THE WASHINGTON CRITIC, Washington, D. C.

RICHARD H. SYLVESTER, Editor WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 13, 1888.

Whether Mr. Cleveland has been requested or not to identify himself in any way with the contention in New York over the Mayorality of that city, we are not definitely advised.

He has signified to the public no preference as between the respective candidates of Tammany Hall and the County Democracy, and so long as two or more Democratic candidates remain entered for the race, it is not probable that he will declare for either, or even interfere to the extent of reading his divided party a homily on their folly.

Political contests in the city of New York are for the most part of an intensely personal and partisan character, and whoever takes sides in an exciting municipal canvass there, whether he be President or private citizen, must of course commit himself to one or other of the tickets involved.

So far as the Chief Magistrate of the Government is concerned, it is not Mr. Cleveland's duty—it would be a compromise of his dignity—it would forfeit the national respect which the dignity of his office naturally commands, for him to enter the lists as the stockman or champion of any one of the gentlemen who may be presented as a candidate for the chief executive office of the city of New York. If the different Democratic factions of that city haven't the common sense to understand so plain a proposition, it is high time that they were made to understand it.

It may be urged that the President was friendly and not publicly expressed himself to the election of District Attorney Fellows, as against a confessedly Tammany candidate. There was nothing improper in the exigencies of such a campaign that he should express an opinion in favor of the substantially united Democracy; but if now the Democratic party of New York, in a spirit of local jealousy and resentful rivalry, chooses to split itself up into warring factions, the best, the most honorable, the only thing that Mr. Cleveland, as President of the United States, can do, is to keep his hands off.

The types in The Critic House report yesterday did a gross injustice to Congressman Fuller, of Iowa, in causing him to speak of the Nicaragua Canal Company's project as a "grand enterprise. A greater misrepresentation could not have been made. Mr. Fuller substantially said that it was a "grand enterprise, which he hoped to see consummated. He only desired that the bill should be so amended as to properly protect the stockholders and the public.

"Death never sells out," was remarked by The Critic yesterday, referring to the death of James C. Flood, the benighted king. A motion to rescind that statement is now in order, for this morning's dispatches announce that Mr. Flood is not dead, and that some hopes are entertained of his recovery.

The Haytian Government is setting its sister republics a bad example: the defeated candidate for the presidency having undertaken to capture the National Palace, or White House, by force of arms. In this endeavor his valor proved too much for his discretion and paid the penalty with his life. He should have resorted to an electoral commission.

Judge Thurman, contrived to get safely home, although at one or two points he found himself encircled by his Democratic friends. He has evidently come to the conclusion that the wisest thing to do is to husband his strength and trifle as little as possible with the infirmities of age. He undoubtedly has the physical ability to perform the duties of the Presidency, should they be devolved upon him, and will probably live many years yet, but after a man has passed seventy he should keep out of the racket of a political campaign as much as possible.

Editor Dawson, of the Charleston News and Courier, tells Mr. Carnegie is "Blaine's coadjutor." This may be excellent sarcasm, but it is his bid to reform politics. Mr. Carnegie's income is $1,500,000 a year, and if a "coadjutor" under protection gets wages like this, what's the matter with the tariff for the working classes?

Col. Murphy, the candidate of the County Democracy in New York for Sheriff, according to a New York Congressman, is a very thrifty man. He has been in receipt of an annual salary of $1,500 for the past seven years, and has by close economy and attention to business managed to save $300,000. This is a noble example to the cigarette-smoking, moon-poking, extravagant youth of our great and glorious Republic.

Mrs. William O'Sullivan Dimpfel, the "Baltimore society belle" who is playing in "The Paymaster," resigned Thursday night in Jersey City because her husband was not permitted to come behind the scenes. Mrs. Dimpfel will never be a successful actress until she trains her husband to Mrs. Langtry and Mrs. Potter were thrown tips.

Judge Thurman says Mr. Cleveland is killing himself by too much growth. All the same Mr. Cleveland had growing cadaverous to an alarming extent.

The only way to make the New York Sun support the Presidential nominee of the Democratic party is to nominate Charles A. Dana. He doesn't want the job, possibly, but if it were forced on him he couldn't get back on himself, personally.

NOTES AND GOSSIP.

GOVERNOR SCALDS OF NORTH CAROLINA was last Sunday ordained an elder of the Presbyterian Church in Greensboro.

ALTHOUGH small of stature, Chief Justice Fuller's new gown of office took more silk than the dress of a society woman.

MINISTER PHELPS will deliver the annual address in connection with the Scottish Juridical Society meeting at Glasgow in November.

Hon. Levi P. Morton was a guest of General George H. Sharpe at Kingston, N. Y., on Wednesday and attended the Masonic fair at that place.

CADET WILLIAM B. ROCHESTEY, jr., son of the Paymaster-General of the Army, has been discharged from the Annapolis Naval Academy on account of impaired vision.

THE LATE Marshal Bazaine of France left a brother who is a prominent engineer, and who has two sons, promising young officers in the French army.

SOME REMARKABLE fact was recently made on the Illinois lines of the Wash. Hall-way, several trains attaining a speed of seventy-five and even eighty miles an hour for short runs of from ten to twelve miles.

THE EMPRESS OF JAPAN has established a college for women, which is to be ruled by a committee of foreign ladies. Two of these are American, two English and the other two French and German, respectively.

This etymology of the word honeymoon is thus given by a good authority: "Among the southern nations of Europe there was an ancient practice of newly-married couples to drink methugen or mead, a kind of wine made from honey (hydromel) for thirty days after marriage. Hence the term honeymoon or honey-moon."

THE SIRE Rock Terrace, of Philadelphia, has been absent nearly five months without a soul on board. She has a cargo of petroleum worth at least $100,000, and her insurance policies are liable altogether to about $25,000. She was last boarded July 17, in the Pacific ocean, with no serious damage, but the loss of a rudder. The officers and crew who abandoned the ship have been severely censured by a board of inquiry at Hiro, Japan.

CRITICAL.

Representative Kilgore should secure a class and go to giving "object-lessons in legislation."

Hill has gone to Indiana. Blaine is out there, too. Now he'll get the red bandana. And blaze away young Tippecanoe.

"Daniel," remarked the President this morning, in malarial tones as he looked out at the heavy gray sky and pressed his hand upon his liver.

"Yes, sire," responded Daniel, indignantly. "Did you know that 'Kay,' Mrs. Cleveland's St. Bernard, had disappeared?"

"No, sire, has he?" "Yes, Daniel, he has."

"Was he stolen, sire? We will call in the secret service officers."

"No, Daniel," and the President's voice grew as full of shadows as the woods at twilight are. "No, there is no use looking for him now. True to his instincts, Daniel, Kay has scented danger in the air, and, like the noble St. Bernard that he is, has gone forth betimes to meet the November storm, which, in an avalanche, may fall upon us and snow us under forever. Ah, Daniel, would I knew more dogs."

The President sighed heavily. Daniel caught a neuralgic pain in his shoulder and the two men gazed together in deep dejected restlessness.

What's the matter with the editor? Oh, he's all white.

On the Avenue: She: Who is that lady? He—evasively: Oh, she's a friend of mine. She—with womanly charity: Well, you ought to tell her bustles have gone out. He—brilliantly: Yes, I notice her's has gone out with her bustles.

"I am opposed unutterably and irrevocably to all monopolies, of whatever kind," remarked Mr. Paul E. Tiques to his best girl last evening.

"You would have me think as you do, Paul?" she asked, tenderly. "Yes, Margaret," he answered, and just then Mr. Tiques' hated rival was shown to, and Margaret smiled with such a radiant loveliness that Mr. Tiques got out as quick as he could and rushed away to join the Ultra Monopoly Trust (Limited).

DUFFY'S PURE MALT WHISKEY A Scientific Remedy, A Beverage.

No disease can possibly remain locked in the body if this Great Remedy is carefully and constantly used. From Wm. F. Carter, State Chemist of Connecticut, says: "I have analyzed a great number of Whiskey Whiskies, and I was surprised to find upon analysis, that Duffy's Malt Whiskey was absolutely pure, and I have found this to be the case in any other Whiskey I had examined. These facts must commend it to general use and give favor to it."
