing tells more of the life of people than their folk songs—the Swiss songs tell of mountains and valleys and yodels of the Alpine climbers—A French song, "The Bridge of Avignon" on tells of the various classes of people crossing it such as the lords and ladies, the peasants; the American songs are of minstrel, cowboy, patriotic such as Yankee Doodle, the Star Spangled Banner. Some are quite old having been composed in 1759."

Double Ring Ceremony Used In Williamson-Hartley Vows

The wedding of Miss Anna Mari-ah Hartley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hartley of Wilmington, and George Eugene Williamson, son of Mrs. C. H. Williamson and the late Mr. Williamson of Richmond, Va., was solemnized Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at St. Andrews - Covenant Presbyterian church. The Rev. Eugene D. Witherspoon, pastor, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Miss Helen Dobson, organist, rendered the traditional wedding marches by Mendelssohn and Wagner. Mrs. Alfred Bell, soprano, sang "Because."

The chancel of the church was beautifully decorated with green palms and cypripedium fern, centered with a floor basket of white gladioli and snapdragons. Seven branched candelabra containing burning white tapers were placed at each end of the altar.

The bride and bridegroom entered the church together. The bride wore a powder blue suit of lightweight wool made on dressmaker lines. Her hat was of the same shade and material as the suit, and her accessories were of black. She carried a white Bible, given her by her mother, which was decorated with a corsage of white, purple-throated orchids with white satin streamers.

Miss Frances Heidt, maid-of-honor, and only attendant, wore a yellow crepe dress. Her hat was of pink roses lined with the same shade of yellow as her dress. Her accessories were black, and her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Hartley, mother of the bride, wore a stunning black suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mr. Williamson chose as his best man, Kenneth V. Witherington. Ushers were Francis A. McCracken and Thomas P. Brown.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The home was attractively decorated with spring flowers and southern smilax. Centering the loveliness of the scene was the bridal table laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake with miniature bride and bridegroom on top. Reflecting the beauty of the table were the burning white tapers in crystal candelabra.

The traditional cake-cutting was inacted by the bride, with the assistance of the bridegroom, after which Mrs. J. B. Heidt served the cake. Punch was served by Mrs. Leo Smith and Mrs. Hazel Reeder.

After the reception the bridal couple left for a wedding trip. The bride wore a brown gaberdine suit with tan accessories. She wore the orchid corsage from her Bible.

Mrs. Williamson is a graduate of New Hanover High school and has been employed by the Atlantic Coast Line.

Mr. Williamson is a graduate of Richmond High school and for the past three years he has served with the Army Air Forces. He is at present employed by the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company.

Following the wedding trip, the bride and bridegroom will make their home in Wilmington.

Re-establishment of the Wyoming National Guard will be started about July 1.
