LICENSE AGENT RAPP and Officer Carter made cases against the following parties yesterday for keeping unlicensed bars: Robert T. Arlow, Mary McNally, Mathias Pabst, Frederick Rose and James Dennelly. erick Rose and James Dennelly.

SAMUEL Newton, colored, to-day, in the Criminal Court, pleaded guilty, in two cases, to receiving stolen property under the value of thirty-five dollars and was sent to jail for three months in each case.

Jall for three months in cach case.

HENRY JOHNSON was to-day convicted of breaking into the house of John M. Judge on the 30th of August last, and stealing a carpet. Judge Wylle gave him three years in the Eric County, N. Y., Penttentiary.

AT A. MEETING of the Washington Stock Exchange held Tuesday, November 14, Mr. Louis W. Morrison, of the firm of E. Morrison & Co., bankers and brokers, at No. 17 Wall street, N. Y., was elected a member of the above exchange by a unanimous vote.

RICHARD BATES, a slim, hard-looking darky, wasarrasjaned in the Criminal Court this morning on four indictments for second offense of petit larceny and pleaded guilty to each charge. His total sentence amounted to six years in the Eric County (N. Y.) Penttentiary.

THE police are looking for an individual, who represents himself as a private watch-man, named William Forrest. The man ar-rested a young man named Henry Iders last night and took him to the Fifth Precinct and had him lecked up for the night, on repre-sentations that he would appear against him to-day. Forrest failed to appear, and the prisoner and the police authorities are equally indignant.

SPECIAL LICENSE AGENT KAFF called Judge Shell's attention to-day to the case of Matthias Fabst, charged with keeping an unlicensed bar, and who has been represented by effects of Lieutenant Johnson's precinct as being sick and unable to appear. Mr. Raff says the man is not sick, and that the police virtually decline to arrest him. Judge Snell directed that complaint be made to Major Brock.

Prick.

Philip Hutchinson, through his counsel, Measts, Ross and Dean, to-day entered suit on the law side of the court against the District of Columbia, claiming $1,000 damages to his property, lots 7 and 8, in Uniontown. The injury was caused by constructing a pavement in such a manner as to divert a stream from its natural course and make it flow over his land, thereby depriving him of the use of it.

Douglas Jones and Irene Jones, an DOUGLAS JONES and Irene Jones, an aged colored couple, were charged in the Police Court to-day with making a joint assault on a woman, who procured a warrant against their daughter. The old woman said the whole neighborhood was fussin' and she didn't do any more than the rest of them. She said her ole' man was in de' house wid his shees off and didn't tech anybody. Judge Snell dismissed the cases on the old lady's evidence.

J. Middleton and Justice Weber.

WILLIAM LEACH and Mrs. Jane Dearbern were charged in the Folice Court to-day with being disorderly last night on Virginia avenue cast. Officer Edelin testified that the ndy was cursing and swearing and trying to keep the map from leaving her, while he was talking very loud and trying to get away from the woman. The defense denied the allegations of the loud and beisterous conduct, and claimed that Mrs. Dearborn had only been endeavoring to get Leach to go home to his supper. The man was acquitted and the other case continued.

In the Police Court this morning the six hoys charged with breaking into the house of Julian Tapp and stealing preserves, carpets, rooware, pictures, etc., were called up to the bar for sentence. Judge Snell told them that if they had been men instead of boys the oftence of which they had been charged would send them to the penitentiary for lifteen years. He did not wish to enter a conviction against them which would stand against them which would stand against them throughout all their lives, and was willing to take their personal bonds if they would promise not to be caught in any such scrape again. The boys gave their personal bonds and were released.

A Dead Woman's Two Husbands. The curious contest over the will of Mrs. Hardy, the woman who a few years ago was a great materializer, ended in Boston Saturday great materializer, ended in Boston Saturday in Judge Allen's decision that a Utah divorce is worthless in Massachusetts, Mrs. Hardy in 1877, while in the full tide of her success as a medium, decided that she wanted to marry Erra G. Perkins, a wealthy railroad contractor, who was her affinity. The objections of her husband, John Hardy, were didrest an obstacle, but they soon gave way before a rayment of 85,000, and then a Utah divorce was obtained and the second marriage followed. In 1877 Mrs. Perkins died, leaving a will bequeathing a large share of her worldly goods "io my husband." Both Hardy and Ferkins have been until to-day contending for the spoils. Now that the Utah divorce is worthless, because neither party ever came within the jurisdiction of the court which granted it, Hardy will have one-half of his wife's personal property.

On Trial for a Serious Offense.

The Criminal Court has been emgaged nearly all day in trying Maurice Connors, Patrick McNuity, and James Reynolds on the charge of committing a rape on a middle aged colored woman named Henricita Robinson, on the night of September 3. The evidence, much of it, is unfit for publication, but was pretty direct and sustained the charge laid against the parties.

Morris Connors, one of the accused, testified to having improper intimate relations with Henricita Robinson, as did the other defendants, but swore that it was with her consent.

Fatrick McNuity, another of the defendants, admitted that he solicited certain privileges with the woman, but she refused, and he defield having having touched her.

James Reynolds, the third defendant, denied offering any violence to the woman.

The Potomac Flats Contract. Hain's hitch in awarding the contract for dredging the Polomac River has caused con-siderable excitement, but not half as much as the large stock of clothing on exhibition at Lew Newmeyers, 734 Seventh street northwest, at the very lowest figures.

In an interview yesterday, F. H. Fall admitted his guilt in the following terms:
Fall said if he were convicted he would be a marryr to the bepartment of Justice; that he was employed to get evidence, which, if submitted to Judge Wylle, would break the jury; that his reports were filed with Browster Cameron, and that the agreement to be signed by Brown was approved by Browster Canecon. "No offer was made to Brown," he said. "It is true he was tricked for the purpose of procuring evidence to show that he could be bought."

THE DREDGING CONTRACT.

Say.

Late yesterday afterneon General Wright, Chief of Engineers, forwarded to Secretary Lincoln the letter of Major P. C. Hains relative to the dreeding of the Fotomac flats, General Wright recommends that the bid of W. H. Adams, the lowest bidder, be rejected, and that the bid of P. Sanford Ross be accepted and the contract awarded him. The Department, after careful inquiry into the reponsibility of Mr. Adams, concluded that be could not perform the work in a satisfactory manner.

sponsibility of Mr. Adams, concluded that he could not perform the work in a satisfactory manner.

The award of the contract for dredging in connection with the reclamation of the Fotomac Flats having been made to F. S. Ross, of Jersey City, the next lowest bidder, instead of to Mr. W. H. Adams, of Washington, the lowest bidder by a considerable figure on the amount, the matter has stirred up considerable comment and Adams' friends are buddly crying "foul play." The latter claim that Mr. Adams is thoroughly responsible and can do the work equally as well as his New Jersey competitor, Major Haines and the War Department to the contrary notiwithstanding, and that the whole transaction smacks of crookedness. They argue also, that if Mr. Adams can give a good and sumicient bond for the faithful performance of the work, which they state he can do, that that in itself acvidence enough of his ability and responsibility in the matter.

Secretary Lincoln

said in reference to the matter this afternoon that Major Harris had convinced him fully of Adams' irresponsibility, and he had accordingly sanctioned the award being made to the next lowest responsible bidder.

The Secretary refused to allow members of the press access to Major Haines' report, but taye out the following, which is General Wright's indersement on the papers:

"OFFICE OF CHIEF OF ENGINEERS,"
"Respectfully submittied to the Hon, Secretary of War."

In view of the statements contained in the within communication from Major P. C. Hains, iary of War."

In view of the statements contained in the within communication from Major P. C. Hains, I concur in his recommendation, that the bid of W. H. Adams, the lowest received, for dredging in the Potomac River, near Washington, be rejected, and that the bid of Mr. P. Sanford Hoss, of Jersey City, the lowest responsible bidder, be accepted. The magnitude of the work and the great importance attached to its proper performance, induces me, however, to submit the papers for consideration.

Chief of Engineers, Brig, and Bvt, Major-Gen.

What the Chief of Engineers Says.
General Wright is absent from the city, but General Parke, who is acting as Chief of Engineers, was seen by a Chiric reporter.

He said the papers had not been returned to him from the War Department yet, and that he knew nothing of the case only in a general way, as the transaction had been solely between Major Hains and General Wright.

Later in the afternoon the papers were returned to General Parke, and by him transmitted to Major Hains.

It is knderstood that Major Haines' recommendations form quite a volumnious document, and the fact that Secretary Lincoln refused to allow the contents to be seen is prima facie evidence that the Major speaks in unvanguished terms of Adams "incompetency."

Rushing Ross Through.

Rushing Ross Through.
It is understood the contract with Ross will be entered into at once, as no doubts appear to have arisen as to his responsibility, and that the latter will at once remove his paraghanalla to this city, in order that operations may begin as soon as practicable.

The dredging machines that will begin the work of "reclaiming" are now lying in New York harbor, while it is said arrangements will be made with the firm who excavated Hell Gate for the use of a number of their scows. The impression is that not much real work will be done before spring, as nearly the whole winter will be required for the preliminaries.

What Mr. Adams Says.

Areporter of The Carrie met Mr. Adams at Areporter of THE CRITIC met Mr. Adams at the corner of Four-and-a-half street and the Avenue to-day, and asked him how it was that he falled to get the contract for the improvement of the Profome flats.

Mr. Adams said: "There is a ring, and it had to have the contract. Tom Murphy is the man that beat me. He is a warm personal friend of Major Lydecker's father and of President Arthur. The District Commissioners put themselves to a great deal of trouble to prove that I was a falling contractor."

"What had that to do with the contract?"

"Nothing that I can see."

"Were your bondsmen responsible?"

"There were. They were not questioned by anybody."

Then how do you account for the action of Major Hains in awarding the contract to Ross & Co., when you were the lowest bidder, and had offered a good and sufficient bond?

An Engineer Ring. A reporter of THE CRITIC met Mr. Adams a

An Engineer Ring.

"If there is one thing better known in this country than another it is the fact that if there is a ring in this Government it is in the Engineers Department."

"What is the difference between your bid and that of the successful parties?"

"About 1 and 2.10 cents per cubic yard, amounting to about $19,000 to $23,000, all profit. The firm that got the contract are very close to Murphey, which, in my opinion, accounts for the milk in the coconnut."

Adams' Bond Unquestionably Good.
"Mr. Adams, you say your bond was unquestioned by the Department?"
"I do so say. My bond was as good a bond as the parties to whom the contract is awarded has offered or can offer."
"Did Hains offer any reason other than that you were alleged to be a falling contractor for awarding the contract to the other and higher bidders?"
"Yes. He did not set that up as a valid objection, but protended to base his objection on the fact that I had not sufficient engineering ability."
"Is it usual for contractors to be good engineers?"

"Is it usual for contractors to be good engineers;"
"I believe not; but I have had more practical experience than those to whom he awarded the contract, But wait awhile and you will see and hear more on this subject."

The Feeling Throughout the City.

The Feeling Throughout the City.

The feeling of disgust at the action of Secretary Lincoin, General Wright and Major Hains in awarding the contract to the next lowest bidder is general throughout the city. The fact that the Secretary, in carrying out the recommendations of General Wright and Major Hains, fails to state specifically wherein Mr. Adams is not a responsible bidder, adds to this feeling very materially. The correspondence between Secretary Lincoin, General Wright and Major Hains is not obtainable at the War Department, orders having been issued not to allow any one access to the papers, if these papers show that Mr. Adams has ever been a failing contractor, or that he is not fully able to carry out the contract, it would seem that the public cought to know there facts. Why pigeon-hole the correspondence? Why not let the public know, as it is entitled to know, all the facts bearing on the subject?

A Few Reportorial Side Remarks A Few Reportorial Side Remarks.

The Chitic ventures to predict that it will not be so easy for General Wright to satisfy Senators Ransom, Vest, Gorman and Conger that the Government owed P. Sandford Ross $20,000 worth of favoritism, as it seems to have been for him to convince the Secretary of War to that effect. It is worth while to note as we go along that there has been a good deal of lodging of direct responsibility in this matter, finits turned it over to Wright, Wright passed it along to Secretary Lincoln with a private recommendation." Way private "Why not public? Did anybody suppose that the facts could be hid? It is a very singular transaction. About the only wise thing that has been done in the premises has been the able dodging of responsibility by the army officers who are involved.

GRAND JURY WORK. Another Batch of Indictments, In cluding Five More Against Bigelow.

The Grand Jury brought indictments into court this morning against the following par-court this morning against the following parties:

Laocodie Pamort, otherwise called Leocodie Fommort, grand forceny of goods from H. L. Donsman (three cases).
Wilmot Robey, allas George Wilmot, second effense petit farceny.
Charles Major, allas Charlos Jackson, larceny of $400 from George W. Adams.
Henry W. Fenner, murder of Samuel Nugent (account indement).
Benjamin F. Bigelow, embezzlement from the National Bank of the Republic, as follows: June 11, 1882, 4747-23; June 3, 1882, $11,178,13; also an indictment charging him with violating section 5200 of the Revised Statutes on June 9, 1882, in ombezzling and misapilying 8307-13, certain of the moneys and funds of the National Bank of the Republic, These tive indictments are in addition to the eight brought in yesterday, making thirteen in all against Mr. Bigelow.

This morning in the Criminal Court Mrs. belva A. Leckwood said that she saw on the sesignment the cases garinst B. Frank Bige-low for arrangument. The Court knew that the was on the bond of Mr. Bigelow, and she wished to say that Dr. Adams had informed are that he was confined to his bed and had her that he was confined to his bed and had not left his room since his release from juil. Assistant District Attorney Taggert said from statements made to him, he was under the impression that Mr. Bigelow was not as sick as ewould like to have it appear, and unless he came forward in a short time to answer he should ask for the issuing of a bench warrant. Mrs. Lockwood attempted to reply, but the Court declined to hear further discussion at this time.

Masonic Mutual Relief.

The annual meeting of the Masonic Mutual Relief Association for the election of officers was held last night at Odd-Fellows' Hall, over 600 people being in attendance.

Captain Burritt introduced a resolution that no new classes should be organized under the association, and the resolution was adopted. A resolution that voters should write their names on the backs of tickets was laid on the table.

Twelve tellers were then appointed, and the Twelve tellers were then appointed, and the Twelve tellers were then appointed, and the election of seven directors for three-year terms and four to serve out unexpired terms was proceeded with.

The two tickets were strongly canvassed, the points of difference between the two factions being a complaint that the present directors are sacrificing the interests of the association to serve those of the Washington Heneficial Endowment Association. The association, however, vindicated the present directors by electing the whole regular ticket.

The votes were as follows: Regular ticket—Joseph Hamacher, 331; A. K. Williams, 324; John A. Focs, 313; Charles J. Watson, 336; B. F. Fuller, 301; N. M. Farker, 324; Samuel C. Mills, 303; Joseph M. Wilson, 318; William Merts, 323; Morris Thorne, 319; Richard G. Mulls, 303; Joseph M. Wilson, 318; William Merts, 323; Morris Thorne, 319; Richard G. Mauss, 319. Opposition—W. V. Lesh, 206; J. M. Vale, 200; Thomas B. Cross, 212; Jesse W. Lee, 206; A. T. Langley, 227; W. T. Walker, 203; R. Goodhart, 201; Edward Turkenton, 206; H. H. Gerdes, 205; The soven receiving the highest number of votes were elected for three years, the four next highest take the places for the short terms caused by resignations.

OFFICE KEY INCLINE PLANE FIRE-ESCAPE,

1202 F STREET N. W., Nov. 15, 1882.

To the Editor of The Escaing Oritic:

Many thanks for the kind mention of my fire-escape in THE CHITIC of yesterday. There are some few errors, however, which "I rise to explain." It was not announced that any one would jump from the roof onto the escape, although I would have done so if the gentleman in charge of the building had not objected. Myzelf and many others jumped from the third and fourth story, instead of the second and third, as your reporter has it. I also threw out from the fourth story glasses, creckery and either articles, which were safely landed on the ground.

I wish to apologize to the public for the despin arranging the escape yesteriay, which was from the fact that the scarce was a second and search the control of the second of the second of the ground.

the ground.

I wish to apologize to the public for the deay in arranging the escape yesteriary, which was from the fact that the escape used was made for a permanent attachment and not a portable one. The wide hall windows of the Corcoran building, which I was compelled to use, gave some unexpected trouble in hanging the escape. I am not a professional Jumper and when I jumped from the top of the Marble building, near Ford's Opera-House, last Saturday, 'It was my first attempt at grand and lofty tumbling, but I have such condidence in my escape that I will risk my file in proving it by jumping from the top of any structure interesting the states. I will have another public exhibition of the escape at one of the public schools in a few days, when I hope to prove that the portable escape can be attached to the building at the top story and 100 persons fast the same time with one of my largest esized escapes, as well as any kind of property from mirrors to iron safes. Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

M. P. Khy.

One of the greatest luxuries to a family is to know where to get good groceries at reasonable prices. Nothing tends to healthfulness so much as healthy food, good bread, sound meats, healthy vegetables, pure sugars, good toa and articles found in first-class goveries, and of the many places in the city where such goods are for sale, there is not one that sur-passes in quality and bottom prices Mr. Cor-nell's, 1004 Y street northwest. He pledges all whe give him a call to satisfy them that his is the place to buy greecries.
