MR. ELLIS' POSITION.

Will the Beloit Gazette please inform the Journal, to the best of its knowledge and belief, the position of Mr. Ellis with reference to silver at the present time... also what ground he occupied in this connection at the time of his nomination?—Smith Center Journal.

We will answer these questions, although we are satisfied they are not asked in good faith.

The Journal and most of the other populist sheets in the Sixth district, have started out to misrepresent the position of Mr. Ellis upon silver... Such are "reform" methods. Fair and courteous treatment of an opposing candidate is not to be expected.

Mr. Ellis is earnestly and unequivocally in favor of the coinage of the American product of silver at the present ratio of 16 to 1, and he occupied that ground at the time of his nomination.

He realizes that the United States has less than one-twentieth of the people of the civilized world; that no civilized nation is now engaged in the free coinage of silver; that the United States is not powerful enough to manipulate, manage and control the financial and industrial affairs of the civilized nations of the earth, but that the United States is great enough, strong enough and brave enough to manage its own affairs, develop its own industries, give its own miners employment, build up a western market for farmers' products, and put in beneficial use the output of our silver mines—which are capable of producing as much silver as those of any other country—and at the same time retaining in circulation the half billion and more of gold now in use as money in this country, and of utilizing hereafter the output of our gold mines—which are now producing gold faster than those of any other nation—and Mr. Ellis occupied that ground at the time of his nomination.

He agrees with all those who have watched the course of the leading Populists; who have read the fiat money bills introduced by Peffer, Jerry Simpson, John Davis and others, including Baker "by request," who have noted that the doctrine of Jerry Simpson's bill to demonetize both gold and silver at a stated period in the near future is now being enunciated by Governor Lewelling upon the stump in Kansas; who have heard populist speakers at nearly every populist meeting denounce both gold and silver as "relics of barbaric ages;" who have witnessed an absolute concurrence of opinion among leading populists in favor of fiat money at all times and under all circumstances; that the people's party as an organization (as led and controlled) is opposed to silver as well as gold, and if that party had the power it would surely do away with its use as money, and give us paper—"only that and nothing more," and who have therefore construed the pretenses of populist leaders as to silver as made merely for the purpose of catching votes—and Mr. Ellis entertained that opinion of the populist leaders "at the time of his nomination."

He is aware that in all civilized countries the question of restoring silver to the place it occupied as money prior to its demonetization by the nations of Europe is being agitated by the men of broad learning and high standing and influence; that the German silver commission has just agreed upon a unanimous report in favor of restoring silver by an international treaty; and it concludes with the statement that in restoring silver "such is the condition of affairs that Germany will be permitted to reckon upon the co-operation of all powerful states, including England" (see this report, translated and published in full in the September, 1894, number of the Review of Reviews); that while we ought not to wait for international action, still such action is sure to come, and its early coming ought to be encouraged rather than retarded by holding out to the selfish governments of Europe a delusive prospect that this nation will alone undertake to offer a premium upon the silver of the world, when to do so would be to drive every dollar of our gold out of circulation immediately, and out of this country ultimately; that as Americans we ought to say to John Bull and his foreign compeers, "We have silver enough of our own, and we propose to coin it at our ratio, without sustaining any loss on the coins we now have, and we shall keep your silver out of this country; we shall not undertake to furnish you a market for your silver bullion, but will open our mints at once, and thereby create the best kind of a market for our own; we will not permit you to bring your silver over here, where it is coined at our mints, and then force our government to take it for import duties; we don't need your goods very badly any way, and can never get rich by buying your commodities, and if you bring them here we shall not allow you to pay the duties at less than fifty cents on the dollar in depreciated silver; we have a vast amount of gold in circulation as money, and we propose to keep it and continue to add to it by the product of our gold mines, which are the best in the world; when you want to negotiate with for a full restoration of silver to its proper place as a money metal in the world we are ready to meet and treat with you, but we shall not wait one moment for you to act in the matter; disabuse your minds at once of the idea that we shall become silver monometalists, and thus unable you to unload your silver on us and get our "yaller money" in exchange for it, for we propose to foster and utilize our gold as well as our silver—in short, Messrs. Bull & Co., WE ARE AMERICANS." And Mr. Ellis occupied that ground "at the time of his nomination."—Beloit Gazette.

LETTER NUMBER TWO.

Ben Henderson Says His Charges Were in a Very Mild Form.

Ben Henderson, chairman of the late populist state convention, has written another letter. He tells the gentlemen who speak of libel suits to come on, he is ready for them.

He has also written to Chairman Breidenthal as follows:

Before I wrote you on the 28th inst. I had carefully considered the past, the present and the future. I had mentally wrestled with myself in every conceivable form to obtain my own consent to enter into the present campaign and keep my lips sealed as to the corruption of my personal holding office under Governor Lewelling's administration. I could not stultify myself by entering the campaign this year, concealing the corruption, dishonesty, and I might add, crimes of members of our own party.

From a political standpoint, I perhaps have made a mistake for the time being, but, as has been said by another, "I would rather be right than be president of the United States." In my letter to you I know I am right, if the principles of reform advocated by the people's party mean anything.

I have referred to individuals and charges in my letter in a very mild form as compared with the statements and declarations made to me of and concerning the gentlemen mentioned in my letter, some of whom I have known for years, and we have been quite intimate and confidential friends, but I could not help taking the position I have taken.

I imagine some will say of me harsh and mean things, but that matters but little to me, when compared with the great wrongs and deceptions practiced by Governor Lewelling's appointees upon the people of our honored commonwealth. * * * I believe the defeat of Lewelling and his corrupt gang would be a wonderful advantage to the people's party in Kansas. I believe that principles are paramount to the interests of men. In years to come I feel that the people of this commonwealth who believe in and are loyal to the real principles of reform will honor me in my position, though I may now be not only damned, but persecuted by the clique now in the "saddle." I am ready. God Almighty hates a coward, and so do I. As ever, your friend, BEN S. HENDERSON.

The following is an extract from a report of the recent populist state convention of Colorado, which re-nominated Governor Waite. It is not taken from a venal republican paper, but is from the Rocky Mountain News, the only large populist daily in the United States. And, it must be remembered that this Colorado convention had the restraining influence of over a hundred women delegates.

All the annals of log-rolling, "oil-room" persuasion and lobbying have been surpassed in the convention just passed at Pueblo. Never before has the Governor of the state of Colorado lobbied openly and persistently, to secure his own re-nomination. Never before have petty office holders been so persistent in their efforts; never before was the tradition that the office should seek the man so entirely relegated to things dead and forgotten. The lobbying was going on night and day, literally "up stairs and down stairs" and in my lady's chamber." The redoubtable aspirant to the bench, Judge Pratt, had a cot in the gubernatorial bed room, and there the Speer-Toy-Moakler-Hegwee-Behymer faction held a continual caucus aided by the female portion of their respective families. * * * The contest lay between those who are populists from principle and those who are populists for revenue only, sometimes called "Bread and Butter Populists." Would the former or latter delegation win? This was the question among the members of the delegation—those members, that is, who were not admitted to the sacred privacy (?) of the governor's bed chamber.

The populist party is rapidly nearing a state of dissolution. In Oregon they are turned down under an avalanche of votes. In Colorado the party is split in two and the leaders of the Waite and Patterson factions are vigorously slashing the air, with the hope of hitting a pop head when they hit anything. In Kansas it is estimated that one-third of the pop vote of two years ago will bolt Lewelling, and a large share of the balance will go to the republicans. Two years from now the populist party will be classed with the old greenback party—sacred only in memory.—Kearney (Neb.) Sun.

CONSUMPTION

SO PRONOUNCED By the Physicians SEVERE COUGH At Night Spitting Blood

Given Over by the Doctors! LIFE SAVED BY AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Seven years ago, my wife had a severe attack of lung trouble which the physicians pronounced consumption. The cough was extremely distressing, especially at night, and was frequently attended with the spitting of blood. The doctors being unable to help her, I indeed had to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was surprised at the great relief it gave. Before using one whole bottle, she was cured, so that now she is quite strong and healthy. That this medicine saved my wife's life, I have not the least doubt."—K. MORRIS, Memphis, Tenn.

WITHOUT THE

non pull-out BOW (RING)

It is easy to steal or ring watches from the pocket. The thief gets the watch in one hand, the chain in the other and gives a short, quick jerk—the ring slips off the watch stem, and away goes the watch, leaving the victim only the chain.

This idea stopped that little game!

The bow has a groove on each end. A collar runs down inside the pendant (4250) and fits into the grooves, firmly locking the bow to the pendant, so that it cannot be pulled or twisted off.

Sold by all watch dealers, without cost, on Jas. Boss Field and other cases containing this trade mark—A watch case opener sent free on request. Keystone Watch Case Co., PHILADELPHIA.
