

THE INDIANA STATE SENTINEL.

WEEKLY.

(WEEKLY, Per Annum, $1.00
DAILY, .05.)

WILLIAM J. BROWN, Editor.
AUSTIN H. BROWN, Publisher.

VOL. XI.

INDIANAPOLIS, THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1851.

NO. 5.

INDIANA STATE SENTINEL: A GAZETTE OF THE PEOPLE.

Office in THE SENTINEL BUILDINGS,
North Side Washington, near Meridian St.,
OPPOSITE ODD FELLOWS HALL.

AUSTIN H. BROWN, Publisher.

ONE DOLLAR!!
LET THERE BE MORE LIGHT!
Cheap and Good Reading for the Million.
THE WEEKLY STATE SENTINEL
Will be sent to single subscribers at the low rate of
ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE!!

Any person sending ten subscribers will be entitled to one copy gratis. From the first of July next subscribers in Marion County will receive their papers through the mail free of postage. At all Post Offices within 50 miles the postage will be five cents a quarter, and all within three hundred miles ten cents per quarter. The State Sentinel will contain the latest and most important news by telegraph, as well as the mails, and will contain more reading matter than any of the Eastern weeklies.

THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 26, 1851.

From the following card, we infer that Mr. Bright will reply over his own signature to the open and secret assaults of the Madison Courier:

Senator Bright.
From the following card, we infer that Mr. Bright will reply over his own signature to the open and secret assaults of the Madison Courier:

Woman's Rights.
The Woman's Rights Convention which recently met at Salem, Ohio, have adopted the following resolutions, which are designed as a platform for their future operations:

The Old Parties.
A Free Soil Convention in Massachusetts in favor of independent organization, adopted the following resolution:

Political Prospects.
The Washington Union, alluding to the old proverb "a house divided against itself shall not stand," thinks the time has fully come for the people to demand what is their right to maintain, as an organized, can offer of its ability to maintain that course of national policy which the Whig Administration itself claims to be essential to the peace and safety of the country, viz: the compromise. The Union proceeds as follows, and we should like to see a denial of its statement in any quarter:

As we Expected.
The Free Soil Convention in the Third District have agreed to support Col. Johnson Watts, the Whig candidate for Congress. In no district in Indiana have they manifested a disposition to support the Democratic candidates. Yet our Democratic friends in the Fourth District are required to vote for Mr. Julian "without a why or a wherefore."

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 27, 1851.

Congressional Globes.
Frequent inquiries have been made of me for copies of the Congressional Globe. I take this method of stating that I have deposited one copy in each of the County Libraries, in the Fifth District. W. J. BROWN.

Convention of Colored Persons.
It gives us great pleasure to publish the following call for a State Convention of colored persons. Let them meet together and consult on their future prospects. The question with them is truly a question of slavery or freedom. If they determine to emigrate to Liberia, they determine in favor of their own freedom and the independence of their posterity. If they determine to remain in this country, they decide in favor of slavery and degradation. In name they may be free, but what is freedom worth to them, with the prejudices of color and caste, which will exist as long as a white man treads the earth. Let them return to the land of their fathers, under the approving smiles of Heaven, they may be free indeed. We trust that a liberal appropriation may be made by the Legislature of the State, and by the action of the General Government, to aid all such as desire to emigrate. It is a great work and one which we can enter into with heart and soul, and one upon which we love to dwell; but for the present we must content ourselves with publishing the following call:

More Cold Shoulder for Gen. Scott.
Almost every Whig paper in Indiana has the name of Gen. Scott flying at its mast-head, yet Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, seems to entirely overlook this popular demonstration, and talks and acts as if Fillmore was already the candidate. Alluding to an article which appeared in the Southern Press in relation to the probability of the next election being decided in the House of Representatives he says:

Mysterious.
The private letter addressed by Hon. Jesse D. Bright to one of his friends, which was surreptitiously obtained and published in the Madison Courier, never came into the possession of the person to whom it was addressed. How it came into the possession of Garber is a mystery.

Ominous.
The following resolution was introduced into the recent whig convention in Pennsylvania:

A Free Soil Paper.
It is whispered about town that a Free-soil paper is to be started in this city, under the editorial supervision of J. B. Semans, the former talented and popular editor of the Journal. The Free-soilers have got the grit in them, no mistake.—Lafayette Courier.

Madison.
The Editor of the Banner thus describes some of the peculiar propensities of the people of that goodly city:

Cholera.
This terrible disease is prevailing in Iowa. The Burlington Telegraph says: We learn that from the 5th up to the 11th some 34 cases had occurred at Mt. Pleasant and its vicinity, (a large majority being in the country) about half of which had terminated fatally.

CONVENTION OF COLORED PERSONS.

It gives us great pleasure to publish the following call for a State Convention of colored persons. Let them meet together and consult on their future prospects. The question with them is truly a question of slavery or freedom. If they determine to emigrate to Liberia, they determine in favor of their own freedom and the independence of their posterity. If they determine to remain in this country, they decide in favor of slavery and degradation. In name they may be free, but what is freedom worth to them, with the prejudices of color and caste, which will exist as long as a white man treads the earth. Let them return to the land of their fathers, under the approving smiles of Heaven, they may be free indeed. We trust that a liberal appropriation may be made by the Legislature of the State, and by the action of the General Government, to aid all such as desire to emigrate. It is a great work and one which we can enter into with heart and soul, and one upon which we love to dwell; but for the present we must content ourselves with publishing the following call:

More Cold Shoulder for Gen. Scott.
Almost every Whig paper in Indiana has the name of Gen. Scott flying at its mast-head, yet Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, seems to entirely overlook this popular demonstration, and talks and acts as if Fillmore was already the candidate. Alluding to an article which appeared in the Southern Press in relation to the probability of the next election being decided in the House of Representatives he says:

Mysterious.
The private letter addressed by Hon. Jesse D. Bright to one of his friends, which was surreptitiously obtained and published in the Madison Courier, never came into the possession of the person to whom it was addressed. How it came into the possession of Garber is a mystery.

Ominous.
The following resolution was introduced into the recent whig convention in Pennsylvania:

A Free Soil Paper.
It is whispered about town that a Free-soil paper is to be started in this city, under the editorial supervision of J. B. Semans, the former talented and popular editor of the Journal. The Free-soilers have got the grit in them, no mistake.—Lafayette Courier.

Madison.
The Editor of the Banner thus describes some of the peculiar propensities of the people of that goodly city:

Cholera.
This terrible disease is prevailing in Iowa. The Burlington Telegraph says: We learn that from the 5th up to the 11th some 34 cases had occurred at Mt. Pleasant and its vicinity, (a large majority being in the country) about half of which had terminated fatally.

INDIANAPOLIS, THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1851.

Convention of Colored Persons.
It gives us great pleasure to publish the following call for a State Convention of colored persons. Let them meet together and consult on their future prospects. The question with them is truly a question of slavery or freedom. If they determine to emigrate to Liberia, they determine in favor of their own freedom and the independence of their posterity. If they determine to remain in this country, they decide in favor of slavery and degradation. In name they may be free, but what is freedom worth to them, with the prejudices of color and caste, which will exist as long as a white man treads the earth. Let them return to the land of their fathers, under the approving smiles of Heaven, they may be free indeed. We trust that a liberal appropriation may be made by the Legislature of the State, and by the action of the General Government, to aid all such as desire to emigrate. It is a great work and one which we can enter into with heart and soul, and one upon which we love to dwell; but for the present we must content ourselves with publishing the following call:

More Cold Shoulder for Gen. Scott.
Almost every Whig paper in Indiana has the name of Gen. Scott flying at its mast-head, yet Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, seems to entirely overlook this popular demonstration, and talks and acts as if Fillmore was already the candidate. Alluding to an article which appeared in the Southern Press in relation to the probability of the next election being decided in the House of Representatives he says:

Mysterious.
The private letter addressed by Hon. Jesse D. Bright to one of his friends, which was surreptitiously obtained and published in the Madison Courier, never came into the possession of the person to whom it was addressed. How it came into the possession of Garber is a mystery.

Ominous.
The following resolution was introduced into the recent whig convention in Pennsylvania:

A Free Soil Paper.
It is whispered about town that a Free-soil paper is to be started in this city, under the editorial supervision of J. B. Semans, the former talented and popular editor of the Journal. The Free-soilers have got the grit in them, no mistake.—Lafayette Courier.

Madison.
The Editor of the Banner thus describes some of the peculiar propensities of the people of that goodly city:

Cholera.
This terrible disease is prevailing in Iowa. The Burlington Telegraph says: We learn that from the 5th up to the 11th some 34 cases had occurred at Mt. Pleasant and its vicinity, (a large majority being in the country) about half of which had terminated fatally.

INDIANAPOLIS, THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1851.

Convention of Colored Persons.
It gives us great pleasure to publish the following call for a State Convention of colored persons. Let them meet together and consult on their future prospects. The question with them is truly a question of slavery or freedom. If they determine to emigrate to Liberia, they determine in favor of their own freedom and the independence of their posterity. If they determine to remain in this country, they decide in favor of slavery and degradation. In name they may be free, but what is freedom worth to them, with the prejudices of color and caste, which will exist as long as a white man treads the earth. Let them return to the land of their fathers, under the approving smiles of Heaven, they may be free indeed. We trust that a liberal appropriation may be made by the Legislature of the State, and by the action of the General Government, to aid all such as desire to emigrate. It is a great work and one which we can enter into with heart and soul, and one upon which we love to dwell; but for the present we must content ourselves with publishing the following call:

More Cold Shoulder for Gen. Scott.
Almost every Whig paper in Indiana has the name of Gen. Scott flying at its mast-head, yet Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, seems to entirely overlook this popular demonstration, and talks and acts as if Fillmore was already the candidate. Alluding to an article which appeared in the Southern Press in relation to the probability of the next election being decided in the House of Representatives he says:

Mysterious.
The private letter addressed by Hon. Jesse D. Bright to one of his friends, which was surreptitiously obtained and published in the Madison Courier, never came into the possession of the person to whom it was addressed. How it came into the possession of Garber is a mystery.

Ominous.
The following resolution was introduced into the recent whig convention in Pennsylvania:

A Free Soil Paper.
It is whispered about town that a Free-soil paper is to be started in this city, under the editorial supervision of J. B. Semans, the former talented and popular editor of the Journal. The Free-soilers have got the grit in them, no mistake.—Lafayette Courier.

Madison.
The Editor of the Banner thus describes some of the peculiar propensities of the people of that goodly city:

Cholera.
This terrible disease is prevailing in Iowa. The Burlington Telegraph says: We learn that from the 5th up to the 11th some 34 cases had occurred at Mt. Pleasant and its vicinity, (a large majority being in the country) about half of which had terminated fatally.

INDIANAPOLIS, THURSDAY, JULY 3, 1851.

Convention of Colored Persons.
It gives us great pleasure to publish the following call for a State Convention of colored persons. Let them meet together and consult on their future prospects. The question with them is truly a question of slavery or freedom. If they determine to emigrate to Liberia, they determine in favor of their own freedom and the independence of their posterity. If they determine to remain in this country, they decide in favor of slavery and degradation. In name they may be free, but what is freedom worth to them, with the prejudices of color and caste, which will exist as long as a white man treads the earth. Let them return to the land of their fathers, under the approving smiles of Heaven, they may be free indeed. We trust that a liberal appropriation may be made by the Legislature of the State, and by the action of the General Government, to aid all such as desire to emigrate. It is a great work and one which we can enter into with heart and soul, and one upon which we love to dwell; but for the present we must content ourselves with publishing the following call:

More Cold Shoulder for Gen. Scott.
Almost every Whig paper in Indiana has the name of Gen. Scott flying at its mast-head, yet Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, seems to entirely overlook this popular demonstration, and talks and acts as if Fillmore was already the candidate. Alluding to an article which appeared in the Southern Press in relation to the probability of the next election being decided in the House of Representatives he says:

Mysterious.
The private letter addressed by Hon. Jesse D. Bright to one of his friends, which was surreptitiously obtained and published in the Madison Courier, never came into the possession of the person to whom it was addressed. How it came into the possession of Garber is a mystery.

Ominous.
The following resolution was introduced into the recent whig convention in Pennsylvania:

A Free Soil Paper.
It is whispered about town that a Free-soil paper is to be started in this city, under the editorial supervision of J. B. Semans, the former talented and popular editor of the Journal. The Free-soilers have got the grit in them, no mistake.—Lafayette Courier.

Madison.
The Editor of the Banner thus describes some of the peculiar propensities of the people of that goodly city:

Cholera.
This terrible disease is prevailing in Iowa. The Burlington Telegraph says: We learn that from the 5th up to the 11th some 34 cases had occurred at Mt. Pleasant and its vicinity, (a large majority being in the country) about half of which had terminated fatally.

Cholera.
This terrible disease is prevailing in Iowa. The Burlington Telegraph says: We learn that from the 5th up to the 11th some 34 cases had occurred at Mt. Pleasant and its vicinity, (a large majority being in the country) about half of which had terminated fatally.