RICHMOND MARKETS

Eggs are of better quality now than they have been for several weeks, although the full good effect of the present cool weather will not be felt until the last of the week or the first of next week. One concern is selling 'cracked eggs, 10c a dozen.' These eggs are fresh and perfectly good, but are not salable in groceries because their shells are cracked. They can be cooked every way except boiled. Dealers say they are used by bakeries and restaurants.

INDIANAPOLIS MARKETS

[Publishers' Press]

Indianapolis, Sept. 6.—Receipts, 4,500 hogs, 1,600 cattle and 400 sheep, against 7,263 hogs, 2,115 cattle and 1,705 sheep a week ago and 6,021 hogs, 1,311 cattle and 404 sheep a year ago.

The hog supply was meager, only a little more than half as many as yesterday. Notwithstanding this the market opened with buyers offering weak to lower prices and packers especially indifferent. As a result a large part of the early supply went to fill Eastern orders.

There was a fair Thursday run of cattle, but only a small proportion of arrivals were from the country and consignments included a small number of good to choice cattle.

Doctors Are Puzzled.

The remarkable recovery of Kenneth McIver, of Vanceboro, Me., is the subject of much interest to the medical fraternity and a wide circle of friends. He says of his case: "Owing to severe inflammation of the throat and congestion of the lungs, three doctors gave me up to die, when, as a last resort, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery and I am happy to say, it saved my life." LAW POINTS.

The mere creation and distribution of power for manufacturing enterprises is held, in Brown versus Gerald (Me.), 70 L. R. A. 472, not to be a public use which will justify an exercise of the power of eminent domain.

One who organized a corporation for the transaction of his personal business is held, in Donovan versus Purtell (Ill.), 1 L. R. A. (N. S.) 176, to be personally liable for money received by him for investment in return for which he delivered a worthless obligation of the corporation.

The acquisition of a mere private way is held, in Arnsperger versus Crawford (Md.), 70 L. R. A. 497, not to be a purpose for which the right to exercise the power of eminent domain may be delegated, although the way is intended to connect a private estate with the public highway.

Ptomaines.

Ptomaines, according to Quain, are alkaloids produced by the decomposition of animal substances. The word ptomaine was at first restricted to alkaloids produced by cadaveric decomposition, but it is now also employed to designate alkaloids of animal origin formed during life as a result of chemical changes induced by some agency or other acting within the organism.

VIRGINS' GARLANDS.

Memorials In an English Church to Girls True to First Love.

There are seven "virgins' garlands" still in existence in Minsterley church, Salop, the first of them bearing the date 1554 and the last 1751.

They consist of silk ribbons and paper, ball shaped, and are covered with rosettes, the inside center of the cane or wire frame supporting a pair of paper gloves. They represent a romantic custom of very ancient origin and are sacred to the memory of girls who while betrothed in their youth lost their intended husbands by death, yet remained true to their first loves.

Each maiden designed her own garland, and at her death this simple emblem was borne before her by the village lasses, the white gloves being afterward added. After the obsequies these garlands were suspended in the village church on a rod bearing at its extremity a heart in the shape of an escutcheon, upon which the initials and date were inscribed. These were originally fixed above the maiden's pew.

Some of the earliest and forgotten garlands were composed of real flowers, but later the covered hoops described were substituted.

There is a passing allusion to this "simple memorial of the early dead" in "Hamlet." "Yet here she is allowed her virgin crants," "crants" signifying garlands.—London Graphic.

CHICAGO MARKETS

[Publishers' Press]

Chicago, Sept. 6.—The wheat market today opened weak, chiefly because of continued good weather in the Northwest for harvesting and lower cables. The December option opened unchanged to ⅛c lower and sold at 72¼c.

The corn market opened easier, good weather for the crop being the main feature. Cash houses and pit traders were the principal sellers. December opened unchanged to a shade lower, sold at 42⅞c and declined to 42*c.

The oats market was quiet and easy. The chief influence bearing on the market was the break in wheat.

There was very little trading in the provisions market and no particular news to affect prices, which were generally steady.

NEW YORK MARKETS

[Publishers' Press]

New York, Sept. 6.—The opening stock market showed the stimulating effect of the United States Treasury's relief measure for the money market. Heavy buying orders carried prices upward throughout the list. There were very large dealings in Amalgamated Copper, 12,000 shares selling simultaneously at 112¼ and 112¾, compared with 111¾ last night.

Scarcely any effect was produced by the 3½ point rise in Reading, the general list being rather neglected but firm. Northwest continued to fall away and lost 3 points in all. American Telegraph and Telephone hardened 5¼ and Pullman 1.
