Woman's Work. [Fam Xarifa.] Darning little stockings For restless little feet; Washing little faces To keep them clean and aweet; Hearing Bible lessons; Teaching catechism; Praying for salvation From heresy and schism-Woman's work.

Sewing on the bottone; Overseeing rations; Southing with a kind word Others' lamentations to Gubling clumsy Bridgets, And coaxing sullen cooks ; Entertaining company, And reading recent books-Woman's work.

Burying out of sight Her own unheating smarts; Letting in the sunshing On other clouded hearts; Binding up the wounded, And hening of the sick ; Bravely marching ouward, Through dangers duck and thick-Woman's work.

Leading little children, And blessing manhand's years; Showing to the sinful How God's forgiveness cheers; Scattering sweet room Along another's path 5 Smiling by the wayside, Content with what she hath-Woman's work-

Letting fall her own tears, Where only God can set; Wiping off another's With tender sympathy ; Learning by experience; Teaching by example; Yearning for the gateway, Golden, pearly, ample-Woman's work

Lastly cometh silence, A day of deep repose-Her locks smoothly braided, Upon her breast a rose ; Lashes rewing gently Upon the marble check A look of blessed peace il pon the forehead meek Pale bands softly folded. The kindly pulses still;

The lips know no smiling, The noble heart no thrill : Her couch needs no smoothing. She craveth for no care; Love's tenderest entreaty Wakes no responses there Fresh grave in the valley-

Teurs, hitter sobs, regret One more soleum lesson That life may not forget. Face forever hidden, Race forever run-" Dust to dust," a voice saith, And woman's work is done

Social Season-Private Musical Societies in ne York - Art and the Drama - Personal

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

New York, Jan. 17, 1870. The present month is the centre of the social in New York. January brings the greatest ber of balls, of concerts, of good theatrical sentations; in January the receptions are most brilliant, the private musical and litersocieties are the most active, and the lecturers the busiest. The ministers preach their best ons, the editors choose the gravest topics, politicians lay their wiliest schemes; and stever is notable in the civilization of New rk-except mass meetings in the open air-is ost any other time of the year.

The musical season is one of considerable inst. We have already had two Phitharmonic at Washington, last week, by President Grant, certs, giving us symphonies, overtures, and of Judge Allen as Minister Plenipotentiary from certos by the best composers, and a liberal wance of popular solo performances by such ista as Ole Bull, J. S. Mills and Miss Alide pp. The Liederkranz has given one of the concerts of the season; and the other Gera societies have been hardly less active. These ies, by the way, are the only musical orne among us that work zealously. The erican coteries are half-hearted in their rereals, and lack spirit and fire in their public ormances. Of these, however, the best is bably a small chorus of male voices known as iled by Mr. Mosenthal, the organist of Calvary arch in this city; and they give, two or three other private society, a mixed chorus, which is sumed its rehearsals under the direction Giant, which attracts by virtue of the most Mr. Theodore Thomas. The "Symphony given by this gentleman, that for so my winters have pleased the lovers of classical ic, are discontinued for the present. Mr. mas was a loser by the Central Park Garden icerts of last summer; for even their great pularity did not cover their enormous expense. their place we have a novel musical featureseries of private concerts, upon the largest ale, managed by a number of wealthy people o style themselves "The Church Music Assoon." Three rehearsals, at Steinway Hall, cede each concert; an orchestra of sixty pieces a chorus of twice that number, with solo ofmers of good ability, paid by the associaand some of our best known amateurs as teers, compose the musical resources of the ety. The conductor, a Mr. Peck, a somewell-known composer, from Oxford, Enga thorough musician but a poor conor, lacking the personal magnetism, the calm of command which are essential to the management of the baton. The concert, er, given last Wednesday night, went off rably well. Mozart's Twelfth Mass and the ture, with the principal choruses and solos Weber's "Oberon," composed the programme, performance of which lasted until midnight. nission to the rehearsals and to the concert was a gift. Not a single ticket was sold; all were distributed among the friends of the association; and upon the back of each was printed the severe injunction, "Evening Dress." The object was apparently to determine whether a New York audience could be made to look strictly fashionable. The result was attained. All the wealthy élite of the city were present, arranged in satins, silk and swallow-tails. The dress was CORNER OF KAAHUMANU AND MERCHANT STS. more impressive than the music. So were some of the people. The richest man I saw there, Wm. B. Astor, was certainly the ugliest one to look at. Coarse and heavy features, sandy complexion and a shock of sandy hair, a solid, square, coarse-grained physique, his nose the only -such is the exterior of this lucky inheritor of millions. Wm. B. Astor is a man who would seem much better placed among railroad navvies tails of Steinway Hall. But it is unfitting that I should complain, upon this particular occasion, of his exterior, since he doubtless helped to pay for the fine music which I then heard. Our other richest man in New York, A. T. The meetings are held on Thursday evenings throughout the winter at the houses of different members, which generally occupy a very stylish proximity to the Fifth Avenue; for the society are nothing if not wealthy. Signor Abella is the conductor, and the music sung is almost entirely Italian. First the club practices the choruses of the opera,-Verdi, Gounod, and the rest; then it listens to solos by amateur members. Madame Importers and Dealers in Hardware, Dry Goods, D'Angri, now Madame Abella, the famous contralto, sang at the last two meetings, displaying the wonderful powers of a voice now past its prime, but which has been familiar for years to | 669 opera-geers in either hemisphere, -a voice which | J. S. WALKER. has a firm elastic quality which I can compare to to social intercourse. . In art we are not doing much this winter. The exhibition at the Academy of Design is unusually poor. Clarence Cooke, once the savage art-critic of the Tribune, was largely responsible for making the Academy an unpopular place with our artists, the best of whom are now rarely represented upon its walls. Cooke is now in Paris, whence he writes uninteresting letters to the Tribune; and our artists breathe the freer for his absence. The latest movement looking to the establishment of an art-gallery in New York is started by Mr. Lenox, one of our wealthiest men, who proposes to give half a million dollars to the city for the erection of a suitable art-building, and to transfer to it his own large and very valuable collection of paintings as a nucleus for a gallery that shall be worthy of a capital city.
