Mrs. Nobrega was first awarded $15,000 alimony by Judge Gear, and this was reversed. Then Gear made it $10,000, with one-half for Davis, and the higher court again interfered, making the amount $5,000. Gear gave a decree accordingly, but added on to it a pro-vision that one thousand of it must be paid to Davis as a fee. Mrs. Nobrega employed Andrews and Andrade to op-

During the argument Davis objected to other counsel representing his cli-ent, and talked of professional ethics, in answer to which the Supreme court

Says:
The court finds that the appeal must be dismissed because divorce cases are only reviewable on writ of error or exceptions, and says:

"It is to be regretted that the case is not properly before us, as there is so much that would seem at first glance to be questionable in the matter. Exceptions cannot now be taken and it is DEC, 13 (DEC, 13)

> KEPT PRISONER IN A CELLAR. Harry B. Chilton was taken into custody yesterday on a charge of having abducted Maggie the 14 year old daughter of Mrs. Hattle Place. The apprehen-sion of Chilton and the discovery of the girl reopen quite an interesting case that has been hanging fire for some months.

Chilton was arrested last September on a charge of seducing Maggle Place. When the time came for hearing the preliminary examination the girl had disappeared. Although the police seached they were unable to secure any trace of her. Judge Wilcox refused to dismiss the case but continued it from time to time. In fact the court hinted in his characteristically vigorous fash. in his characteristically vigorous fash-ion that a search of the elder Chilton's celler might find some trace of the missing girl. According to the state-ments of the girl today this hint was not so very far amiss.

She said that since September 9 she has been concealed in Chilton's celler on Fort street. She had been supplied with food and clothing by Harry. Finally young Chilton is alleged to have tired of his charge and told her to go out on the streets today and let the police ap-prehend her. She went out and about the first person she encountered was her mother. The police were notified. Mrs. Place swore today to the charge of abduction and Chilton was taken into

AGAIN AFTER KWANG YU WEL On Beretania Avenue The Sun Chung Kwock Bo, the newspaper organ o fthe Chinese reformers, received by the Nippon Maru advices that a serious uprising was in progress in Kwang-Si, the province west of the province of Canton. The uprising was due to the "squeeze" of the Mandarins under pretense of raising revenue to pay the share due fro minat province property on this WELL KNOWN to the indemnity imposed by the powers for the Boxer injuries.

ties had seized on the uprising as a pretext for seeking the capture of the are the banner lots of the now well Chinese reformer, Kwang Yu Wei, and known PAWAA TRACT and have been had issued orders for his capture at reserved to the last, during the RUSHany cost. This order in turn was seized on by the provincial authorities as an excuse for their excesses in the for several weeks IN THIS LOCALprosecution of the struggle to put down the uprising and a justification for the call and see the uprising and a justification for the atrocties they committed.

It is stated as a fact by his friends that kwang Yu Wei had no part in the Kwang-Si uprising, and that he is in fact in British India at this time. Kwang Yu Wei is one of the two reformers for whose heads the Dowager Empress offered 65,000 taels.

The drought in the province of Can-ton continues and this together with the collection of taxes to pay the for-elgn indemnity is causing great suffering among the poorer classes,

SHOULD HASTEN GIFT SENDING. The post office issues an urgent appeal to all senders of registered packages this Christmas asking them to place them in the hand of officials not later than Thursday next if they wish to ensure delivery of their gifts by Christmas.

Christmas. The mails this year are considerably heavier than they were last, whether on account of the rise in sugar or not. Up to the present date last year only sixteen bags of registered mail we sent away as against twenty five this

"The men," says Louis Kenake, "can only work at a certain rate in the same way that a sugar mill can only grind a certain amount of cane and those who delay their mail may find themselves left. In an island city like this, Christmas purchasers have to be made sooner than is necessary on the mainland but many people, especially the late comer forget this. The Peru salls on Saturday the thirteenth and Eastern mail sent by her will be delivered in New York by December 25.

December 25.

Therefore in order to secure the sending off of packages on that boat it is advisable for everybody to set next Wednesday as the latest date for mailing and in no event to be later than Thursday. There is a lot of detail work connected with registered mail and while every one wil work at double speed we have our limit.
