INSTRUCTS JURORS

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, Judge Dickey convened the grand jurors for the special term of court, and instructed them as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE GRAND JURY:
There can be no legal conviction in this Territory for any offense punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year without presentment or indictment by a grand jury.

The grand jury is designed not only as a means of bringing to trial persons accused of crime upon sufficient grounds, but also of protecting persons against unfounded accusations, whether proceeding from the government or individuals. You have therefore as grand jurors, a duty to society under which you shall require parties against whom there are just grounds upon which to charge the commission of a crime, to be held to answer thereto, and a duty to the individual also, to protect him from prosecutions under insufficient charges.

Various district magistrates of the county have found cause to believe that certain persons have committed crimes and committed them to jail until you examine into these cases and either find indictments or refuse to do so. These matters have a first claim upon your attention. You are also required to examine all other matters brought to your attention by the court or the county attorney. You are not limited to these matters however, but may also examine into any other alleged violation of law that may come to your knowledge, either in the course of your investigations of matters brought before you, through your own observations, or such as may be brought before you through your members.

You will hear the witnesses for the prosecution, or as may of these witnesses as you deem necessary, and if, in your judgment, the evidence of such witnesses, unexplained and uncontradicted, would warrant a conviction by a trial jury, it will be your duty to find an indictment. You will not permit accused persons, or their attorneys or witnesses to appear before you. Because of the partial character of your investigations in hearing only the testimony of the prosecution, you must weigh well the testimony produced and in arriving at a conclusion as to its truth or falsity, may take into consideration not only the statements of a witness, but its manner or testimony and appearance on the stand, as well as the inherent probability or improbability of his testimony.

You need not, however, use up your time in hearing cumulative testimony. The hearing of more than one witness to prove a given fact, if you give the testimony of such witness full weight and credit, and it alone would in your judgment justify you in finding that there is probable cause to believe that a trial jury would convict, is an unnecessary tax upon your time and patience and an unnecessary cost to the taxpayers of the county.

You may obtain subpoenas from the court for witnesses. The county attorney will be ready at all times to assist you in your examinations, will examine witnesses and draw up indictments for you. You may also, yourselves, examine all witnesses and may have such interpreters as you need. Except the county attorney, interpreter and the witness under examination, no person shall be permitted to be present at any of your sessions and you must exclude all persons, including the county attorney, from your presence while you deliberate and when you vote. Any indictment found by you, may be set aside if this rule is violated.

The sessions of a grand jury are secret because it would be a hardship to any one against whom unfounded charges are brought, if such charges should be made public, and in order that there may be the utmost freedom of disclosure of crimes and of discussion by you in your deliberations and in order that the danger of escape of accused persons before arrest and

Rain Helps Cane

The frequent rain showers of the past week have been most valuable to growing cane. Water had gotten so low on some plantations that irrigation had become a source of much anxiety. Now, however, gulches are roaring full and the growing crop looks very promising.

Meat Market Inadequate

Libue has a meat market but it is on a small scale indeed for unless one leaves an order in advance it is impossible to get anything. The trouble lies in the scarcity of beef cattle and about the only relief is to establish a cold storage depot wherein meats could be stored. This system is carried on successfully in the West Indies why can it not be done here?

THE KOLOA LIBRARY WILL GIVE BRIGHT, CLASSY CONCERT

Koloa is to have a moonlight-on-the-velvet-green concert. It is to take place next Saturday and according to the program, will be one of the greatest social functions of the season. Read the program and then curb your impatience until the concert. Mrs. W. H. Rice, Jr., Lihue's sweet soloist, has kindly offered her services in the interest of the Library fund, and the people of Koloa are delighted over their good fortune in having an opportunity to hear real talent.

The Hanamaulu Theatre

Hanamaulu has perhaps the most modern show house in the Territory. In arranging the building, Manager Hermann Wolters and Engineer Andermann, hit upon a scheme which has all modern theater boxes backed clear off the stage. On each side of the entrance to the building, a railroad track has been constructed, the tracks leading up to within fifty feet of the stage. The trains approach the building and at a given signal, the immense doors slowly swing open, and the fancy, open-top, upholstered cars, laden with happy theater goers, come gliding into the house, coming to a stop high above the heads of those on the lower floor. Each car is in charge of a conductor who looks after the comfort of the occupants and who arranges for transportation of its passengers to their homes at the close of the performance. The theater was opened last Friday evening and in the "special train theater boxes" were many prominent Hanamaulu people and press representatives.

Being taken to the theater in a luxuriously appointed car, which conveys you to the very stage, and there remains until you get ready to go home again, is an innovation which is certain to prove popular.

The Player's View

They lounge in th' cool o' th' shady stan',
With a palm leaf wagged by a lazy fan';
We work our heads off out in th' sun,
By th' sweat of our brow, to earn each run.
They nibble th' goober and sip th' pop,
We run th' bags till we're ready to drop;
They loaf an' laugh, we fight an' fuss,
But it's them that knows th' game, not us.
We worry an' welter, stew an' swear
To win them geezers a piker bet;
For nine long innings of strife an' strain,
We bat an' battle with brawn an' brain;
We hit th' ground with a lusty whack
That loosens our slats and breaks our back;
Then ridin' home on a rattly old car,
We learn what a bunch o' dubs we are.
Oh its easy pickin' for Willie Wise,
An' Sarasstians, an' all such gyps;
To take th' game when its all been played,
An' show where every mistake was made.
An' tell how Joe could-a ketches that fly,
An' how Fernandes let that fly git by,
An' jist how easy we had em skinn'
Two hours after the game was won.
No use talkin', it does best all,
How clever such guys kin judge a ball;
Never a munit the whole game through,
But they'd a knowed jist what to do;
Never a point would they overlook,
Know th' game like it open book.
But, say I wonder how they'd perform
Oh the green in front, in a uniform.
—Fisticus.

Neighborhood Club Meets

Mrs. Ralph Wilcox will entertain the Neighborhood Club next Friday evening. A moonlight railroad excursion will be one of the features of the entertainment after which a delicious dinner will be served at the home of the charming hostess.

A Gay Picnic Party

Last Sunday was a gala day for the people of Hanamaulu. The occasion was a real old-fashioned German picnic, held among the pine groves on the Hanamaulu beach.

Mr. Schirbert, who had been placed in charge of refreshments, appeared on the grounds about 9 a. m. and had everything in readiness when the crowd arrived. Everybody brought along something good to eat and the day was spent in rollicking, merry-making juvenile sports, each pick-nicker appointing himself or herself an individual fun committee man.

Among those present were, W. Schieber, Mr. and Mrs. Kesselbecker, Mr. and Mrs. Andermann Jr., Miss Andermann, F. Rutsch, P. Rutsch, O. Prueser, Mr. and Mrs. Theilau, Mrs. Grote, Misses M. Grote, D. Grote, A. Grote, W. H. Grote, Mr. and Mrs. Winter, Mr. and Mrs. Kuhlmann, C. Busch, Mrs. Deinert, Miss Deinert, Mr. and Mrs. Eggerking, E. Mahu, A. Siebel.

Maui Educator Here

School Supervising Principal Raymond of Lahaina and Molokai is the guest of Supervisor H. H. Brodie. They will probably tour the island before Mr. Raymond returns to Maui. Mr. Raymond is one of the Territory's leading educators, having been connected with the summer school faculty during the session which recently closed.

A Nifty Buick

One of the niftiest little 1912 model Buicks on the island found a home in the Carter Garage last week, the Kauai Garage being the channel through which it arrived.

Haena Party Home

Hon. W. H. Rice and party returned Friday from a week-end stay at the Haena beach house. Don't forget the Koloa concert.

BALL SEASON IS PAU NEW AGRICULTURE

Last Sunday's games concluded the 1912 season, with the Kilanea team champions of the first series, and the McBrydes, possessors of the second. According to rules and regulations, the two champions will now have to cross bats for the two best out of three games in order to decide as to who shall claim honors as champions. A meeting has been called, at which final arrangements will be made for the final contest. We regret our inability to state to our readers, positively, when and where these game will be pulled off. From a prominent baseball man we learn that no game is likely to be played off next Sunday, as it will hardly be possible to make the necessary arrangements.

Circuit Court Opens

With the heaviest calendars in the history of the Fifth Circuit, the special term of court opened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Judge Lyle Dickey, after instructing the grand jurors, gave some little time to discussing a number of jury-waved cases, following which he dismissed the trial jurors until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock. For consideration of the jury-waved cases court will convene to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

Kamaaina Leaves Kauai

J. W. Niel, for the last twenty-seven years connected with the Kealia Plantation Co., in various responsible capacities has resigned and goes to Honolulu where, for the sake of the education of his children, he will make his future home. Mr. Niel is a man of many accomplishments, and is one of the most popular plantation store managers on Kauai. THE GARDEN ISLAND wishes Mr. Niel unlimited success and prosperity in his new home.

Typhoid In Makaweli

A case of typhoid fever is reported from the Makaweli Hospital. Another report has it that one has been discovered in Homestead. Waimea citizens have been cautioned as to the conspicuous drinking of water as a suspicious case in under surveillance there.

Off For Vacation

Mr. R. W. T. Purvis and daughter Silburn, leave this afternoon for a vacation of nine weeks, most of which will be spent in South Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. They will also visit the son who is a student at Lehigh. Miss Purvis will enter an eastern preparatory school, and Mr. Purvis will make the return trip alone. Miss Purvis is one of our most popular girls and was guest of honor at one of the most elaborate social events of the year, given recently at the Lawai Beach House, the same being a special farewell party.

One of the most significant wonders of modern Agriculture is the discovery, adaptation and development of new plant products commercially valuable. Of late years the Agricultural Department at Washington has been devoting a great deal of attention to this with marked success. Men of expert intelligence are continually ransacking all parts of the world in search for new or valuable plants and sending them to the experimental stations for trial and adaptation. In this way many valuable acquisitions have been made and vast possibilities have been suggested for the future.

A bare outline of these valuable discoveries would run to great length, but a few of them may be mentioned. New varieties of rice of great promise came from Asia, two new potatoes from the mountains of Peru, the original home of the potato, new varieties of oranges that will stand cold, a lemon from the Himalayas that is not injured by severe frost, a valuable persimmon from Japan, a fine fruit well worthy of cultivation here, soya beans from Manchuria, with a varied and very significant value. One kind furnishes paint oil another milk and cream and even butter, it is said, and they are all of great value for creating humus. From Shantung in China comes a luscious peach, of which our Hawaiian variety is probably a degenerate offshoot; from the South Sea Islands, three new passion fruits of which the Samoan granadilla is probably one, already known and prized by us. Among the rest our Kala or wild mountain raspberry is mentioned as a fruit of great promise. For size, beauty and bearing qualities, it is the prince of raspberries, being often as large as a small tea cup. It grows in great profusion on the mountains of Hawaii and Maui and when improved by cultivation will be a prize indeed.

During bye-gone ages we have pretty much been contented to enjoy the meagre fruits and other food products of our fathers. The time is already at hand when we will immensely improve and enrich them, and a very enchanted land of agricultural possibilities lies before us.

Extremely Happy

"I am so happy! The date is now set for the Koloa concert. It is to be held on the evening of August 24—next Saturday—commencing at 7:30 p. m. It will be on Mr. Farley's beautiful lawn. Full moon has been provided for the drive to and from the concert and the tickets only cost 50 cents—standing room but 25 cents, and as the lawn can only hold 2,000 people, you'd better come early."

"After the concert, there will be refreshments served. What will happen afterwards, where there are young people, fine music, a lovely lawn and a full moon, I will leave to your own imagination. But, say, won't it be scrumptious?"

Waimea People Abroad

A letter from Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Brown of Waimea informs this paper that their vacation has been spent in the vicinity of Yosemite and Yellow Stone. "When we get our Flanders well in hand," writes Mr. Brown, "we propose to run down to Santa Cruz, San Jose and Palo Alto, and will sail on the Sonoma, Aug. 27."

Typhoid Is Checked

A telephone message to this office at noon to-day, states that there have been no new cases of typhoid develop at Makaweli within the last week, and that all the present patients are convalescent. The situation is said to be under thorough control and no outbreak or spread of the disease is expected.

Grand Jurymen Ralph Wilcox was reported too ill to attend jury duty this morning.
