PREFARATORY NOTICE.

The enterprise in which we now embark, and of which this paper is at once the commencemer t, and a sample of the papers that are to follow, t as for its aim no leas a purpose, than to impart instruction, in the general and detail, to the Officer and Agents of the American public, in respect both to their duties and their rights, and to make them, and the people at large, acquainted with the organization, decisions and assion of the Executive departments of their Government. There has hithesto been no vehicle for the regular and proper communication of information of this kind. The publication of the Laws and the issue of instructions, more or less extended, have proved wholly imadequate, in the absence of the construction of those Laws, as applied to particular cases, and of details and illustrations to make the regulations and in structions intelligible. The valuable documents annually reported to Congress, are too voluminous, and are printed in quantities too small for general circulation; whilst the debates in Congress and the commentaries of the preas upon their proceedings, and the proceedings of the Executive branch of the Government, besides turning mostly upon general principles, address themselves only to narty ends, and to matters of national policy? These publications in their various forms are highly useful in themselves as far as they go, and some of them indispensable; but there is much that do not reach the hands of all, nor if they did, do they furnish those rules, methods, and examples, for the despatch of the public business which can render the discharge of public duty either asfe or easy, whether in respect to the incumbent himself, or the department or bureau under which he acts. We shall make an honest effort to supply this vacuum, and to provide for these necessities. If we succeed in rendering the functions of the primary offices more uniform, methodical, and exact, we shall make the ad who carry it on. Since his official connection with the Government ceased, he flatters himself he has preserved the respect and regard of most of the present incumbents of the departments, and is on becoming terms of intercourse and civility with them all. The Junior Editor has been assisiduously engaged for several years, in studying, by personal inquiry and examination, the practical and daily routine and details of the Post-Office and outer branches of the public business. It is with this stock of experience, and these advantages for reaching the various sources of administrative action, and for imparting minute and illustrative in struction, and valuable periodical and statistical information, that we challenge your confidence and solicit your support and patronage.

We have fixed upon the 15th of each month as the day for the publication of our paper, so as to afford time for obtaining from the departments all the orders, notices and changes issued, or made by them during the preceding month. Tables of Post Offices, and compilations of the Laws and Regulations, are issued by the Post Office Department only once in two or three years. It is a matter of inconvenience and complaint, for which hitherto there has been no remedy, that is one month from the time of these issues, there are offices in the tables which are no longer in operation, and offices of the two descriptions. In like manner laws have been passed and regulations established since the issue of the last volume of regulations, of which many postmasters and others are wholly ignorant. We propose to prevent, for the present, any increase of the evil of either kind, and from the time another issue shall be made, our paper will furnish the additions, corrections, and modifications, made in each month, and by being filed and preserved, will afford to postmasters full and exact information upon both subjects, up to and for time being. How much of the present misdi rection, remailing, doubt, confusion, error, and imposition, will be saved by the progres provided, and for which we engage, every intelligent postmaster can estimate for himself.

These advantages alone and independently of all others, are worth many times the price we charge for the paper, and will, it is hoped, induce every postmaster who feels a just pride in his office or a patriotic regard for the credit, prosperity, and efficiency of the whole Post Office system—at once to subscribe. The same considerations apply to the orders and notices, decisions, and instructions of the War, Navy, Trensury, State, and Interior departments, and the same course is intended in respect to them. Notices of the decisions of the Supreme Court, in cases turning upon questions of official duty or sational interest, will find a place in this paper.

By HEMRY STEPHENS, F. R. S., of Edinburgh, author of the "Book of the Farm," &c., &c.; assisted by John P. Norton, M.A., New Haven, Professor of Scientific Agriculture in Yale College, &c., &c.
This highly valuable work will comprise two large royal octavo volumes, containing over 1,400 pages, with 18 or 20 splendid steel engravings, and more than 600 engravings on wood, in the highest style of the art, illustrating almost every implement of husbandry now in use by the best farmers, the best methods of ploughing, planting, haying, harvesting, &c., &c., the various domestic animals in their highest perfection; in short, the pictorial feature of the book is unique, and will render it of incalculable value to the student of agriculture. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class Blackwood, still under the masterly guidance of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Caxtons" and "My New Novel" (both by Bulwer,) "My Peninsular Medal," "The Green Hand," and other serials, of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Mesers. MEMORIAL.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled: The memoral of the undersugned, respectfully represents that they are entitled to Bounty Land, under the act of 28th of September, 1850, that they are informed and believe that the unlocated warrants are worth more to them than the patented lands would be, that they do not expect or desire to reside on the land thus granted; that if patented to them, the expense of agencies and taxes will be an annual charge, reducing the value of the grant, which they dould avoid if permitted to self the warrant. Your memorialists further represent that the law, by preventing the sale of the warrants, assure that the officers and volunteers entitled to bounty lands, are not competent to act for themselves, whereas many of them are among the most intelligent and respectable citizens of the States. They therefore respectfully ask that the act aforesaid may be so modified as to make the warrants for bounty lands assignable, and they will ever pray, &c.

The Daily Glore will be published during the session on a superfine double royal sheet. It will contain the debates as taken down by the reporters, and as sitered by the speakers, whenever they make any alterations; the current news of the day, and miscellansous matter. The main object for publishing the daily paper is, to enable Members to see their remarks in it, and alter them if they shall think proper before they are published in the Congressional Glore and Appendix.

The Congressional Glore and Appendix.

The Congressional Glore and Appendix and printed on a double royal paper, with small type, (brevier and nonpareil,) in quarto form, each number containing sixteen royal quarto pages. The speeches of the Members, in this first form, are sometime condensed—the full report of the prepared speeches being reserved for the Arrendix. All resolutions, motions, and other proceedings, are given in the form of the Journass, with the yeas and nays on every important question.

During the first month or six weeks of a session, there is rarely more business done than will make two numbers a week—one of the Congres-sional Glore and one of the Appendix; but dur-SIGNAL GLORE and one of the APPENDIX; but during the remainder of a session, there is usually sufficient matter for two or three numbers of each every week. The next session will be unusually interesting; therefore, we calculate that the Congressional Glore and Appendix together will make at least 3500 large quarto pages, printed in small type—brevier and nontareil. We furnish complete Indexes to both at the end of a session. We will endeavor to print a sufficient number of surplus copies to supply all that may be miscarried, or lost in the mails; but subscribers should be very particular to file their papers carefully, for very particular to file their papers carefully, for fear that we should not be able to supply all the

The study of practical Anatomy may be prosecuted with the most ample facilities, and at very trifling expense.

Clinifial Lectures are regularly given at the College Informary and Richmond Almsh Juse. The Informary, under the same roof with the College and subject to the entire control of the Faculty, is at all times well filled with medical and surgical cases, and furnishes peculiar facilities for clinical instruction. Many surgical operations are performed in presence of the class; and the students being freely admitted to the wards, enjoy, under the guidance of the Professors, unusual opportunities for becoming familiar with the symptoms, diagnosis, and treatment of disease.

Expenses—Matriculation fee, §5. Professors fees, §105, Demonstrator's fee, §10. Graduation fee, §25.

The price of board, including fuel, lights, and servants' attendance, is usually $3 to $2; per aste and genius, no display can be perfect.

To the Manufacturers of Agricultural Implements and Tools, we would say, that interest and patriotism both combine to enjoin upon you the propriety of making a grand exhibition of your machinery of all kinds, as from our present advices, we are led to believe that the assemblage of farmers and planters, and of distinguished strangers from most of the States of the Union, will be greater than upon any former occasion here or elsewhere. We therefore say to the Agricultural Implement makers and Mchanics of the United States, make it a matter of pride to display your machinery at our exhibition, and vie with each other in having the best and largest assortment on the ground. Such ambition is laudable—is worthy of American genius, and should be cherished by the American heart. Holland

WILLIAM TUCKER, MERCHANT TAILOR, (of the late firm of Lane & Tucker,) would call the attention of his friends and the public generally to his stock of Goods now opening, which has been selected by himself from the largest importing houses in New York, and by far the greatest variety and richest styles I ever offered in this city. Strangers are respectfully and earnestly solicited to give me a call and examine my stock becore purchasing, as I am confident it will be to heir advantage.

And I would especially call the attention of officers, both of the army and the navy, to the fact that I am prepared to execute all kinds of uniforms, according to the late regulations, at the shortest notice, and at moderate prices, warranted, both in the cutting and making departments, equal to any establishment in this country.

W. T. tenders his sincere thanks to his numerous friends for their long and continued patronage, and hopes, by the same diligence and attention to business, to merit a continuance of the same.

All orders promptly executed.
