

Governor Still To Appoint Magistrates

the Senate this week. A number of new bills have been introduced during the past week relating particularly to Maui county. Among these is a bill asking for $5000 for the purpose of building a road to the Waleli rifle range of the national guard, in the sand hills below Wailuku. It was submitted by Paschoal in the House.

Molokai residents also want a new wharf at Pukoo, and to that end a bill was introduced on Monday by Waiholo to appropriate $15,000 for the purpose.

New Style Doctoring Wanted
A petition was presented by Representative Tavares this week from Maui residents, asking that the bill to permit chiropractic doctors being allowed to practice in the territory be passed. It has not learned here who or how many signed the petition. The new method of drugless treatment has been trying to get a foothold in the islands for several years, but is being opposed by the regular school of medical practitioners.

Loa Embankment Bill Pau
Paschoal's bill to provide $15,000 for the purpose of building an embankment on loa stream to prevent future overflows, failed to pass, being tabled in the House.

The same fate overtook two of Tavares's bills each relating to corporation and corporation exhibits.

Lobsters Protected, Amaama No
Wilder's bill to protect lobsters and crabs passed in the House by a narrow margin, but his bill to make a closed season for mullet failed by a large majority. The law which at present protects mullet, runs out in a short time, after which it will be legal to take the toothsome amaama at any and all seasons.

Rabbit Bill Passes House
Tavares's bill to permit the raising of rabbits for meat purposes, passed the House on Monday, and has gone to the Senate. If it gets through it will take the bunnies out of the class of pets, under which alone they may be harbored at present, and place them in the commercial class.

No Increase For Queen
A bill to increase Queen Liliuokalani's pension from $1250 per month to $1500 per month, was tabled in the House.

Hana Women Want Dentists
Sixty-six mothers in the Hana district have petitioned the legislature to make provision for free dental attention of school children. The petition was presented the first of this week, and at last reports had not been acted on.

Woman Suffrage Resolution
Senator Shingle this week introduced a concurrent resolution calling up on the Congress to give the Hawaiian legislature the right to put to vote the people the question of woman suffrage. It is believed that this resolution will carry, inasmuch as both parties have such a plank in their platforms.

Shingle's other concurrent resolution calling on the Congress to provide for election of governor and secretary of Hawaii, died on the Senate table.

House Passes Lyons Bill
House Bill 129, to pay Thomas Benjamin Lyons $590 for the use and occupancy of his land by the Royal

School, Honolulu, passed the House last week, and is now in the Senate.

Macadam For Belt Road
Representative Tavares has asked for $80,000 from the loan fund, in H. B. 231, for macadamizing the Maui belt road from the Pauwela depot to the juncture with the Kaupakalua road.

Tavares's bill No. 87 to reduce the rate of interest on homesteads from 8 percent to 5 percent per annum, was tabled in the House.

Married Teacher Bill Killed
The same fate overtook Brown's bill to prevent married women, whose husbands received salaries of $125 or more per month from teaching in the public schools.

More Compensation Law Amendments
Representative Walsh has introduced another of the several bills already in the legislature intended to amend Act 221, S. L. 1915, being commonly known as the workman compensation law. Walsh's bill is No. 226 and the amendments proposed are all of minor character.

Walsh After Truants
Walsh has also got a bill through the House (H. B. 161) requiring deputies sheriff or police to visit all schools at least once each week to ascertain what pupils persist in absenting themselves, and to enforce the truancy in such cases.

Board Of Health Slammed
For some reason or other the board of health seems to be having bad luck with its bills. Not only did it lose nearly half a million dollars from its estimates at the hands of a senate committee a week ago, but it has since had bills giving it instruction to handle the milk supply of Honolulu, turned down, a bill providing for the mitigation of nuisances killed, and a measure providing for system of district nurses to work with tuberculosis cases, also got the ax.

Let Little Lobsters Look Out
Representative Paschoal has no heart for the little lobster. As a member of the House committee considering the bill to protect the delectable crustacean, he joined forces with Mossman, of Oahu in handing in a minority report. He and Mossman also joined forces in similar action against the bill to provide a closed season for mullet.

WON HAT BUT LOST IT

They'd not bet, but before the last territorial election Representative Tavares of Maui agreed that if Dr. J. H. Raymond was beaten by George P. Cooke by less than four hundred votes in the Maui senatorial race he would present William H. Engle with a ten-dollar Panama hat. Of course the offer was also made otherwise were the result to be different. Tavares won the hat, but has lost it. The Panama went overboard from the Claudine last Wednesday night when the Maui member was returning from a brief visit to the Valley Island. What's the use!—Advertiser.
