

Mesdames Ufford and Heckman Entertain

Last Thursday afternoon and evening Mrs. Raymond Ufford and Mrs. J. H. Heckman were hostess to a large number of friends at the pleasant Ufford home. The rooms were prettily decorated with large bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and red hot house roses. In the afternoon the guests took their needle work and the time was pleasantly spent in a social way. One of the features of entertainment that caused considerable merriment was "making tea." The guests were given slips of paper and scissors and a pattern of a letter 'T' was placed on the wall and each requested to cut out a letter accurately as possible. Mrs. J. Phares was the lucky contestant and received as a prize a dainty aluminum tea ball. A "dress affair" was also a guessing game and occasioned many a laugh at the answers given. Mrs. Ufford was attired in a pale pink gown and Mrs. Heckman in a pale green one and these colors were used with pleasing effect throughout the games for the afternoon and evening and as a favor each guest received a delicately perfumed sachet also in these dainty colors. At five o'clock refreshments were served after which the guests departed feeling that the afternoon had been most pleasantly spent.

In the evening another crowd assembled and another jolly time was enjoyed. The evening was spent in lively games the spirit into which the guests most heartily entered. Many new features were introduced such as requiring the guests to walk a tight rope a feat which brought forth peals of laughter. After a most pleasant and informal time delicious refreshments were served and the guests all declared it had been an evening of more than ordinary pleasure.

Those invited for the afternoon were: Mesdames W. J. Williams, C. D. Henkel, W. N. Larabee, T. B. Hays, C. Ingalls, Ellermeyer, Chalk, D. B. Kraus, Blair, Allison, G. M. Ufford, Wilson, Cloud, Hixson, W. Baker, Niesley, Swiggett, Moore, Bingham, A. B. Jones, Blanche, Houghton, Johnson, Mattingly, Peacock, Kelly, Wanner, Benson, Givler, Marshall, Keraus, Phares, I. Pierson, O. Cortright, Lahman, J. Poffenberger, W. Wollner and McMillan.

The guests for the evening were: Mesdames Hardman, Sellers, Straw, Hille, Purcell, Baker, Cortright, McCormick, G. G. Jones, J. F. Jones, Bonebrake, Hyle, Hutchinson, Courtney, Lynn, H. Wanner, Herrick, F. C. Wollner, Eppler, L. Galloway, Baldwin, W. L. Larabee, R. Pierson, C. Wilson, Misses Swiggett, McClury, Reardon, Moore and Groft.

The Tourist Club held its annual banquet on Friday evening, November 5th at the hospital home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Blair. A delicious four course dinner was served, the tables being decorated with chrysanthemums in the club colors, yellow and white and the spacious parlor was tastefully adorned with carnations, sweet peas, nasturtiums and cosmos. Misses Mildred Phares, Clara Gibson and Margaret Hardman entertained with delightful music, and Miss Lacey Herrick gave two humorous readings, all of which were highly appreciated. Various games occupied the remainder of the evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Blair, Mr. Chas. and Miss Hattie Kirby, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Cortright, Mr. and Mrs. H. Long, Mr. and Mrs. G. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Phares, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Benson, Mrs. A. B. Jones, Mrs. T. R. Moore, Mrs. W. N. Larabee, Mrs. Margaret Chalk, Mrs. A. J. Surveyor Harlan informs us that the contractor who is going to grade the Golden Belt road in this county, was delayed the first of the week at Quinter on account of his help quitting him to go and shuck corn. The story of a hen hatching out a setting of hawk eggs, the Macon (Mo.) Times-Democrat admits, may be taken with a grain of salt, but here it is: A Macon county woman was desirous of raising some bantams and her husband promised her a setting of bantam eggs. Unable to procure them and anxious to keep in the good graces of his spouse, he robbed a hawk's nest, taking the eggs home. The trusting wife put the eggs under a sitting hen and did not suspect what had happened until the little fuzzy hawks pecked through their shells.—Ex.

The Soldiers' Gathering

The contemplated dinner given to the old soldiers and their wives by Mr. and Mr. Yetter of Ogallah took place November 10th.

The day entered in like an April one with a thunder shower laying the dust and filling the air with freshness giving life and vigor to all. At about 11 o'clock the autos began to arrive bringing the old veterans and their wives with them.

Those that came are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Mumert, Mr. and Mrs. Bundy, Mr. and Mrs. Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Speer, Mr. and Mrs. Schwantbeck, Mr. and Mrs. Mapes, Messrs. Elias Pulling, Henry Hobbick, Wm. Somerville, A. J. Johnson, Mrs. E. Swiggett, Mrs. Julia Lahman, Mrs. Herrick, Mrs. Isenberg, Mrs. Rich.

A little band of nine soldiers, three or four were not able to attend but were not forgotten.

A social time was had by all and when the bugle call came for dinner each responded to their names and took their places around the board—place cards giving them their respective places.

The table was decorated with white chrysanthemums and flags, the decorations in the rooms were flags and pictures of war times, battles etc., reminding them of the past.

The dinner was immense, such as the host knows how to serve. All did justice to the repast especially Uncle Billy—ask him about it.

At the close of dinner Mr. Yetter gave the welcome address: "Sighted, What the Old Soldier Had Accomplished." I few of his remarks I will quote.

"When we were mustered out of service, we were like prisoners just liberated from close confinement. We did not know what to do with ourselves, we tried this and that, and finally we found some good looking girl that would have us and we married. This gave us an incentive to work. We had something to live for; in time we drifted to western Kansas, and with our courageous women we have worked and helped to make this part of Kansas what it is. Kansas is looked up to in all parts of the east."

Yes, Uncle Billy said: "It was the old soldiers pensions that kept things going here."

Capt. Johnson replied to Mr. Yetter with very appropriate remarks. I think it was decided that once a year a gathering of this kind should take place at one of the old soldiers homes.

The afternoon was spent with music and old war stories.

About 5 p. m. all registered and departed for their homes wondering what the roll call will be next year.

OIL MEN SEEK LEASES IN TREGO

Anti-Cline Formation Along the Hackberry Creek Causes Strong Belief That Oil Is There

Collyer, Kan., Nov. 12.—Is there oil in Trego county? This is the question that some of the residents here are asking, in view of the fact that a number of oil men, from the oil fields of Texas and Oklahoma, have been making visits to this vicinity and taking trips into the country, purporting their mission to be looking for real estate investments. And it is reported that they have been more interested in figuring on a lease proposition rather than in the purchase of farms.

One party who has dealings in the oil fields of eastern Oklahoma suggested that the anticline in the neighborhood of Castle Rock and along the Hackberry was very similar to the oil fields in eastern Oklahoma.—Capital.

"Ring, Ring, Who Has the Ring?"

The Hays and Wa-Keeney papers last week reported that a diamond ring had been lost by a Hays young lady on the special train which hauled the Hays people to Wa-Keeney on the day of the Hays-Wa-Keeney High School foot ball game. The matter was reported to the train crew and the brakeman informed us that he had made a thorough search of the train and had failed to find the ring. The next day or so after the game the young gentleman in the case, who lives in Ellis, and a number of men looked for an hour or more in the yards among rubbish, and the ring found, but no diamond. And then to make the case more complicated, the young man took the ring, with the set out, to Hays and offered it to the young lady, but she could not even get it on her finger and said it did not look like the one she lost anyway. The ring was quite valuable and was a present to the young lady.—Ellis Headlight.
