time to involve us in the strife, and to force us to give the pretext. Nevertheless, impatient as she was for our co-operation, she was herself deranged and disorganized, adopting every year a new constitution, and nearly every month taking for her executive organ some new and more reckless and ferocious cabal, and thus was unable to assure us against the treachery of her own domestic factions.

Well did Jefferson, Secretary of State to Washington, while defending the policy of his immortal chief, declare that if the United States "had panted for war as much as ancient Rome—if their armies had been as effective as those of Prussia—if their coffers had been full and their debts annihilated "—even then peace would have been too precious to have been put at hazard against odds so fearful, with an ally more dangerous than the enemy. And what was the condition of the United States, that they should have periled all in the domestic fury of France, or on the angry tide of her foreign gendlicts? An infant country, sunk deep in debt, without any land or naval force, with an armed enemy on her borders, and from necessity paying tribute at the same time to the African Corsairs; nay, worse—unable to obtain their forbearance, because unsuccessful in borrewing funds to pay the tribute money. What less than madness would it have been to have entered into closer alliance, and to have assumed more intimate ties with a nation whom they could not have aided, and in the same time force, with a nation whom they could not have aided, and in the same time to the force, with a nation whom they could not have aided, and in the same time to the force, with a nation whom they could not have aided, and in the same time to the force, with a nation whom they could not have aided, and in the same time to the first business in order being the reconsideration of the vote, by which the bill for the discipline of the navy was defeated.

TELEGRAPH TO THE PACIFIC

Mr. DOUGLAS presented a memorial of Henry O'Rielly proposing to establish a line of telegraphic communication between the Atlantic and Pacific States.

Mr. D. said the momorialist asked no donation of land or money. All he asked from the government was protection; and he suggested that the line of military posts required by existing laws might be so arranged as to afford the necessary protection, by making the posts twenty miles apart, and reducing the number of men in each to twenty. This arrangement of the stations would afford suitable protection to emigrants, and the men might also be employed in carrying the mail. The memorial was referred to the Committee on

He then referred to the period when the policy of neutrality with respect to the affairs of foreign nations was established, showing the ground upon which it was at that time based.

The policy of neutrality, established by that proclamation, he contended, had never been departed from by the legislative authorities of the

Finally, he submitted to the Senate, that, if at any future time Hungary should be placed in such a position as to afford us an opportunity of making good our word, whether we should not be bound in honor to do it.

Mr. BELL said he had, for some time past, desired to be heard upon this subject; and he suggested that some early day might be assigned him.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS.

Mr. STUART, of Mich., stated that the previous question had been carried, when the bill was formerly under discussion, against the wish of the chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, and thus forced the House to a vote. He contended that the reasons given for the immediate passage of the bill, were not founded in fact. He doubted that the reasons given for the immediate passage of the bill, were not founded in fact. He doubted the power of Congress and the policy of passing the proposed law, which, however proper in time of war, was, he said, unfitted to a season of peace. He referred to the necessity of remodelling the entire system of pay, pensions, and place in the navy, and the propriety of turning out officers who are a disgrace to the service; and concluded by expressing a desire that the spit was formerly under discussion, against the wish of the chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, and thus forced the House to a vote. EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS.

The PRESIDENT, pro tem. laid before the Senate a report of the Secretary of the Navy, made in compliance with a resolution of the Senate, in relation to the expediency of a reconnoisance of the routes of navigation in the northern seas and in the China and Japan seas.

[The Secretary expresses the opinion that the interests of navigation require such a reconoisance, and states that there are no vessels belonging to the service which can properly be assigned to it, but that the necessary vessels can be built for a sum not exceeding $125,000.]

The PRESIDENT pro tem. also laid before the Senate a communication from the Secretary of War, transmitting, in compliance with a resolution, a report of the chief of the Ordnance Bureau as to the expediency of establishing suitable depots for the preservation of gunpowder belonging to the United States.

The communications were referred, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. COOPER also expressed a desire to speak upon the subject, and he hoped that some day next week might be fixed for the further consideration of the resolution.

Mr. BADGER said he commenced a speech on the compromise resolution in the early part of February last, and he should be glad to have an opportunity of completing it. He would give notice therefore, that he should to-morrow morning move to take up that resolution to fix some day for its consideration. He should do it less on his own occount, however, than on account of his friend from Mississippi, [Mr. Brooke,] who wished to speak upon the resolution.

The non-intervention resolution was then postponed until Tuesday next, and After the consideration of executive business, the Senate adjourned.

The most distinguished Surgeons in the city have promised, whenever they can do so conveniently, to perform operations before the class.

Doctors R. LEBBY and J. S. MITCHELL, who have each a large obstetrical practice, will (as well as the teachers.) give the Students access to all of their cases of this description, which they can with propriety be allowed to visit.

In short, ample opportunities will be afforded for acquiring practical, as well as theoretical knowledge of the profession.

THE GLOBE—THE CONCRESSIONAL ARWS-PAPER.

THE approach of Congress calls for the renewal of my proposals and preparations to spread its debates before the public. The success which has hitherto attended this undertaking it is hoped will continue, and enable me to perpetuate the full history of the proceedings and discussions of the body on which the destiny of the Republic depends.

body on which the destiny of the Republic depends.

The adoption of Congress has given the Glosk an official character as the reporter of all that is said and done in the body. This sanction has been voted at every successive session for many years, and by members of all parties. The press, too, of all parties has borne testimony to the fidelity with which the duty thus confided has been performed. The annexed notices, taken at random from the general expression in favor of the work, are submitted in proof of its fullness, fairness, and usefulness. I am compelled to omit, for want of room, a page of notices which are in type

The following are the rules that I have adopted:

1. Principal Office to be in New Orleans, where I shall confine myself striotly to the interest of my agencies alone, for which I shall charge the usual commissions, or such as may be agreed upon.

2. I shall confine myself striotly to the cash principla accompanying my orders (when a draft can be had for the amount) with a sight check; when not so accompanied, the publisher can draw order, or if requested in writing, I will enclose the cash itself and remit, but in all such cases it shall be at the risk of the Publisher.

3. Publishers wishing me to act for them are expected to furnish me with written authority, and send me specimen copies of their publications free of charge.

My object is to establish a General Section.

The Danty Glong will be published during the session on a superfine double royal sheet. It will contain the debates as taken down by the reporters on the debates as taken down by the reporters on the debates as taken down by the reporters. It will contain the debates as taken down by the reporters, and as sitered by the speakers, whenever they make any alterations; the current news of the day, and miscellaneous matter. at Prattayille, Autanga county, Alabama.

Their arrangements for manufacturing are extensive and complete, which will enable them to furnish Gins to planters on the most favorable terms. As to the supernority of their Gins, they have only to refer to the reputation which the manufacture and sale of over 10,000 has acquired for them throughout the entire cotton growing region.

From 25 years experience, with every facility and good workmen, they are confident that they will be able to give satisfaction to all who may patron ize them.
