Daily Recipe MOCHA NUT CAKE

1-2 cup very strong cof-

1 cup sugar

3 eggs

1-2 cup butter

1 3-4 cups flour

2 1-2 teaspoons baking powder

3-4 cup walnut meats broken in pieces

Cream the butter and sugar, add the coffee cold, then flour sifted with baking powder. Stir in the beaten whites of the eggs and add nut meats last. The nut meats should be rolled in flour to prevent sinking to bottom of cake. Bake in square tin, covering cake with frosting flavored vanilla. Dot frosting with unbroken nut meats.

Dear Jane Jordan-Do you believe the saying "True love never runs smoothly?" We are a girl 19 and a boy 20, very much in love with each other. We have been going together for almost four years and always have enjoyed each other's company.

During the first two years we had several disagreements, which caused us to split up four different times. All because the girl wanted to go with other boys, too. But for the last two years we have been more in love than ever and would not step out on each other for anything.

We feel sure we were meant for each other and are happiest when we're together. We plan to marry as soon as times are better and we can go to curselves. Please tell us if you believe we will find happiness in the future. L. AND B.

Dear L and B.—I do not believe that the course of true love never runs smoothly, although I do think that it is a tough job to adjust two rsonalities so that they get along

THAT Mr. Rosenthal can give us this interesting description of his activities in the glass industry, the origin of the glass and the approximate quantities and types of pieces made, is a fortunate circumstance. The history of natural gas in Indiana parallels his story, as the plentiful supply of this cheap and convenient fuel attracted the glass industry to Indiana. Also to the failure of the supply, possibly, may be attributed the fact that the factory at Greentown was not re-
