Official Paper of Nez Perce County.

General Otis advises the war department that the Oregon regiment will leave for the United States this week. It will be sent direct to Portland for muster out at Vancouver barracks.

Senator Heitfeld says General Merriam will be called to a reckoning for the act of signing the order requiring laboring men to sign a permit before they engaged in mining in Shoshone county. He says the first report of this order in Washington created a sensation in the department of justice.

Attorney General Hays says it will be impossible for the state to convict the Cœur d'Alene rioters in Shoshone county. The defendants can demand separate trials, and it will be impossible to get juries in that county. He had hoped to hand the prisoners over to the federal courts, but Mr. Cozier does not seem to want them.

A prominent attorney, who fully comprehends the situation at Wallace, says the unwarranted proceedings of the state administration will be the cause of the escape from just punishment of every criminal that was implicated in the depredations of April 29th. He says the governor and his assistants fully realize this fact, and they are now almost ready to collapse with despair. They realize the great mistake they made when they declared martial law indefinitely.

The shipment of Oregon hogs from this place and the investment of large sums of money with our merchants on the occasion, is a substantial argument in favor of extended roads to outlying districts. The road to Wallawa county has grown, by consistent effort of the Oregon people, till it is passable, and the trade from that section is very considerable. There are other districts which offer us their trade if they can reach this market by good roads. The mining, as well as the farming belts, demand better roads.

The miners' unions of this state unite 2000 votes by fraternal ties and they have been permanently united against Stuenenbergism from a date prior to last election. There was no hope of a truce. This political power was a perpetual menace that well nigh blasted the governor's hopes for senatorial honors. The destruction of that political opposition was an alluring motive for the declaration of martial law and for the perpetuation of a military dictatorship. This destruction of a political power is commended by the party organs. The plea that the dictatorship is necessary is deceiving other newspapers. The governor is being applauded by the republican papers for his intrigue in the name of law and order. That solid vote of two thousand members of the miners' unions of the state is the object of this righteous indignation.

Senator Shoup occupies an enviable position in his relation to the government and in the hearts of the people. His course in office during the times that tried so many western men gave him honors in republican councils, and at the same time retained a place for him in the hearts of the people of his native state. It has been said of the senator that he had more power in the manipulation of the political affairs of his district than any other member of the senate. It is a fact that none can dispute that Senator Shoup has served his constituents well. He has been an honest and indefatigable worker in the interests of his state. He has done much to give Idaho the high standing that is now accorded our proud new state. He is a man of the people, a pioneer who knows his state's every need, and his wealth, his energy and his abilities have been devoted to the duties of his office.

It is the opinion of the Hailey News-Miner that scrub newspapers are injuring the state more than the Wardner riot, but fortunately all of these agencies cannot do any permanent harm because every state in the union has experienced outbreaks and riots, and will continue to do so. In fact, strikes and riots have become so common in some states that the state papers rarely consider them worthy of any particular attention. No one objects to the ferreting out and punishment of the men concerned in the blowing up of the Bunker Hill mill, but that does not imply that the whole country is to be held up and mines closed down by arbitrary power. Whenever the military in America makes it a business of suppressing labor organizations it will be a sorry day, for the common people will then stop fighting for America and the Standard Oil trust and a thousand other similar trusts.

The delay in the consummation of the Big Buffalo transfer has been the occasion of general comment since June 1st. The break in the transaction has caused a general business disturbance. The restlessness, however, is due to a misconception of the true conditions. The statement is freely made that the great mine has not lost value by the development. The ore still shows high values, and the quantity is assured by the explorations. The failure of the consummation of the big deal is the result of contention on the part of the promoters. It is generally believed that Sweeney and Clark, who forfeited the bond, will still become the purchasers of the mine and the original owners will receive the full amount of the consideration named in the bond just forfeited. At any rate, enough is known to warrant the continuance of the utmost confidence in the district. There is enough ore in sight to make Buffalo a very rich camp.

The G. A. R. encampment has brought many guests to our doors. The old veterans grow older as these annual gatherings come around with the years. We should honor them in the name of Liberty, and pay them the respect due the aged. The G. A. R. organization is losing membership from year to year by the hand of death, but the influence of the order does not wane. This order is the cradle of patriotism. The influence of the organized veterans who saved the union inspires the young generation of American soldiers. The victories of our arms over foreign foes are due in a measure to the examples of deeds of valor kept green in the memory by the regular gatherings of these old veterans and their recitals over the fraternal campfires. Every young soldier at San Juan or at Santa Ana had an example to emulate, some ideal veteran in mind. The heroes of ancient history do not impress the soldier as the examples of living heroes. The G. A. R. meetings keep these noble examples of valor ever before the young men who make our armies of young heroes. The G. A. R. is the modern school of patriotism, and the old heroes who are in our midst to day inspired the young heroes of the war with Spain and the Philippines.

Idaho Fruits at Omaha.

Five medals were received recently for fruits which Mr. Wessels had on exhibition at Omaha last fall. Mr. Wessels received two for what might be classed as his own work. One gold medal was given for the best collection of fruits and one for the best work of preservation in liquid. Mr. Wessels also received one silver medal for the best collection in jars and a bronze medal for the best quality of fruit in jars.

These medals are good advertisements for this locality as a fruit district. The display arrived too late at Omaha after the Spokane fruit fair was concluded to be included with the state exhibit. Mr. Wessels however secured space and displayed our fruits for a time with telling effect.

Mr. Wessels has been an indefatigable worker in the promotion of our fruit interests and he deserved the recognition he received at this great fair. He deserves the gratitude of all our fruit growers for his efforts to build up the industry and to promote the interests of this district at the various fairs which he has attended in the past few years.

Perils of the Mountains.

A horrible accident is reported to have occurred near the mouth of Rapid river. A pack train of fourteen horses, all tailed to each other started up a high bluff overlooking the Big Eddy on the Little Salmon. The leaders made an effort to climb a steep place on the bluff, but were pulled back by the others and fell over the bluff. In a moment the whole outfit had gone over the edge and were struggling in the eddy.

The drivers made frantic efforts to rope the struggling animals and pull some of them out. As, however, they had mostly fallen in a confused mass, and were heavily packed, little could be seen of the train above the water, which runs swift at this point. Two of the drivers almost lost their lives, and every animal in the train was killed. The packs, up to the present, have not been recovered.—Grangeville Press.

New Newsome Strikes.

All the town is talking of the discoveries made by French Pete, N. B. Pettibone and others in the Newsome Creek country. Says the Grangeville press. The rock is not only rich, the gold in the specimens being visible to the naked eye, but there are from 18 to 30 feet of it in one case, and from 10 to 12 in another.

The exact locality of French Pete's great bonanza is above the old Clearwater station, between Summit flat and the old Pioneer diggings. Five locations have now been made, the first being that of French Pete and Al. Wiles in partnership. Immediately on making the find, Pete bought out his partner Wiles for $1000 cash. The other locations are held by Joe Mitchell, W. Houston and J. Perkins. The ore prospects free gold in large quantities on crushing in the pan. N. B. Pettibone, who is now in town also made an important discovery east of the old Pioneer diggings. With John Schisler he found a ledge from 10 to 12 feet wide, the ore being free milling and yielding free gold in large quantities. They have four claims.

W. Houston, besides being on the first named discovery, made a strike further north of French Pete's location. He claims that the latter ledge crops out about 40 feet wide. The character and value of the ore has not been determined. He has some other locations between Santa Ana and Ten mile creek. In the Newsome Creek region, Chas. Heath is also reported to have gotten on to a good thing, and Jack Harmon is said to have made some good locations on Goat hill.

City Council Meeting.

The city council met in regular session Monday night. The question of license for meat peddlers came up in a petition presented by Attorney McFarland. An ordinance was asked by the established retail butchers fixing a license of four dollars a day. This rate was considered prohibitive and after discussions an amendment was passed fixing the license at $50 a quarter. The city attorney was instructed to prepare an ordinance to be passed at the next meeting. This action will permit peddlers to take out license for shorter time than a quarter at proportionate rates.

The usual monthly reports of officials and running expenses were read and approved or referred to appropriate committees. The reports of the justices of peace revealed the fact that Justice McConkey imposes only the light fine of one dollar upon ordinary drunks. This fine was generally paid with the costs. Justice Sweet's regular charge seems to have been from five to ten dollars for the same offense with very few cash payments.

The city had an entirely new source of expense during the past month. A pest house had been established on Snake river two miles above the city and three patients had been committed. Dr. Shaff explained that these men had not been afflicted with small pox or any other dangerous disease but it became necessary to isolate them because they presented a suspicious appearance and the public demanded their removal from the city. Two of the patients have recovered and the third will be discharged in a few days.

The question of the use of cement gravel upon the streets, a deposit of which has been found within the city limits was suggested by Commissioner Miller and endorsed by Councilman Wilkinson. The mayor and others did not favor expenditure of public money for such work. Others chimed in for more pretentious pavement or none.

The question of an arc light at the approach of the Snake river bridge was favorably considered and the light committee was authorized to have one established at some point to meet this demand.

Health Officer Sterling reported the existence of cesspools in connection with laundries different parts of the city, that were a menace to the health of the residence of these districts surrounding them. The health committee was instructed to abate the nuisance. Some of these laundries are located in districts that cannot be drained on account of the high water in the rivers.

The street commissioners called attention to the fact that Wood street which had recently been established had never been opened. He was instructed to open the same and put in the necessary cross walks.

The question of the dedication of the city park in accordance with the vote of the council at a former meeting was passed till the special meeting of Wednesday night when the attorney will prepare an ordinance setting apart the tract at the head of Fifth street grade for a public park. The council adjourned to meet Wednesday June 14th as a canvassing board and to attend other business which might properly come before them.

Vineland Management.

Prof. A. B. Leckenby, an expert of the United States Department of Agriculture, visited Vineland the other day. Prof. Leckenby had four years experience as chief advisor and irrigation expert to the great Kern County Land company of California, and has spent many years in study of colony work on irrigated lands. It is therefore of great interest to know that he endorses the methods of the management as being the best he has seen in vogue in any similar enterprise, and worthy of emulation by managers of other companies. The policy of the Vineland company is to encourage and assist the thrifty settler in all proper ways; not with money, but with easy payments for the lands, furnishing employment for surplus labor, and especially in giving each settler the benefit of years of study and experience in irrigation farming, and home building, while never interfering with a man's independence in thought and action. Careful restrictions in the contracts and deeds mutually protect all of the settlers, as well as the company, and are found to work well in practice.
