The Poites and the Municipal Court.

Since City Council yielded to public preserve and compelled the police force to recet the authority and jurisdiction of the innicipal Court, we hear no more comissints from the policemen about the court siling to protect them in the discharge of heir duties. Having learned that subtrifuges fill no longer avail, and that all cases must be tried in the new tribunal, they have commend to the "new dispensation" with currentsing willingness, and the difficulties they contend to the "new dispensation" with currentsing willingness, and the difficulties they constantly complained of while they sought unstice for the public and fees for their pockets in the court of a local Justice of the prockets in the court of a local Justice of the public come to the conclusion that the only real objection of the police to the municipal court was the fact that the court took the fees they had been accustomed to putting "nto their pockets and turned them of the public treasury made a theral increase in their salaries, and defied the charter and ordinance of the city for four months.

fiberal increase in their salaries, and defled the charter and ordinance of the city for four months.

During this time the city was deprived of between $2,000 and $3,000, and justice will not be done to the tax-payers until the police are made to pay into the city treasury the money they put into their pockets by ignoring the authority of the Municipal Court.

That andent and consistent temperance advocate, Mrs. Francis E. Willard, and sounces that a petition signed by a million names will be presented to both the Democratic and Republician National Conventions, next year, demanding a prohibitory plank in the party platforms. The signers pledge their support to the party that accedes to their demand, and in the event both conventions refuse thresten a National Prohibition party, which will sweep the country. This announcement may be very assuring to Mrs. Willard, but she need not look for any grand temperance rally throughout the country sext year. Such a movement, if made, might prejudice the chances of the Republican party, and this is the last thing refused and Parliament. made, might prejudice the chances of the Republican party, and this is the last thing by temperance leaders who vote. lef mission has been to attract Democratic voters to their political side shows, but they have played this game so frequently that it no longer works, and new schemes will have to be devised.

will have to be devised.

Every Evening paid Mr. Lore a poor compilment, yesterday, when, after amouncing that he had not made up his mind how he would vote upon the Speakership, it added: "Mr. Lore's personal iriends here can give no information as to how he will vote." Surely our contemporary ought to have considered Mr. Lore's declaration sufficient, without bothering his "personal friends" about the matter. It is hard to imagine how they could have information regarding his vote in to-night's caucus when he had not decided for himself. His friends as Every Evening must know, are not the custodians of his official acte. He will determine everthing for himself.

termine everthing for himself.

A LATE Washington dispatch states that in the event of Carlisle's election to the Speakership of the House, Joe Blackburn, of Kentucky, can have his choice of committee chairmanships. The story comes too late to have any effect upon Carlisle's chences, and it is hard to conceive, therefore, why it was started at all. A week ago it would have commelled Carlisle to make fore, why it was started at all. A week ago the would have compelled Carlisle to make an emphatic denial, as the prospect of Blackburn swaggering around all whiter as the "boss of the House," would be sufficient to drive supporters from any man whose election was looked upon as being a fore-election was looked upon as being a forerunner of such a result.

**PENATOR EDMINDS is reported to have a bill ready for presentation to Congress providing for a National Telegraph System to connect the Capitla at Washington with all the State Capitols. He does not favor interference with the existing corporations, but this plan, once started, would quick, but this plan, once started, would quickly assume proportions that would leave the other telegraphic systems far in the rear.

Potteen and Parliament.
(Irish Correspondence of the Philadelphia Press.)
The usual drink in Ireland is, of course, potheen. That means illicit whiskey. The other is called Farliament. The potheen is a thorough hone ruler, and is in absolute reservence in Ireland by an alien. The potheen is a thorough hone ruler, and is in absolute revenue in Ireland by an alien. The properties of the presence of the presence of the police, the wildness of these districts affords comparative safety to the distillers of potheen. I am violating no secret to say that the good drop is plenty from Galway to Clifden, whether by mail, stage route, or, on this side, the sea-coast. There are many grades of it. What is termed the "first shot" is the best. That is the first 10 gallons out of a 20 gallon stilling. It is coloriese. The taste is amoky and turpentinish. In hot punch those characteristics almost disappear. When a year old, I am told, it is mellow and mild. A fellow who was smacking his lips, after a good gill draught, said: "But you see we can't raise the darlint; it will de young," of the klugdom of Correnas: In any paraise wold men who bear crack reputations for making it extra good. The take It gallons of the "first shot" and double distill or reduce it to nine. That is or rich and oily that it will hold a quill pen standing straight. This brank is given the sick in milk before breakfast. Four-fiths of the barley raised out here is used for potheen. Many of these people would not be able to hive at all the work of the disposition after the hone was a straight in lookers to Galway and other ports. The law in regard to its disposition after discovery by the authorities is remarkable. He and the processing the content of the content

FOR COLIC

The above remedies are in use by the leading horsemen in the country, and as they are simple and safe any person may administer them to his horse and save a large doctor's fee. They will do all they are recommended to if the directions are followed and they are kept constantly on hand.

GENERAL CONDITION POWDER.

This may be used as the very best treatment in Epizootic, Distemper, Swollen Glands and should be administered especially after a hard drive to prevent the animal from being feverish. It is indispensable in colds and coughs.

 $\mathbf{WORM}$  POWDER.

This is the only sure remedy ever used for those annoying pests. If the animal is so troubled they will be expelled in a very short time after the first administration, leaving the horse in excellent condition and the hair a lively color.

FOR FISTULA, SPRAINS,

Tender Cords, and a general Liniment. This is the best liniment in the world, and is used by Robert Bonner to-day in preference to any other.

FOR SPAVIN

A horse spavin can be re below the joint. moved and the hair restored in six weeks A bog spavin can not be removed, the only relief to the animal is to give him a high heeled shoe. Wounds of every description can be healed by these remedies.

FOR THRUSH.

By following the directions the lame horse can be relieved in three days, ready for use, and by attending to his feet twice a week and giving him a dry stall he will never be troubled again.

FOR GREASE AND SCRATCHES.

This is now the only safe and sure remedy in use. If the disease involves the entire leg it will make a perfect cure, and will remove any skin disease on any part of the body.

FOR COLIC.

This remedy is so convenient that the horse can be relieved without even taking him from the carriage if it be wind colic. flatulent keep the horse quiet and in additi to the remedy give 3 or 4 tablespoonfuls of scalded flour and starch with 2 ounces 0 laudanum every 2 hours for 4 to 6 hours and if there are no other complications no horse need ever die with colic under his treatment.
