Last Sunday night the Pelican Club of this city entertained the San Francisco and Sacramento ball players at their clubrooms. Mike Fisher (everybody who ever heard of baseball knows him) was there, and furnished his share of amusement for the assemblage. "Mike" is a baseball sharp, a sprinter, and, above all, a handy man with his "props," So, too, is "Pop" Swett, after he gets warmed up. They concluded to have a "set-to"

YOLO TULE LANDS.

Another Effort to be Made to Reclaim Them.

An Enterprise that Means a Great Deal for Sacramento-The Meeting To-morrow.

This is a project that, if carried out sucessfully, will do more to benefit Sacramento City than any one thing now talked of. The body of land opposite this city is as rich as the Valley of the Nile, and the greater part of the produce raised there would find its market in Sacramento. The citizens should therefore encourage the proposed enterprise in every possible way.

The owners of the islands on the Lower Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers are also vitally interested in such a scheme

The project, briefly stated, is to excavate a large canal along the western edge of the tule basin, which would take the overflow from the Sacramento River and also the waters of Cache and Putah Creeks. carrying them through a cut, which would not be deep, into Suisun Bay. The seepage and natural rainfall in the low basin could be handled with pumps, as is done on the islands.

In proposed scheme of reciamation is somewhat similar to that undertaken several years ago, and abandoned because of the great cost. That proposition was to tap the tule basin at its lowest point and drain it into Suisun Bay. To do this the cut would have to be very deep, and the plan involved such an outlay of money that it would be inverselyed.

It is believed that, by the plan now contemplated, the cost would not be more than from $10 to $20 per acre, and this would be a mere bagatelle, in view of the fine body of land it would reclaim.

The meeting should be a large one as

The meeting should be a large one, as the project interests a great many people outside of the actual land owners. If the matter should be carried to a successful conclusion, this city would never have to raise its levees higher than they now are. This means a great deal to Sacramentans, who are now annually confronted with an enemy whose power to do harm is not limited even to natural laws, but is sub-ject to the caprice of the elements.
