CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to the good people of Covington for their many kindnesses during the illness and death of my beloved father, Rev. C. E. Reid. I especially thank Drs. Young for their untiring attention, and Rev. Evans for his ministerial devotion. May God's choicest blessings be with each of you through life.

MRS. BAILEY.

NOTICE.

I am applying for a parole, having been convicted of manslaughter in St. Tammany parish.

JOHN PENN.

AUTOMOBILE BUSINESS RAPIDLY APPROACHING PRE-WAR STRIDE.

Acting on information obtained through a nation-wide survey of conditions which has disclosed the certainty that the automobile business is rapidly approaching its pre-war stride, Roy D. Chapin, president of the Hudson Motor Car Company, announces that sweeping reductions are being made on every model produced by both companies, effective at once.

"With business down to the pre-war level of labor and material costs," Mr. Chapin said, "manufacturers are able to get back to the fundamental principles of American merchandising—basing prices to the public on volume production. Added to the steady demand that Hudson and Essex have maintained throughout the readjustment period, we have such volume of orders already booked for 1922 by our distributors and dealers in every part of the country that we are able to pass on to buyers a new mark in lowered manufacturing costs.

"Consequently, we are releasing a new 1922 price schedule whereby the cars we build will cost the user from $100 to $245 less than previously. "Today we are purchasing the finest materials that America makes at a lower figure than ever before in the history of the automobile industry—a concession to which the buyer is entitled and which is made available in our new price schedule."
