Why General Grant is a Republican

For State Senators.

(From his Address at Warren, Ohio.) I am a Republican as the two great polit parties are now divided, because the Republica party is a national party, seeking the greates good for the greatest number of citizens There is not a precinct in this vast Nation chere a Democrat cannot cast his ballot and where a Democrat cannot cast his battot and have it counted as cast. No matter what the prominence of the opposite party, he can pro-claim his political opinions, even if he is only one among a thousand, with-out fear and without proscription on account of his opinions. There are 14 States and localities in some other States where Repubaccount of his opinions. There are 14 Islates and localities in some other States where Republicans have not this privilege. This is one reason why I am a Republican. But I am a Republican for many other reasons. The Republican party assures protection to life and property, the public credit, and the payment of the debts of the government, State, county or municipality, so far as it can control. The Democratic party does not promise this; and if it does, it has broken its promises to the extent of hundreds of millions, as many northern Democrats can testify to their sorrow. I am a Republican as between the existing parties because the Republican party fosters the productions of the field and farm and of manufactories, and it encourages the general education of the poor as well as the rich. The Democratic party discourages all these, when in absolute power. The Republican party is a party of progress and of liberality toward its opponents. It encourages the poor to strive to better their condition, the ignorant to educate their children, to enable them to compete successfully with their more fortunate associates, and, in enable them to compete successfully

It is the same way with the condition of political oppression that exists in the South to-day. It will have every temptation to be continued from pride, ambition and political selfishness, and the same causes which have created it will perpetuate it. To think otherwise is to believe that prejudice, shrewdness and self-interest will lose their force simply because they are successful, and that the intelligent leaders of the South will destroy the source of their own power because they are unable to agree upon a division of the spoils. The very first treatment applied by Dr. Lighthill permanently removed some of the most troublesome features and the results ever since have been of the most gratifying character. The South will always find itself "provoked,?" as it complained that it was provoked by the protests against slavery, and no agreement can possibly hide the question of whether an American citizen shall or shall not have the privilege of casting his ballot as he pleases and of having it counted as he cast it? The declaration must be made as to what is the opinion and the purpose of the mation in this matter. The prow of the ship must be pointed toward the open sea and not be suffered to drift upon the lee shore. The party must be sustained that recognizes the evil and the danger, and not the one that would ignore it, even if the exact method of cure is not yet apparent, and neither violent.

country or to the South itself. Vote right on this important issue

In the opening of bids at the treasury in Washington a day or two ago a fact was disclosed which shows very clearly why the De Pauws and other Democratic manufacturers have announced their intention of voting the Republican ticket. The bids were for furnishing plate-glass to the United States ourt-house at Austin, Texas. There were five bidders for American glass, the lowest eing that of De Pauw of Indiana, for the sum of $1,598. Notwithstanding the high luties on glass, however, one of the foreign bidders named a lower figure, namely, $1,593, or, with duties remitted, $1,062. Anybody can easily see from these bids that if the free-trade plank of the Democratic platform should be enforced, and even a slight reduction in the tariff on plate-glass be made, no more glass could be manufactured in this

The report of General Walker concerning the census in South Carolina is published. He believes that the census of 1870 in that State was incorrect, owing mainly to the defects of the law under which it was taken. Concerning the census of 1880 he says, at the end of his report: "I know of no reason, therefore, why any further charge should be made against the enumeration recently brought to a conclusion by the commissioner and sworn officers of the government in South Carolina. The presumption which existed against their work has been completely overthrown and a strong counter presumption has been created by the verification upon the ground of the schedules of inhabitants in the case of eighteen enumeration districts successively taken for special investigation on account of their exceptionally questionable character." This seems to settle it. Our congratulations to South Car-

The following are some of the reasons which are influencing independent, conserva_ tive men, to support the Republican ticket. They are from the Springfield Republican : 'General Hancock is a good man, but General Garfield is a good administration. That is the difference between the parties and the candidates, and it is a big difference. The Republican party under Hayes is administering the government with a degree of efficien cy, integrity and wisdom which conspires with other elements of thrift to make us prosperous and happy. General Garfield as President simply takes the place of Haves in controlling and improving this vast administrative machine. If Hancock could fit in with as little jar and disturbance as Garfield writer in the Providence Journal says some | would, there would be little to distinguish hings which ought to be brought to the at- the candidates, except Garfield's civil experiention of every voter, and which deserve ence. But Hancock cannot or at least will not fit into the administrative machine; he are two ways, he points out, by which it is goes into the presidency to turn out the existing civil service and appoint new, untried solid South, which is such an injury to itself and unselected men in their places, and, on the mathematical law of probabilities, he will make a mistake at least one time in ten. Garfield in four years would have to pick out will quarrel over the spoils and divide when to pick out 100,000, with nothing to promote from. His 10,000 inevitable mistakes scatkeep it in cohesion. It was the argument used | tered over the country will make his administration a hurricane of scandal.
