Puunene School To Try Garden Contest

Principal Brown Tells Of Enthusiasm In His School And Makes Some Good Suggestions To Committee In Charge Of Work

Puunene, Maui, T. H., May 15, 1917. Editor, Maui News. Dear Sir: You may be interested to know that the pupils of the Puunene School are taking a lively interest in the garden contest that is being promoted by the Maui County Fair and Racing Association.

Gardening activity is now at a very great disadvantage in comparison with conditions that existed a few weeks ago. The warm weather is a decided hindrance to the natural inclination of the pupils to exert themselves physically. It also makes plants harder to start and increases insect pests. But we trust that we may overcome all obstacles and make a creditable showing in the contest.

Table with 9 columns: No. of Row, Condition Of Ground, Kind Of Seed, Date Planted, Appearance Of Plant, Stand, Date Of Harvest, Value Of Product. Includes a form for gardeners to fill out.

State Forests with a total of over 3,600,000 acres have been established in thirteen States. Of these New York has the largest forests, which comprise 1,826,000 acres; Pennsylvania is second with 1,008,000 acres, and Wisconsin third with 400,000 acres.

to sell vegetables. Our sales for this season have amount to $58.25. This has a greater significance than might at first appear. The greatest value connected with it is its influence on the education of the pupils. The activity is purely practical and it is an abrupt departure from the theoretical which always been one of the chief faults of our school system and it still remains such. In addition to the practical vocational training provided by this department of our school, we are doing our mite in feeding the community by selling clean, wholesome vegetables at about half the price charged by professional gardeners.

We are laboring under the difficulty, however, of not having a well arranged set of rules and regulations covering the competition. We should know at the earliest possible a moment just what elements the judges will take into consideration in granting us credit. A game of any kind cannot be played without rules. The rules should be provided before the game is called. In order to make sure of lasting benefits from this series of experiments, a careful system of records should be required. Gardeners of the future should be able to learn from our experience just when to plant the different kinds of seeds in the different localities to get the best results.

Very respectfully, E. A. BROWN.

High Praise For Scouts Director Mathews, who is also boy scout commissioner for Maui has just received a letter from James E. West, chief scout executive of the national organization, which should be most gratifying not only to the scouts of Maui in particular but to the Islands as well. Mr. West was replying to a report furnished by Mr. Mathews on the work of the Maui scouts particularly with reference to the food preparedness work being done.

The letter follows: New York City, May 1st, 1917. My dear Mr. Mathews: We are extremely pleased with your very fine letter of the 18th, received today. I assure you it is gratifying to know that the scouts of the Hawaiian Islands are responding in such a splendid manner to the needs of our country. The food situation is most important and the practical services of the scouts throughout the states and the Hawaiian Islands will, we feel confident, result in very material aid to the cause to which we are all devoted.

Please give to the scouts and the men who are so generously working with them in Maui the greetings and best wishes of the National Headquarters and myself personally. Very sincerely yours, JAMES E. WEST, Chief Scout Executive.
