PREFARATORY NOTICE.

The enterprise in which we now embark, and of which this paper is at once the commencemer (and a sample of the papers that are to follow, has for its aim no less a purpose, than to impartinstruction, in the general and detail, to the Officer and Agents of the American public, in respect both to their duties and their rights, and to make them, and the people at large, acquainted with the organization, decisions and action of the Executive departments of their Government. There has hitherto keen no vehicle for the regular and proper communication of information of this kind. The publication of the Laws and the issue of instructions, more or less comprehensive, and at intervals more or less extended, have proved wholly inadequate, in the absence of the construction of those Laws, as applied to particular cases, and of details and illustrations to make the regulations and in structions intelligible. The valuable documents annually reported to Congress, are too voluminous and are printed in quantities too small for general circulation; whilst the debates in Congress and the commentaries of the press upon their proceedings, and the proceedings of the Executive branch of the Government, besides turning mostly upon general principles, address themselves only to narty ends, and to matters of national policy? These publications in their various forms are highly useful in themselves as far as they go, and some of them indispensable; but there is much that do not reach the hands of all, nor if they did, do they furnish those rules, methods, and examples, for the despatch of the public business which can render the discharge of public duty either safe or easy, whether in respect to the incumbent himself, or the department or bureau under which he acts. We shall make an honest effort to supply this vacuum, and to provide for these necessities. If we succeed in rendering the functions of the primary offices more uniform, methodical, and exact, we shall make the administrat country And this we expect to do, to some extent at least—apart from, and indepedently to any party or personal interest or question whatever.

It is known to most of those to whom this paper will be sent, that the Senior Editor was Additor of the Post-Office Department until the month of November last; with by far the larger portion of both posumasters and contractors, he has had direct intercourse, in person or by letter. He entered the department fourteen years since, and for many years previously, had been, first in the Wer Department, and subsequently in the Teasury He has therefore had the best opportunities for understanding the arrangements of business in all the departments, and being acquainted with those who carry it on. Since his official somection with the Government ceased, he flatters himself he has preserved the respect and regard of most of the present incumbents of the departments, and is on becoming terms of intercourse and civility with them all. The Junior Editor has been assistiously engaged for several years, in studying, by personal inquiry and examination, the practical and daily routine and details of the Post-Office and onner branches of the public business. It is with this stock of experience, and these advantages for reaching the various sources of administrative action, and for imparting minute and illustrative a tion, and for imparting minute and illustrative at afford time for obtaining from the departments all the orders, notices and changes issued, or madby by them during the preceding month. Tables of Post Offices, and compilations of the Laws and Regulations, are issued by the Post Office Pentanet only once in two or three years. It is a matter of inconvenience and complaint, for which hitten for obtaining from the departments all the orders, notices and changes issued, or madby by them during the preceding month. MEMORIAL.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled: The memorial of the undersigned, respectfully represents that they are entitled to Bounty Land, under the act of 28th of September, 1850, that they are informed and believe that the unlocated warrants are worth more to them than the patented lands would be, that they do not expect or desire to reside on the land thus granted; that if patented to them, the expense of agencies and taxes will be an annual charge, reducing the value of the grant, which they could avoid if permitted to self the warrant Your memorialists further represent that the law, by preventing the sate of the warranta, assun at that the officers and volunteers entitled to bounty lands, are not competent to act for themselves, whereas many of them are among the most intelligent and respectable citizens of the States. They therefore respectfully ask that the act aforeasid may be so modified as to make the warrants for bounty lands assignable, and they will ever pray, &c.

A short time past we published some statistics relative to the number of soldiers supplied from the different States to the revolutionary war. De Bow's Commercial Review gives some tables relative to this, and other subjects of equal interest, which we copy.

1. The number of soldiers furnished by the American States during the revolution, and the population of each State in 1790 and in 1847.

2. Principal battles of the revolution, their several dates, commanders-in-chief, and losses on each side.
